The First Proofs of the Universal Catalogue of Books on Art: L-Z John Hungerford Pollen (S.J.),1870 AB Bookman's Weekly ,1998 The First Proofs of the Universal Catalogue of Books on Art Great Britain. Department of Science and Art,National Art Library (Great Britain),1870 A Pound of Paper John Baxter,2025-09-23 In the rural Australia of the fifties where John Baxter grew up reading books was disregarded with suspicion owning and collecting them with utter incomprehension Despite this by the age of eleven Baxter had collected his first book The Poems of Rupert Brooke He'd read the volume often but now he had to own it This was the beginning of what would become a major collection and a lifelong obsession His book hunting would take him all over the world but his first real find was in London in 1978 when he spotted a rare copy of a Graham Greene children's book while browsing on a stall in Swiss Cottage It was going for 5 pence This would also fortuitously be the day when he first encountered one of the legends of the book selling world Martin Stone At various times pothead international fugitive from justice and professional rock musician he would become John's mentor and friend In this brilliantly readable and funny book John Baxter brings us into contact with such literary greats as Graham Greene Kingsley Amis J G Ballard and Ray Bradbury But he also shows us how he penetrated the secret fraternity of runners or book scouts sleuths who use bluff and guile to hunt down their quarry and joined them in scouring junk shops markets auction rooms and private homes for rarities In the comic tradition of Clive James's Unreliable Memoirs A Pound of Paper describes how a boy from the bush came to be living in a Paris penthouse with a library worth millions It also explores the exploding market in first editions What treasures are lying unnoticed in your garage First Proofs of the Universal

Catalogue of Books on Art National Art Library (Great Britain),1870 Bela Bartok László Somfai,2023-12-22 This long awaited authoritative account of Bartók's compositional processes stresses the composer's position as one of the masters of Western music history and avoids a purely theoretical approach or one that emphasizes him as an enthusiast for Hungarian folk music For Béla Bartók composition often began with improvisation at the piano László Somfai maintains that Bartók composed without preconceived musical theories and refused to teach composition precisely for this reason He was not an analytical composer but a musical creator for whom intuition played a central role These conclusions are the result of Somfai's three decades of work with Bartók's oeuvre of careful analysis of some 3 600 pages of sketches drafts and autograph manuscripts and of the study of documents reflecting the development of Bartók's compositions Included as well are corrections preserved only on recordings of Bartók's performances of his own works Somfai also provides the first comprehensive catalog of every known work of Bartók published and unpublished and of all extant draft sketch and preparatory material His book will be basic to all future scholarly work on Bartók and will assist performers in clarifying the problems of Bartók notation Moreover it will be a model for future work on other major composers This long awaited authoritative account of Bartók's compositional processes stresses the composer's position as one of the masters of Western music history and avoids a purely theoretical approach or one that emphasizes him as an enthusiast for Hungarian
