Congress. House. Committee on Natural Resources. Subcommittee on Insular Affairs, Oceans, and Wildlife,2009 Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries,1971 Future Sea Deborah Rowan Wright,2020-10-27 A counterintuitive and compelling argument that existing laws already protect the entirety of our oceans and a call to understand and enforce those protections The world's oceans face multiple threats the effects of climate change pollution overfishing plastic waste and more Confronted with the immensity of these challenges and of the oceans themselves we might wonder what more can be done to stop their decline and better protect the sea and marine life Such widespread environmental threats call for a simple but significant shift in reasoning to bring about long overdue elemental change in the way we use ocean resources In Future Sea ocean advocate and marine policy researcher Deborah Rowan Wright provides the tools for that shift Questioning the underlying philosophy of established ocean conservation approaches Rowan Wright lays out a radical alternative a bold and far reaching strategy of 100 percent ocean protection that would put an end to destructive industrial activities better safeguard marine biodiversity and enable ocean wildlife to return and thrive along coasts and in seas around the globe Future Sea is essentially concerned with the solutions and not the problems Rowan Wright shines a light on existing international laws intended to keep marine environments safe that could underpin this new strategy She gathers inspiring stories of communities and countries using ocean resources wisely as well as of successful conservation projects to build up a cautiously optimistic picture of the future for our oceans counteracting all too prevalent reports of doom and gloom A passionate sweeping and personal account Future Sea not only argues for systemic change in how we manage what we do in the sea but also describes steps that anyone from children to political leaders or indeed any reader of the book can take toward safeguarding the oceans and their extraordinary wildlife Saving the Georgia Coast Paul Bolster,2020-03-15 Fifty years ago Georgia chose how it would use the natural environment of its coast The General Assembly passed the Coastal Marshlands Protection Act in 1970 and surprisingly Lester Maddox a governor who had built a conservative reputation by defending segregation signed it into law With this book Paul Bolster narrates the politics of the times and brings to life the political leaders and the coalition of advocates who led Georgia to pass the most comprehensive protection of marshlands along the Atlantic seaboard Saving the Georgia Coast brings to light the intriguing and colorful characters who formed that coalition wealthy island owners hunters and fishermen people who made their home on the coast courageous political leaders garden club members clean water protectors and journalists It explores how that political coalition came together behind governmental leaders and traces the origins of environmental organizations that continue to impact policy today Saving the Georgia Coast enhances the reader s understanding of the many steps it takes for a bill to become a law Bolster s account reviews state policy toward the coast today giving the reader an opportunity to compare yesterday to the present Current demands on the coastal environment are different including spaceports and sea rise from climate change but the political pressures to generate new wealth and new jobs or to perch a home on the edge of the sea are no different than fifty years ago Saving the Georgia Coast spotlights the past and present decisions needed to balance human desires with the limits of what nature has to offer
