From Power to Prejudice Leah N. Gordon, 2015-05-20 Gordon provides an intellectual history of the concept of racial prejudice in postwar America In particular she asks what accounts for the dominance of theories of racism that depicted oppression in terms of individual perpetrators and victims more often than in terms of power relations and class conflict. Such theories came to define race relations research, civil rights activism and social policy. Gordon's book is a study in the politics of knowledge production as it charts debates about the race problem in a variety of institutions including the Rockefeller Foundation, the University of Chicago's Committee on Education, Training and Research in Race Relations, Fisk University's Race Relations Institutes, Howard University's Journal of Negro Education and the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The Nature of Hate Robert J. Sternberg, Karin Sternberg, 2008-04-28 What is hate and why is there so much of it? How does it originate and what can we do about it? This book opens with a discussion of how hate makes its presence felt in the real world, discussing various definitions and theories of hate. Next, it describes a duplex two-part theory of hate. According to the first part of the theory, hate has three components: negation of intimacy, passion and commitment. According to the second part of the theory, this structure of hate originates from stories people create about the target that say a group comprises enemies of God or monsters or vermin or power-crazy tyrants or any of a number of other stories. The authors discuss hate in the context of interpersonal relationships, survey the role of propaganda in inciting hate and analyze the role of hate in instigating terrorism, massacres and genocides.

The Claim to Christianity Hannah Strømmen, Ulrich Schmiedel, 2020-06-30 The far right is on the rise across Europe, pushing a battle scenario in which Islam clashes with Christianity as much as Christianity clashes with Islam. From the margins to the mainstream, far-right protesters and far-right politicians call for the defence of Europe's Christian culture. The far right claims Christianity. This book investigates contemporary far-right claims to Christianity. Ulrich Schmiedel and Hannah Strømmen examine the theologies that emerge in the far right across Europe, concentrating on Norway, Germany and Great Britain. They explore how churches in these three countries have been complicit, complacent or critical of the far right, sometimes intentionally and sometimes unintentionally. Ultimately, Schmiedel and Strømmen encourage a creative and collaborative theological response. To counter the far right, Christianity needs to be practiced in an open and open-ended way which calls Christians into contact with Muslims.

Conceptualizing Racism Noel A. Cazenave, 2015-11-19 Conceptualizing Racism is a provocative book that confronts the language we use to discuss and understand racism. Author Noel A. Cazenave argues that American social science has since its inception practiced linguistic racial accommodation that blurs our understanding of systemic racism and makes it difficult to effect meaningful change. Conceptualizing Racism highlights how words matter in racism studies. The author traces the history of linguistic racial accommodation through the development of sociology as a discipline and illustrates how it is at play today, not only within the discipline but in public life.
