Designing Smart and Resilient Cities for a Post-Pandemic World Anthony Larsson, Andreas Hatzigeorgiou, 2022-08-31 Are pandemics the end of cities Or do they present an opportunity for us to reshape cities in ways making us even more innovative successful and sustainable Pandemics such as COVID 19 and comparable disruptions have caused intense debates over the future of cities Through a series of investigative studies Designing Smart and Resilient Cities for a Post Pandemic World Metropandemic Revolution seeks to critically discuss and compare different cases innovations and approaches as to how cities can utilise nascent and future digital technology and or new strategies in order to build stronger resilience to better tackle comparable large scale pandemics and or disruptions in the future The authors identify ten separate societal areas where future digital technology can impact resilience These are discussed in individual chapters Each chapter concludes with a set of proposed action points based on the conclusions of each respective study These serve as solid policy recommendations of what courses of action to take to help increase the resilience in smart cities for each designated area Securing resilience and cohesion between each area will bring about the metropandemic revolution This book features a foreword by Nobel laureate Peter C Doherty and an afterword by Professor of Urban Technologies Carlo Ratti It provides fresh and unique insights on smart cities and futures studies in a pandemic context offers profound reflections on contemporary societal functions and the needs to build resilience and combines lessons learned from historical pandemics with possibilities offered by future technology

Navajo Weavers of the American Southwest Peter Hiller, Ann Lane Hedlund, Ramona Sakiestewa, 2018-10-08 From the mid 17th century to the present day herding sheep carding wool spinning yarn dyeing with native plants and weaving on iconic upright looms have all been steps in the intricate process of Navajo blanket and rug making in the American Southwest Beginning in the late 1800s amateur and professional photographers documented the Din Navajo weavers and their artwork and the images they captured tell the stories of the artists their homes and the materials techniques and designs they used Many postcards illustrate popular interest surrounding weaving as an indigenous art form even as economic social and political realities influenced the craft These historical pictures illuminate perceived traditional weaving practices The authors accompanying narratives deepen the perspective and relate imagery to modern life Architecture of First Societies Mark M. Jarzombek, 2014-05-27 ARCHITECTURE OF FIRST SOCIETIES THIS LANDMARK STUDY TRACES THE BEGINNINGS OF ARCHITECTURE BY LOOKING AT THE LATEST ARCHAEOLOGICAL AND ANTHROPOLOGICAL RESEARCH From the dawn of human society through early civilizations to pre Columbian American societies Architecture of First Societies traces the different cultural formations that developed in various places throughout the world to form the built environment It is the first book to explore the beginnings of architecture from a global perspective Viewing ancient cultures through a lens of both time and geography this history of early architecture brings its subjects to life with full color photographs maps and drawings The author cites the latest discoveries and analyses in archaeology and anthropology and discovers links to the past by examining how indigenous societies build today Encounters with Modernity sections examine some of the political issues that village life and its architectural traditions face in the modern world This fascinating and engaging tour of our architectural past Fills a gap in architectural education concerning early mankind the emergence of First Society people and the rise of early agricultural societies Presents the story of early architecture written by the coauthor of the acclaimed A Global History of Architecture Uses the most current research to develop a global picture of human interaction and migration Features color and black and white photos and drawings that show site conditions as well as huts houses and other buildings under construction in cultures that still exist today Highlights global relationships with color maps Analyzes topics ranging in scale from landscape and culture to building techniques Helps us come to terms with our own modern approaches to historical conditions and anthropological pasts Architecture of First Societies is ideal reading for anyone who seeks a deeper understanding of the strong relationships between geography ecology culture and architecture Handbook of Material Culture Christopher Y. Tilley, 2006-01-26 Provides a critical survey of the theories concepts intellectual debates substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things This handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes a fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human Indian Housing Programs Operated by HUD United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Indian Affairs (1993-), 1997 University Bulletin University of California (System), 1981 Technological Perspectives on Behavioral Change Michael Brian Schiffer, 2022-08-30 Human societies have always been characterized by a dependence on artifacts from prehistoric stone tools to modern electronic devices Technology responds to and affects virtually all human behavior yet the interdependence of behavior and artifacts has never been studied intensively Archaeologist Schiffer now draws on his discipline s familiarity with artifacts and the processes of change they reveal to offer new insight into the study of behavioral change Drawing on case studies that deal with changes in architecture ceramics and electronic technology he emphasizes the central idea that the explanations of change must focus on the nexus of behavior and artifacts in the context of activities Gendered

Spaces Daphne Spain, 2000-11-09 In hundreds of businesses secretaries usually women do clerical work in open floor settings while managers usually men work and make decisions behind closed doors According to Daphne Spain this arrangement is but one example of the ways in which physical segregation has reinforced women's inequality In this important new book Spain shows how the physical and symbolic barriers that separate women and men in the office at home and at school block women's access to the socially valued knowledge that enhances status Spain looks at first at how nonindustrial societies have separated or integrated men and women Focusing then on one major advanced industrial society the United States Spain examines changes in spatial arrangements that have taken place since the mid nineteenth century and considers the ways in which women's status is associated with those changes As divisions within the middle class home have diminished for example women have gained the right to vote and control property At colleges and universities the progressive integration of the sexes has given women students greater access to resources and thus more career options In the workplace however the traditional patterns of segregation still predominate Illustrated with floor plans and apt pictures of homes schools and work sites and replete with historical examples Gendered Spaces exposes the previously invisible spaces in which daily gender segregation has occurred and still occurs Arizona and the West, 1982

A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran, 2022-08-16 As the Great Depression touched every corner of America the New Deal promoted indigenous arts and crafts as a means of bootstrapping Native American peoples But New Deal administrators romanticization of indigenous artists predisposed them to favor pre industrial forms rather than art that responded to contemporary markets In A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran reveals how positioning the native artist as a pre modern Other served the goals of New Deal programs and how this sometimes worked at cross purposes with promoting native self sufficiency She describes federal policies of the 1930s and early 1940s that sought to generate an upscale market for Native American arts and crafts And by unraveling the complex ways in which commodification was negotiated and the roles that producers consumers and New Deal administrators played in that process she sheds new light on native art's commodity status and the artist's position as colonial subject In this first book to address the ways in which New Deal Indian policy specifically advanced commodification and colonization McLerran reviews its multi pronged effort to improve the market for Indian art through the Indian Arts and Crafts Board arts and crafts cooperatives murals museum exhibits and Civilian Conservation Corps projects Presenting nationwide case studies that demonstrate transcultural dynamics of production and reception she argues for viewing Indian art as a commodity as part of the national economy and as part of national political trends and reform efforts McLerran marks the contributions of key individuals from John Collier and Rene d Harnoncourt to Navajo artist Gerald Nailor whose mural in the Navajo Nation Council House conveyed distinctly different messages to outsiders and tribal members Featuring dozens of illustrations A New Deal for Native Art offers a new look at the complexities of folk art revivals as it opens a new window on the Indian New Deal
