Naval Weapons Of World War Two:

Naval Weapons of World War Two N. J. M. Campbell, John Campbell, 1985 British Naval Weapons of World War Two Norman Friedman, 2020-07-30 John Lambert was a renowned naval draughtsman whose plans were highly valued for their accuracy and detail by modelmakers and enthusiasts. By the time of his death in 2016 he had produced over 850 sheets of drawings many of which have never been published. These have now been acquired by Seaforth and this is the third of a planned series of albums on selected themes reproducing complete sheets at a large page size with an expert commentary and captioning. The initial volumes concentrate on British naval weaponry used in the Second World War thus completing the project John Lambert was working on when he died. His interest was always focused on smaller warships and his weapons drawings tend to be of open mountings the kind that present a real challenge to modelmakers rather than enclosed turret guns but he also produced drawings of torpedo tubes underwater weapons fire control directors and even some specific armament related deck fittings. Following the earlier volumes on destroyer and escort armament this one covers the multitude of weapons carried by Coastal Forces many of which were improvised ad hoc or obsolescent but eventually leading to powerful purpose designed weaponry. An appendix covers the main deck guns carried by British submarines of this era. The drawings are backed by introductory essays by Norman Friedman an acknowledged authority on naval ordnance while a selection of photographs adds to the value of the book as visual reference. Over time the series will be expanded to make this unique technical archive available in published form a move certain to be welcomed by warship modellers enthusiasts and the many fans of John Lambert's work.

Secret Weapons and World War II Walter E. Gruenden, 2005 Gruenden's analysis of this fundamental flaw in the Japanese war effort seamlessly weaves together science technology and military history to provide an entirely unique look at a crucial but understudied aspect of World War II. Comparing the science and weapons programs of all the major combatants he demonstrates that Japan's failure was nearly inevitable given its paucity of strategic resources an inadequate industrial base the absence of effective centralized management to coordinate research military hostility toward civilian scientists and bitter interservice rivalries. In the end Japan could not overcome these obstacles and thus failed to make the transition to the kind of Big Science it needed to ward off its enemies and dominate the Far East.

BOOK JACKET The U.S. Navy's "Interim" LSM(R)s in World War II Ron MacKay, Jr., 2016-05-03 The Interim LSM R or Landing Ship Medium Rocket was a revolutionary development in rocket warfare in World War II and the U S Navy's first true rocket ship. An entirely new class of commissioned warship and the forerunners of today's missile firing naval combatants these ships began as improvised conversions of conventional amphibious landing craft in South Carolina's Charleston Navy Yard during late 1944. They were rushed to the Pacific Theatre to support the U S Army and Marines with heavy rocket bombardments that devastated Japanese forces on Okinawa in 1945. Their primary mission was to deliver maximum firepower to enemy targets ashore. Yet LSM R's also repulsed explosive Japanese speed boats rescued crippled warships recovered hundreds of survivors at sea and were deployed as antisubmarine hunter killers Casualties were staggering enemy gunfire blasted one while kamikaze attacks sank three crippled a fourth and grazed two more This book provides a comprehensive operational history of the Navy's 12 original Interim LSM R's The Royal Navy, 1930-2000 Richard Harding, 2005 This book explores innovation within the Royal Navy from the financial constraints of the 1930s through to the refocusing of the Royal Navy after 1990 World War Two in Europe David T. key to this success looks at the reaction to fast moving technical changes and analyzes the politics of funding this vast national effort both before and beyond the Great War It also attempts to assess the true cost and value of the Grand Fleet in terms of the resources consumed And finally by way of contrast it describes the effects of the postwar recession industrial contraction and the very different responses to rearmament in the run up to the Second World War Includes photographs

British Heavy Cruisers 1939-45 Angus Konstam,2012-05-20 The idea of a heavy cruiser emerged in the aftermath of World War I and was closely linked to the limits set by the inter war Washington Naval Treaty The pre World War I concept of armoured cruisers had been abandoned but in their stead the Admiralty saw a place for powerful cruisers able to patrol the sea lanes of the British Empire and which were well armed enough that they could destroy enemy commerce cruisers The result was a group of British warships known as the Washington Treaty Cruisers that did everything the Admiralty wanted but which conformed to the limits imposed by the treaty These impressive cruisers were high sided spacious and stately perfect peacetime ambassadors for British power In war they also packed a considerable punch During World War II the Royal Navy s thirteen heavy cruisers saw service in every theatre of the war whether facing the Bismarck in the North Atlantic or enduring kamikaze attacks in the Pacific

British Light Cruisers 1939-45 Angus Konstam,2012-10-20 The light cruiser was a natural development of the sailing frigate a fast multi purpose warship that could patrol the sea lanes protect convoys and scout for enemy battle fleets By the inter war period the need for this type of ship was even more important given the increasing need for protection from aircraft and the need to screen the fleet from submarines or destroyers Wartime experience had shown that the British light cruiser was one of the most versatile types of ship in the Royal Navy able to protect other warships bombard enemy shores guard life saving convoys and intercept and destroy enemy warships These were truly the workhorses of the wartime Royal Navy While the battleships and carriers grabbed the headlines these sleek elegant warships quietly got on with the job of securing control of the seas

HMS Cavalier Richard Johnstone-Bryden,2015-07-30 HMS Cavalier is a C Class destroyer one of 96 War Emergency Programme destroyers that were ordered between 1940 and 1942 She saw action on convoy duty off Russia and later in 1945 was sent to the Far East where she provided naval gunfire support during the battle of Surabaya She continued with the British Pacific Fleet until May 1946 Now designated as a war memorial to the 142 RN destroyers and 11 000 men lost during WWII she is on display at Chatham Historic Dockyard As is the case for many museum ships there is a surprising shortage of informative and well illustrated guides for reference during a visit or for research by enthusiasts ship modellers naval buffs historians or students This book in the Seaforth Historic Ship series redresses the gap Containing more than 200 specially commissioned photographs the book takes the reader on a superbly illustrated tour of the ship from bow to stern and deck by deck Significant parts of the vessel for example the gun turrets and engine rooms are given detailed coverage both in words and pictures so that the reader has at hand the most complete visual record and explanation of the ship that exists In addition the importance of the ship both in her own time and now as a museum vessel is explained No other book offers such superb visual impact nor brings the ship so vividly to life

Kongo Class Battlecruisers Steve Wiper,2008-05-30 The ShipCraft series provides in depth information about building and modifying model kits of famous warship types Lavishly illustrated each book takes the modeller through a brief history of the subject class highlighting differences between sister ships and changes in their appearance over their careers This includes paint schemes and camouflage featuring colour profiles and highly detailed line drawings and scale plans The modelling section reviews the strengths and weaknesses of available kits lists commercial accessory sets for super detailing of the ships and provides hints on modifying and improving the basic kit This is followed by an extensive photographic gallery of selected high quality models in a variety of scales and the book concludes with a section on research references books monographs large scale plans and relevant websites The subject of this volume is the Japanese Kongo class four ships built during the First World War as battlecruisers but extensively modified and reconstructed between the wars as fast battleships so that each ship presented a different appearance They were the chosen escorts for the elite IJN carrier forces and saw much action during the Pacific War
