Narratives For A New Belonging Diasporic Cultural Fictions:

Narratives for a New Belonging Roger Bromley, 2000 Cultural fictions texts written from the perspective of the edge are the focus of this exciting and enlightening book. The author examines the formations of narratives of identity in contemporary borderline fictions and films.

Narratives of Place, Culture and Identity Anastasia Christou, 2006
Anastasia Christou explores the phenomenon of return migration in Greece through the settlement and identification processes of second generation Greek American returning migrants. She examines the meanings attached to the experience of return migration. The concepts of home and belonging figure prominently in the return migratory project which entails relocation and displacement as well as adjustment and alienation of bodies and selves. Furthermore, Christou considers the multiple interactions social, cultural, political between the place of origin and the place of destination, network ties, historical and global forces in the shaping of return migrant behaviour and expressions of identity. The human geography of return migration extends beyond geographic movement into a diasporic journey involving re-constructions of homeness and belongingness in the ancestral homeland. Contemporary Diasporic South Asian Women's Fiction Ruvani Ranasinha, 2016-05-28 This book is the first comparative analysis of a new generation of diasporic Anglophone South Asian women novelists including Kiran Desai, Tahmima Anam, Monica Ali, Kamila Shamsie and Jhumpa Lahiri from a feminist perspective. It charts the significant changes these writers have produced in postcolonial and contemporary women's fiction since the late 1990s. Paying careful attention to the authors' distinct subcontinental backgrounds of Pakistan, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka as well as India, this study destabilises the central place given to fiction focused on India. It broadens the customary focus on diasporic writers' metropolitan contexts, illuminates how these transnational female authored literary texts challenge national assumptions and considers the ways in which this new configuration of transnational feminist writers produces a postcolonial feminist discourse which differs from Anglo-American feminism.

Diasporic Inquiries into South Asian Women's Narratives Shilpa Daithota Bhat, 2020-02-28 The South Asian women's diaspora engages in spatio-temporal interactions and power differentials in a variety of narratives articulating agency, multiplicities of belonging and culturally integrative practices, highlighting homing paradigms. The sense of alienness in a new homeland rather than in worldwide home places triggers rethinking of diasporic conceptions and epistemes of individual and group histories, personal and collective experiences. Some of the questions that this anthology seeks to consider are: How do women from the South Asian diaspora represent cultural negotiations and alienness of the adopted homeland in various narratives? What are the themes/issues they select to portray their perceptions of foreignness? How do culture, history and politics intervene in their portrayal of lived experiences? How do they locate themselves in the matrix of foreignness and diaspora? The contributors to this anthology examine narratives depicting South Asian women, their complexly positioned voices gesturing at the proliferating challenges and reflecting the grim realities of a globalized world      Dwelling Places

James Procter, 2003 Extending geographically from London to Glasgow James Procter's study explores black literary and cultural production across the post World War Two period The author considers how places like dwellings bedsits and public spaces contribute to the travelling theories of diaspora discourse      Living Intersections: Transnational Migrant freedom and social justice not in isolation of it The reader will soon realise that the authors in this book perhaps agree on one profound aspect of the 2011 Revolution the struggle is ongoing and the revolutionary process is still being shaped and recreated The story of the Egyptian Revolution still resists any kind of closure despite the ascendance of the military regime once again to power The years to come will no doubt witness an expansion of the political and cultural archive of the Egyptian and Arab uprisings accompanied by much academic work on their impact and significance Women s roles and contributions need to occupy a central position in these academic analyses This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal for Cultural Research

Discourses of Postcolonialism in Contemporary British Children's Literature Blanka Grzegorzczak, 2014-10-03 This book considers how contemporary British children s books engage with some of the major cultural debates of recent years and how they resonate with the current preoccupations and tastes of the white mainstream British reading public A central assumption of this volume is that Britain s imperial past continues to play a key role in its representations of race identity and history The insistent inclusion of questions relating to colonialism and power structures in recent children s novels exposes the complexities and contradictions surrounding the fictional treatment of race relations and ethnicity Postcolonial children s literature in Britain has been inherently ambivalent since its cautious beginnings it is both transgressive and authorizing both undercutting and excluding Grzegorzczak considers the ways in which children s fictions have worked with and against particular ideologies of race The texts analyzed in this collection portray ethnic minorities as complex hybrid products of colonialism global migrations and the ideology of multiculturalism By examining the ideological content of these novels Grzegorzczak demonstrates the centrality of the colonial past to contemporary British writing for the young

Imaginary Homelands of Writers in Exile Cristina Emanuela Dascalu, 2007 The effects of the displacement of peoples their forced migration their deportation their voluntary emigration their movement to new lands where they made themselves masters over others or became subjects of the masters of their new homes reverberate down the years and are still felt today The historical violence of the era of empire and colonies echoes in the literature of the descendants of those forcibly moved and the exiles that those processes have made The voices of its victims are insistent in the literature that has come to be called post colonial Although the term post colonial is insufficient to capture fully the depth and breadth of those writers that have been labeled by it for it is itself something of a colonial instrument ghettoizing writers in English who are still considered to be foreign there is a common bond among the works of those novelists who understand the process of exile and see themselves as exiles both from their homes and from themselves In this eloquently argued book with meticulous theoretical groundwork Dr Cristina Dascalu presents a most lucid and concise examination of exile In addition to her negotiation of the term exile what is most original and significant about Imaginary Homelands of Writers in Exile is the selection of authors Reaching across national in terms of country of exile and ethnic in terms of region religion of birth boundaries Dr Dascalu elegantly shows the persistent relevance of the experience and implications of exile to the writing of fiction in the world today Rushdie Mukherjee and Naipaul are very distinct authors whose works are not often discussed together in this context Using Benedict Anderson s notion of unimagined communities among other critical lenses she makes significant connections between the way exile functions as a theme and as a condition for their writing pub desc      Postmigration Anna Meera Gaonkar, Astrid Sophie Ost Hansen, Hans Christian Post, Moritz Schramm, 2021-09-03 The concept of postmigration has recently gained importance in the context of European societies obsession with migration and integration along with emerging new forms of exclusion and nationalisms This book introduces ongoing debates on the developing concept of postmigration and how it can be applied to arts and culture While the concept has mainly gained traction in the cultural scene in Berlin Germany the contributions expand the field of study by attending to cultural expressions in literature theatre film and art across various European societies such as the United Kingdom France Finland Denmark and Germany By doing so the contributions highlight this concept s potential and show how it can offer new perspectives on transformations caused by migration      Doing Family in Second-Generation British Migration

Literature Corinna Assmann, 2018-09-24 Due to the large scale global transformations of the 20th century migration literature has become a vibrant genre over the last decades In these novels issues of transcultural identity and belonging naturally feature prominently This study takes a closer look at the ways in which the idea of family informs processes of identity construction It explores changing roles and meanings of the diasporic family as well as intergenerational family relations in a migration setting in order to identify the specific challenges problems and possibilities that arise in this context This book builds on insights from different fields of family research e g sociology psychology communication studies memory studies to provide a conceptual framework for the investigation of synchronic and diachronic family constellations and connections The approach developed in this study not only sheds new light on contemporary British migration literature but can also prove fruitful for analyses of families in literature more generally By highlighting the relevance and multifaceted nature of doing family this study also offers new perspectives for transcultural memory studies      Asian American Identities, Families, & Schooling Clara C. Park, A. Lin Goodwin, Stacey J. Lee, 2003-10-01 This anthology is the second volume in a series sponsored by the Special Interest Group Research on the education of Asian and Pacific Americans SIG REAPA of the American Educational Research Association and California Association for Asian and Pacific American Education The series intends to be a national voice for the education of Asian and Pacific Americans and provides an integral view of new knowledge in the field of Asian and Pacific American education from scholarly and educational practitioners perspectives The current collection includes research based articles by junior and senior scholars in the field of Asian and American education The articles highlight both the success and the continuing struggles of Asian American students teachers and families Students educational practitioners and scholars will find this book to be an important resource      British Asian Fiction Neil Murphy, Wai-chew Sim, 2008 In this outstanding collection of essays editors Neil Murphy and Wai chew Sim seek not so much to demarcate the field of British Asian fiction but to offer due acknowledgment of the artistic merit of the works of selected authors and simultaneously register their cultural significance This volume demonstrates in situ the virtues of commentary that engages in a substantial manner with formal and aesthetic considerations even as it implicates the discourses of alterity that dominate contemporary cultural criticism. Additionally, the essays delineate the complex subject positions explored by authors and texts and focus on the way writers negotiate the exigencies of their location within and between different social formations. If it is the case that British literature can no longer be discussed in monocultural terms because of the impact of the writers under consideration, it is also the case that the diverse trans-cultural positions they explore are often less specified than proclaimed. Addressing difference, commensurability, and form-related notions of truth and content, these essays enlarge our understanding of the range of British and affiliated identities as well as the cultural contexts from which they arose. Working as academics and critics from Singapore, a useful vantage point, Murphy and Sim have extended the parameters of British Asian to include not just writers from South Asia as is traditionally the case, but writers whose parents or who themselves have migrated to Britain from other regions of Asia, for example Japan, Hong Kong, and Malaysia. This initiative has made it possible for professors Murphy and Sim to bring together first an interestingly varied group of authors among them those who came to prominence in the 1980s: Salman Rushdie, Timothy Mo, Kazuo Ishiguro, as well as their younger contemporaries Meera Syal, Romesh Gunasekera, Monica Ali, Hari Kunzru, Ooi Yang May, and second, a broad and diverse range of novels that span Timothy Mo's Sour Sweet (1982) and Tariq Ali's A Sultan in Palermo (2005), the fourth volume in his Islam quintet.

Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 James Acheson, 2017-01-17. Focuses on the novels published since 2000 by twenty major British novelists. The Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 is divided into five parts, with the first part examining the work of four particularly well-known and highly regarded twenty-first-century writers: Ian McEwan, David Mitchell, Hilary Mantel, and Zadie Smith. It is with reference to each of these novelists in turn that the terms arealist, apostmodernist, ahistorical, and apostcolonialist fiction are introduced, while in the remaining four parts other novelists are discussed and the meaning of the terms amplified. From the start, it is emphasised that these terms and others often mean different things to different novelists and that the complexity of their novels often obliges us to discuss their work with reference to more than one of the terms. Also discussed are the works of Maggie O'Farrell, Sarah Hall, A.L. Kennedy, Alan Warner, Ali Smith, Kazuo Ishiguro, Kate Atkinson, Salman Rushdie, Adam Foulds, Sarah Waters, James Robertson, Mohsin Hamid, Andrea Levy, and Aminatta Forna.
