

Poem About Louisiana

By Maya Anthony

In bayous where the cypress grow,
Mysteries in the waters flow,
Underneath the moon's soft glow,
Whispers of the past echo.

Reflections in the murky deep,
Secrets that the bayous keep,
In their silence, stories seep,
Through the waters, slowly creep.

In this tranquil, hidden place,
Nature moves with gentle grace,
In every corner, beauty's trace,
Bayous, Louisiana's embrace.

Louisiana Creole Poems:

Louisiana Creole Poems Calvin Andre Claudel, 1981 Creole Journal Sybil Kein, 1999 Many of the poems in Creole Journal are based on individuals who lived in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Many were free people of color. The relations between owners and slaves and the mulattoes and quadroons they produced are the subject of some of the poems. Several of the poems are presented in the Creole language with the English translations on opposite pages. Creole phrases are sprinkled throughout the book with footnotes to explain their meaning as well as a glossary at the end to assist the reader.

Louisiana Creole Literature Catharine Savage Brosman, 2013-10-17 Louisiana Creole Literature is a broad ranging critical reading of belles lettres in both French and English connected to and generally produced by the distinctive Louisiana Creole peoples chiefly in the southeastern part of the state. The book covers primarily the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, the flourishing period during which the term Creole had broad and contested cultural reference in Louisiana. The study consists in part of literary history and biography. When available and appropriate, each discussion is arranged chronologically, provides pertinent personal information on authors as well as publishing facts. Readers will find also summaries and evaluation of key texts, some virtually unknown, others of difficult access. Brosman illuminates the biographies and works of Kate Chopin, Lafcadio Hearn, George Washington Cable, Grace King, and Adolphe Duhart among others. In addition, she challenges views that appear to be skewed regarding canon formation. The book places emphasis on poetry and fiction, reaching from early nineteenth century writing through the twentieth century to selected works by poets still writing in the early twenty-first century. A few plays are treated also, especially by Victor Séjour. Louisiana Creole Literature examines at length the writings of important Francophone figures, and certain Anglophone novelists likewise receive extended treatment. Since much of nineteenth century Louisiana literature was transnational, the book considers Creole based works which appeared in Paris as well as those published locally. Creole Echoes M. Lynn Weiss, 2004 Creole poets have always eluded easy definition, infusing European poetic forms with Louisiana themes and Native American and African influences to produce an impressive variety of highly accomplished verses. The first major collection of its kind, Creole Echoes contains over a hundred of these poems by more than thirty different poets presented by M. Lynn Weiss in their original French alongside new English translations by Norman R. Shapiro. The poems gathered here were all composed in French by Louisiana residents of European, African, and Caribbean origin. Their themes range from love and history to nightmare and childhood recollection. In these pages, somber elegies meet whimsical surprises, and rhyming animal fables meet political panegyrics. In the Creole Twilight Joshua Clegg Caffery, 2015-09-07 Many of the recurring motifs found in south Louisiana's culture spring from the state's rich folklore. Influenced by settlers of European and African heritage, celebrated customs like the Courir de Mardi Gras and fabled creatures like the Loup Garou grow out of the region's distinctive oral tradition. Joshua Clegg Caffery's In the Creole Twilight draws from this vibrant and diverse legacy to create an accessible reimagining of the state's traditional storytelling and songs A scholar and Grammy nominated musician Caffery borrows from the syllabic structures rhyme schemes narratives and settings that characterize Louisiana songs and tales to create new verse that is both well researched and refreshingly inventive Paired with original pen and ink illustrations as well as notes that clarify the origins of characters and themes Caffery s compositions provide a link to the old worlds of southern Louisiana while constructing an entirely new one

Cajun Literature and Cajun Collective Memory Mathilde Köstler,2022-12-19 How does Cajun literature emerging in the 1980s represent the dynamic processes of remembering in Cajun culture Known for its hybrid constitution and deeply ingrained oral traditions Cajun culture provides an ideal testing ground for investigating the collective memory of a group In particular francophone and anglophone Cajun texts by such writers as Jean Arceneaux Tim Gautreaux Jeanne Castille Zachary Richard Ron Thibodeaux Darrell Bourque and Kirby Jambon reveal not only a shift from an oral to a written tradition They also show hybrid perspectives on the Cajun collective memory Based on recurring references to place the texts also reflect on the Acadian past and reveal the innate ability of the Cajuns to adapt through repeated intertextual references The Cajun collective memory is thus defined by a transnational outlook a transversality cutting across various ethnic heritages to establish and legitimize a collective identity both amid the linguistic and cultural diversity in Louisiana and in the face of American mainstream culture Cajun Literature and Cajun Collective Memory represents the first analysis of the mnemonic strategies Cajun writers use to explore and sustain the Cajun identity and collective memory

Jules Choppin (1830-1914) Jules Choppin, 2013-08-06 This bilingual collection recovers forgotten treasures of 19th century francophone American literature Jules Choppin was a well known New Orleans poet published widely in the local papers and in Comptes rendus de l'Athlétique Louisianais a literary journal that represented the best of 19th century francophone Louisiana Superbly translated by Norman R Shapiro whose translations of La Fontaine are considered among the best in English New Orleans Poems in Creole and French presents almost the entirety of Choppin s extant poetic works It is especially notable for the good humored fables inspired by La Fontaine written in sprightly Louisiana Creole The introduction by M Lynn Weiss provides context sets the scene and illustrates Choppin s background for new readers and fans alike Book jacket

Creole Sybil Kein, 2000-08-01 Who are the Creoles The answer is not clear cut Of European African or Caribbean mixed descent they are a people of color and Francophone dialect native to south Louisiana and though their history dates from the late 1600s they have been sorely neglected in the literature Creole is a project that both defines and celebrates this ethnic identity In fifteen essays writers intimately involved with their subject explore the vibrant yet understudied culture of the Creole people across time their language literature religion art food music folklore professions customs and social barriers

Three Hundred Years of Decadence Robert Azzarello, 2019-04-09 New Orleans s reputation as a decadent city stems in part from its environmental precariousness its Francophilia its Afro Caribbean connections its Catholicism and its litany of alleged vices encompassing prostitution miscegenation homosexuality and any number of the seven deadly sins An evocative work of cultural criticism Robert Azzarello s Three Hundred Years of Decadence argues that decadence can convey a more nuanced meaning than simple decay or decline conceived in physical social or moral terms Instead within New Orleans literature decadence possesses a complex even paradoxical relationship with concepts like beauty and health progress and technological advance Azzarello presents the concept of decadence along with its perception and the uneasy social relations that result as a suggestive avenue for decoding the long shifting story of New Orleans and its position in the transatlantic world By analyzing literary works that span from the late seventeenth century to contemporary speculations about the city's future Azzarello uncovers how decadence often names a transfiguration of values in which ideas about supposed good and bad cannot maintain their stability and end up morphing into one another These evolving representations of a decadent New Orleans which Azzarello traces with attention to both details of local history and insights from critical theory reveal the extent to which the city functions as a contact zone for peoples and cultures from Europe Africa and the Americas Drawing on a deep and understudied archive of New Orleans literature Azzarello considers texts from multiple genres fiction poetry drama song and travel writing including many written in languages other than English His analysis includes such works of transcription and translation as George Washington Cable's Creole Slave Songs and Mary Haas's Tunica Texts which he places in dialogue with canonical and recent works about the city as well as with neglected texts like Ludwig von Reizenstein's German language serial The Mysteries of New Orleans and Charles Chesnutt's novel Paul Marchand F M C With its careful analysis and focused scope Three Hundred Years of Decadence uncovers the immense significance historically politically and aesthetically that literary imaginings of a decadent New Orleans hold for understanding the city's position as a multicultural transatlantic contact zone textual forms though they differ from each other both demonstrate the increasing cultural autonomy and literary voice of non white populations in the colony at the time of revolution Unschooled generals and courtesans long presented as voiceless are at last revealed to be legitimate speakers and authors These Haitian French and Creole texts have been neglected as a foundation of Afro diasporic literature by former slaves in the Atlantic world for two reasons because they do not fit the generic criteria of the slave narrative which is rooted in the autobiographical experience of enslavement and because they are mediated texts relayed to the print cultural Atlantic domain not by the speakers themselves but by secretaries or refugee colonists These texts challenge how we think about authorial voice writing print culture and cultural autonomy in the context of the formerly enslaved and demand that we reassess our historical understanding of the Haitian Independence and its relationship to an international world of contemporary readers Hearing Sappho in New Orleans Ruth

Salvaggio,2012-06-13 While sifting through trash in her flooded New Orleans home Ruth Salvaggio discovered an old volume of Sappho s poetry stained with muck and mold In her efforts to restore the book Salvaggio realized that the process reflected how Sappho s own words were unearthed from the refuse of the ancient world Undertaking such a task in New Orleans she sets out to recover the city s rich poetic heritage while searching through its flooded debris Hearing Sappho in New Orleans is at once a meditation on this poetic city its many languages and cultures and a history of its forgotten poetry Using Sappho s fragments as a guide Salvaggio roams the streets and neighborhoods of the city as she explores the migrations of lyric poetry from ancient Greece through the African slave trade to indigenous America and ultimately to New Orleans The book also directs us to the lyric call of poetry the voice always in search of a listener Writing in a post Katrina landscape Salvaggio recovers and ponders the social consequences of the long song lyric chants especially the voices of women lost in time as it resonates from New Orleans s poetic sites like Congo Square where Africans and Indians gathered in the early eighteenth century to the modern day Maple Leaf Bar where poets still convene on Sunday afternoons She recovers for example an all but forgotten young Creole woman named L l and leads us all the way up to celebrated contemporary writers such as former Louisiana poet laureate Brenda Marie Osbey Sybil Kein Nicole Cooley and Katherine Soniat Hearing Sappho in New Orleans is a reminder of poetry s ability to restore and secure fragile and fragmented connections in a vulnerable and imperiled world Language in Louisiana Nathalie Dajko,Shana Walton,2019-08-01 Contributions by Lisa
