Lunar Men The Friends Who Made The Future:

The Lunar Men Jennifer S. Uglow, 2002 In the 1760s a group of amateur experimenters met and made friends in the Midlands Most came from humble families all lived far from the centre of things but they were young and their optimism was boundless together they would change the world Among them were the ambitious toy maker Matthew Boulton and his partner James Watt of steam engine fame the potter Josiah Wedgwood the larger than life Erasmus Darwin physician poet inventor and theorist of evolution a forerunner of his grandson Charles Later came Joseph Priestley discoverer of oxygen and fighting radical

The Lunar Men Jennifer Uglow, 2009 Led by Erasmus Darwin the Lunar Society of Birmingham was a group of eighteenth century amateur experimenters The story brings to life this group of inventors artisans and tycoons who shaped and inspired the modern world and kick started the Industrial Revolution

A History of Management Thought Morgen Witzel, 2016-12-16 Of all the sciences and social sciences management is the one that most deliberately turns its back on the past Yet management as we know it today did not spring into life fully formed Management has more than just a present it also has a past and a future and all three are inextricably linked This book charts the evolution of management as an intellectual discipline from ancient times to the present day Contemporary management challenges including sustainability technology and data and legitimacy are analysed through an historical lens and with the benefit of new case studies The author helps readers understand how the evolution of management ideas has interacted with changes in society By framing management's history as one of challenge and response this new edition is the perfect accompaniment for students and scholars seeking meaningful study in the business school and beyond Essential reading as a core textbook in management history the book is also valuable supplementary reading across the humanities and social sciences

Cheap Print and Popular Song in the Nineteenth Century Paul Watt, Derek B. Scott, Patrick Spedding, 2017-03-23 This book is a cultural history of the nineteenth century songster pocket sized anthologies of song texts usually without musical notation It examines the musical social commercial and aesthetic functions songsters served and the processes by which they were produced and disseminated the repertory they included and the singers printers and entrepreneurs that both inspired their manufacture and facilitated their consumption Taking an international perspective chapters focus on songsters from Ireland North America Australia and Britain and the varied public and private contexts in which they were used and exploited in oral and print cultures

Stories from Home Margaret Ponsonby,2016-04-01 Most homes in the past were not elite wealthy interiors complete with high fashion furnishings designed by well known architects and designers as many domestic histories often seem to have assumed As this book makes clear there were in fact an enormous variety of house interiors in England during the period 1750 1850 reflecting the location status and gender of particular householders as well as their changing attitudes tastes and aspirations By focusing on non metropolitan homes which represented the majority of households in England this study highlights the need for historians to look beyond prevailing attitudes that often reduce interiors to generic descriptions based on high fashions of the decorative arts Instead it shows how numerous social and cultural influences affected the manner in which homes were furnished and decorated Issues such as the availability of goods gender regional taste income the second hand market changing notions of privacy and household hierarchies and print culture could all have a significant impact on domestic furnishing The study ends with a discussion of how domestic interiors of historic properties have been presented and displayed in modern times highlighting how competing notions of the past can cloud as well as illuminate the issue Combining cultural history and qualitative analysis of evidence this book presents a new way of looking at ordinary and provincial homes that enriches our understanding of English domestic life of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries implications of different approaches to change The Poetry of Erasmus Darwin Martin Priestman, 2016-02-24 While historians of science have focused significant attention on Erasmus Darwin's scientific ideas and milieu relatively little attention has been paid to Darwin as a literary writer In The Poetry of Erasmus Darwin Enlightened Spaces Romantic Times Martin Priestman situates Darwin's three major poems The Loves of the Plants 1789 The Economy of Vegetation 1791 and The Temple of Nature 1803 and Darwin himself within a large polymathic late Enlightenment network of other scientists writers thinkers and social movers and shakers Interpreting Darwin's poetry in terms of Darwin's broader sense of the poetic text as a material space he posits a significant shift from the Enlightenment's emphases on conceptual spaces to the Romantic period's emphases on historical time He shows how Darwin's poetry illuminates his stance toward all the major physical sciences and his well formulated theories of evolution and materially based psychology Priestman's study also offers the first substantial accounts of Darwin's mythological theories and their links to Enlightenment Rosicrucianism and Freemasonry and of the reading of history that emerges from the fragment poem The Progress of Society a first ever printed edition of which is included in an appendix Ultimately Priestman's book offers readers a sustained account of Darwin's polymathic Enlightenment worldview and cognate poetics in a period when texts are too often judged by their adherence to a retrospectively constructed Romanticism
