As one of the first studies exploring Morrison's archived drafts, notes and manuscripts together with her published novels, this book offers fresh insights into her creative processes. It analyses the author's textual choices, her writerly strategies and her process of writing, all combining in shaping her literary places. In a methodology combining close reading and genetic criticism, the book examines Morrison's writing, her drafting and crafting of her fictional places. Focusing primarily on the novels Beloved (1987), Paradise (1997) and A Mercy (2008), it analyses particular instances of written places, illuminating the manifold ways in which they are formed as text and showing the centrality of the ideas of joining, in Beloved, transformation in Paradise and articulation in A Mercy. the Huainanzi and the Anthropocene Matthew James Hamm,2024-08-06 Environmental Narratives in the Huainanzi and the Anthropocene analyzes the contemporary discourse of the Anthropocene using the Huainanzi an eastern Eurasian text from the second century BCE Written to preserve and strengthen the Han Empire 202 BCE 220 CE the Huainanzi describes a mode of rulership premised on periodizing the present as the end of history that domesticates humans and non humans Matthew James Hamm provides a contextualized reading of the Huainanzi s argument and uses it as a theoretical lens to read Anthropocene scholarship in the sciences social sciences and humanities Hamm argues that irrespective of the name or historical narrative used to describe it the idea of the Anthropocene as a new epoch not only lacks empirical evidence but also empowers the existing periodization of modernity to provide ideological support for environmentally destructive neoliberal structures rooted in Western European imperial orders By doing so the Anthropocene framework actively inhibits the transformative social change needed to address global environmental crises such as climate change and mass extinction Consequently this book rejects periodization as a conceptual framework for addressing those issues and advocates for greater scholarly engagement with environmental theories outside the European and Anglo American traditions such as the Huainanzi

Narrative Hospitality in Late Victorian

Fiction Rachel Hollander,2013 Bringing together poststructuralist ethical theory with late Victorian debates about the morality of literature this book reconsiders the ways in which novels engender an ethical orientation or response in their readers explaining how the intersections of nation family and form in the late realist English novel produce a new ethics of hospitality Hollander reads texts that both portray and enact a unique ethical orientation of welcoming the other a narrative hospitality that combines the Victorians commitment to engaging with the real world with a more modern awareness of difference and the limits of knowledge While classic nineteenth century realism rests on a sympathy based model of moral relations novels by authors such as George Eliot Thomas Hardy and Olive Schreiner present instead an ethical recognition of the distance between self and other Opening themselves to the other in their very structure and narrative form the visited texts both represent and theorize the ethics of hospitality anticipating twentieth century philosophy s recognition of the limits of sympathy As colonial conflicts nationalist anxiety and the intensification of the woman question became dominant cultural concerns in the 1870s and 80s the problem of self and other known and unknown began to saturate and define the representation of home in the English novel This book argues that in the wake of an erosion of confidence in the ability to understand that which is unlike the self a moral code founded on sympathy gave way to an ethics of hospitality in which the concept of home shifts to acknowledge the permeability and vulnerability of not only domestic but also national spaces Concluding with Virginia Woolf s reexamination of the novel s potential to educate the reader in negotiating relations of alterity in a more fully modernist moment Hollanders suggest that the late Victorian novel embodies a unique and previously unrecognized ethical mode between Victorian realism and a post World War I ethics of modernist form Landscape and Race in the United States Richard Schein,2012-11-12 Landscape and Race in the United States is the definitive volume on racialized landscapes in the United States Edited by Richard Schein each essay is grounded in a particular location but all of the essays are informed by the theoretical vision that the cultural landscapes of America are infused with race and America s racial divide While featuring the black white divide the book also investigates other social landscapes including Chinatowns Latino landscapes in the Southwest and white suburban landscapes The essays are accessible and readable providing historical and contemporary coverage Mapping the Pāsupata Landscape Elizabeth A. Cecil,2020-03-09 In Mapping the P upata Landscape Narrative Place and the aiva Imaginary in Early Medieval North India Elizabeth A Cecil explores the sacred geography of the earliest community of iva devotees called the P upatas This book brings the narrative cartography of the Skandapur a into conversation with physical landscapes inscriptions monuments and icons in order to examine the ways in which P upatas were emplaced in regional landscapes and to emphasize the use of material culture as media through which notions of belonging and identity were expressed By exploring the ties between the formation of early P upata communities and the locales in which they were embedded this study reflects critically upon the ways in which community building was coincident with place making in Early Medieval India
