Institutions of Higher Education Linda Sparks, 1990-01-24 This bibliography brings together in one comprehensive volume citations of books dissertations theses and ERIC microfiche relating to the history of specific institutions of higher education worldwide All types of postsecondary institutions two years colleges liberal arts colleges seminaries specialized institutions and universities are included Entries include the following elements when available author editor title place of publication publisher publication date and number of pages Citations from 85 countries are included Entries are by country dependency and territory The United States has been further divided by state Names of institutions are in English References are in the language in which they were written The majority of the citations should be available in a library somewhere in the United States Obscure sources that may be difficult to obtain have been included because they are often the only citation All editions of a title as well as older works are included because of their potential value to a researcher The book should be a part of all college university and large public library collections College of Education faculty members specializing in higher or comparative education will find much of value here

Supplement 1965 to A Bibliography of Higher Education in Canada / Supplément 1965 de Bibliographie de L'Enseignement Supérieur au Canada Robin S. Harris, 1965-12-15 This Supplement to the 1960 Bibliography by Harris and Tremblay adds some 3 500 entries to the approximately 4 000 listed in the first volume providing a full list of articles books pamphlets and theses bearing on all aspects of higher education in Canada for the period 1959 1963 The organization of the earlier volume has been maintained with slight modifications and some new sections have been added including one devoted to institutions which although they are post secondary do not grant degrees and one which includes plays and novels set wholly or in part in actual or fictitious Canadian universities Studies in Higher Education in Canada No 3

Women in Higher Education, 1850-1970 E. Lisa Panayotidis, Paul Stortz, 2017-09-19 This edited collection illustrates the way in which women's experiences of academe could be both contextually diverse but historically and culturally similar It looks at both the micro individual women and universities and macro level comparative analyses among regions and countries within regional national trans national and international contexts The contributors integrally advance knowledge about the university in history by exploring the intersections of the lived experiences of women students and professors practices of co education and intellectual and academic cultures They also raise important questions about the complementary and multidirectional flow and exchange of academic knowledge and information among gender groups across programmes disciplines and universities Historical inquiry and interpretation serve as efficacious ways with which to understand contemporary events and discourses in higher education and more broadly in community and society This book will provide important historical contexts for current debates about the numerical dominance and significance of women in higher education and the tensions embedded in the gendering of specific academic programs and disciplines and university policies missions and mandates

The New Buffalo Blair Stonechild,2006 Post secondary education often referred to as the new buffalo is a contentious but critically important issue for First Nations and the future of Canadian society While First Nations maintain that access to and funding for higher education is an Aboriginal and Treaty right the Canadian government insists that post secondary education is a social program for which they have limited responsibility In The New Buffalo Blair Stonechild traces the history of Aboriginal post secondary education policy from its earliest beginnings as a government tool for assimilation and cultural suppression to its development as means of Aboriginal self determination and self government With first hand knowledge and personal experience of the Aboriginal education system Stonechild goes beyond merely analyzing statistics and policy doctrine to reveal the shocking disparity between Aboriginal and Canadian access to education the continued dominance of non Aboriginals over program development and the ongoing struggle for recognition of First Nations run institutions

Count d'Esterhazy and the Esterhaz-Kaposvar Hungarian Colony in Western Canada Joseph G. Nagy,2024-09-11 Throughout the late 1800s waves of immigrants came over from Europe to North America their arrival serving a dual purpose On the one hand the immigrants were seeking a better life for themselves and their families On the other hand the Canadian federal provincial and territorial governments were seeking to populate their territory in a bid to maintain sovereignty over the land and to develop it for agriculture Among these immigrants were the Hungarian and Western Slavic settlers who founded the Esterhaz Colony which later became known as the Kaposvar and Kolin districts in southeastern Saskatchewan A key figure in the founding of this colony was the enigmatic Count Paul O d Esterhazy a k a Janos Baptiste Packh As an immigration agent for the Canadian and American governments he worked tirelessly not only to promote immigration to the Kaposvar and Kolin districts but also to improve the lives of the immigrants who settled there Although d Esterhazy was not without his detractors this book takes pains to emphasize the sincerity of his vision of a Little Hungary on the Canadian Prairies and the many challenges that he and other proponents of the colony faced as they sought to see that vision fulfilled Meticulously researched and documented this book offers a treasure trove of insight into not only the Esterhaz colony and surrounding area but also the myriad and often conflicting forces involved in the founding of Canada as a nation

Toward the Health of a Nation Leslie A. Boehm, 2020-10-22 Canadians view their healthcare recognized throughout the world as an exemplary system as iconic and integral to their identity In Toward the Health of a Nation Leslie Boehm recounts the first seventy years in the life of one of the foundations of Canada s healthcare system the Institute of Health Policy Management and Evaluation at the University of Toronto Boehm a graduate of IHPME and an instructor there throughout his career charts the institute s history from its inception in 1947 as the Department of Hospital Administration to the present day The first program of its kind in Canada and one of the few in the world the school was founded at a time when the issue of healthcare was becoming a significant part of national and provincial discussions and policies Initially concentrating on hospital management and professional degrees it has expanded to offer academic degrees and facilitate important research into health systems policies and outcomes In Toward the Health of a Nation Boehm demonstrates the excellence of the program its faculty and its graduates as well as their accomplishments in major government initiatives and royal commissions In the seventy years since IHPME s inception healthcare has grown to become a major part of government and business activity and it will only increase in coming years An in depth history of a major program in graduate health education Toward the Health of a Nation highlights how important healthcare is to a modern functional society

Comparative International Perspectives on Education and Social Change in Developing Countries and Indigenous Peoples in Developed Countries Gaëtane Jean-Marie, Steve Sider, Charlene Desir, 2015-07-01 Democratizing educational access and building capacity in developing countries and amongst indigenous peoples in developed countries may be elusive but are hopeful goals Many developing countries are striving to reengineer their incoherent education systems at a time when they are most vulnerable particularly with susceptibility to natural disasters political unrests and economic instabilities UNESCO 2007 Similarly indigenous peoples in developed countries are seeking more control over education as they consider the long term effects of educational policies that have been forced on them Research on education and social change in developing countries has a long history Glewwe 2002 Hanushek 1995 Sider 2011 However there is limited research on educational capacity building in developing countries such as Kenya Honduras Haiti Ghana Hong Kong India Peru China and Thailand Further the educational frameworks by which Indigenous peoples M ori Canada s First Nations and American Indian Alaska Natives have been educated have some significant similarities to those encountered in developing countries The compilation of chapters illuminates research and collaborative initiatives between the authors and local leaders in developing countries and Indigenous peoples in developed countries efforts to solve the complexity of social inequities through educational access and quality learning The authors draw on theoretical lens knowledge bases and strategies and identify trends and developments to provide the scope of educational improvement in a globalization context Brooks Jean Marie Normore Brooks 2009 Soil Quality for Crop Production and Ecosystem Health E.G. Gregorich, M.R. Carter, 1997-11-10 Soil is a complex body that exists as many types each with diverse properties that may vary widely across time and space as a function of many factors This complexity makes the evaluation of soil quality much more challenging than that of water or air quality Evaluation of soil quality now considers environmental implications as well as economic productivity seeking to be more holistic in its approach Thus soil quality research draws from a wide range of disciplines blending the approaches of biologists physicists chemists ecologists economists and agronomists among others This book presents a broad perspective of soil quality that includes these various perspectives and gives a strong theoretical basis for the assessment of soil quality A short glossary provides definitions for terms used throughout the book Proceedings of the ...
