Anthropology and Nature Kirsten Hastrup, 2013-08-15 On the basis of empirical studies this book explores nature as an integral part of the social worlds conventionally studied by anthropologists The book may be read as a form of scholarly edgework resisting institutional divisions and conceptual routines in the interest of exploring new modalities of anthropological knowledge making The present interest in the natural world is partly a response to large scale natural disasters and global climate change and to a keen sense that nature matters matters to society at many levels ranging from the microbiological and genetic framing of reproduction over co species development to macro ecological changes of weather and climate Given that the human footprint is now conspicuous across the entire globe in the oceans as well as in the atmosphere it is difficult to claim that nature is what is given and permanent while people and societies are ephemeral and simply derivative features This implies that society matters to nature and some natural scientists look towards the social sciences for an understanding of how people think and how societies work The book thus opens up a space for new forms of reflection on how natures and societies are generated

Sivaramakrishnan,2014-11-06 Environmental history of India has developed as an important field of inquiry in the last twenty five years While providing major insights the existing scholarship has primarily focused on drawing sharp lines of distinction those between geographical spaces forest rivers farms people herders farmers townspeople eras colonial post colonial and so on The limitations of these sharp divides are brought to the forefront when there is a critical engagement with the region s contested environmental past Shifting Ground brings together an array of essays that pose critical questions regarding India s environmental past and the way it has been approached by scholars From debunking the idea of a primeval pristine forest cover to analysing the dynamics that shape human animal relations to examining the conflicts created by post Independence projects of rural development and conservation this volume touches upon the various aspects of environmental studies and juxtaposes them with social history history of science and technology and history of trade and culture Drawing on original case studies the book not only explores the past but also portrays how its traditions are often invoked to be deployed in contemporary conflicts those that are often aggravated by the pressures on natural assets created by the recent prosperity and the vaulting aspirations of a rapidly expanding Indian middle class      Dharma and Ecology of Hindu Communities coastal delta of New Orleans to real estate practices of the urban poor in Lagos They examine the effect of popular movements on the meanings of urban nature in cities including San Francisco Delhi and Berlin Finally they explore abstract urban planning models and their global mobility examining real world applications in such cities as Cape Town Baltimore and the Chinese eco city Yixing Contributors Mart n vila Amita Baviskar Jia Ching Chen Henrik Ernstson James Evans Lisa M Hoffman Jens Lachmund Joshua Lewis Lindsay Sawyer Sverker S rlin Anne Whiston Spirn Lance van Sittert Richard A Walker
