framing these animals were resolutely other In recent times natural history animals have become more assertive They are now posing uncomfortable questions to human viewers about exploitation extinction and mutual implication in catastrophic whole earth processes like climate change Using a wide range of screen examples ranging from the 1950s to the 2020s Making Animals Public focuses on shifting cultural and sociotechnical practices in ABC natural history television Combining science and technology studies screen studies and critical animal studies this book develops an innovative interdisciplinary analysis of how televisual animality is crafted and made believable Making Animals Public analyses the significant role public television has played in filming and circulating a vast array of animals and habitats that had never been seen before How these animals were visualised and accounted for has continually evolved What has remained constant is the fact that natural history television has been a hugely important site for exploring the various politics of human animal relations good and bad and for nurturing environmental awareness in audiences
