The Only Mind Worth Having Gardner Fiona, 2016-11-24 In The Only Mind Worth Having Fiona Gardner takes Thomas Merton's belief that the child mind is the only mind worth having and explores it in the context of Jesus' challenging paradoxical and enigmatic command to become like small children She demonstrates how Merton's belief and Jesus' command can be understood as part of contemporary spirituality and spiritual practice To follow Christ's command requires a great leap of the imagination Gardner examines what it might mean to make this leap when one is an adult without it becoming sentimental and mawkish or regressive and pathological Using both psychological and spiritual insights and drawing on the experiences of Thomas Merton and others Gardner suggests that in some mysterious and paradoxical way recovering a sense of childhood spirituality is the path towards spiritual maturity The move from childhood spirituality to adulthood and on to a spiritual maturity through the child mind is a move from innocence to experience to organised innocence or from dependence to independence to a state of being in dependence with God

City of Second Sight Justin T. Clark, 2018-03-16 In the decades before the U S Civil War the city of Boston evolved from a dilapidated haphazardly planned and architecturally stagnant provincial town into a booming and visually impressive metropolis In an effort to remake Boston into the Athens of America neighborhoods were leveled streets straightened and an ambitious set of architectural ordinances enacted However even as residents reveled in a vibrant new landscape of landmark buildings art galleries parks and bustling streets the social and sensory upheaval of city life also gave rise to a widespread fascination with the unseen Focusing his analysis between 1820 and 1860 Justin T Clark traces how the effort to impose moral and social order on the city also inspired many from Transcendentalists to clairvoyants and amateur artists to seek out more ethereal visions of the infinite and ideal beyond the gilded paintings and glimmering storefronts By elucidating the reciprocal influence of two of the most important developments in nineteenth century American culture the spectacular city and visionary culture Clark demonstrates how the nineteenth century city is not only the birthplace of modern spectacle but also a battleground for the freedom and autonomy of the spectator

Seeing Through Religion Nathan McGovern, 2025-09-19 Seeing Through Religion is a cutting edge textbook designed to help students in their study and research of the world's religious traditions Providing the tools to learn this valuable subject theoretically

McGovern argues that religion isn't a thing out there in the world; it's the glasses on your face through which you see the world shaped by Western history and in particular Christianity. By exploring the major religious traditions and comparing stereotypes about them to reality, this textbook establishes how the lens of religion systematically distorts our perception of the world. Topics covered include: What Is Religion? Colonialism and the Two Faces of Orientalism; Islam: Does Fear Imply Difference? Buddhism: A Philosophy or a Religion? Hinduism: A Polytheistic or a Monotheistic Religion? Chinese Religion: What Is It and Where Can We Find It? Indian Religions: How Can One Religion Include Another? Tibetan Buddhism: Is It Still Buddhism? Judaism: A Religion or an Ethnicity? Indigenous Traditions: What Gets Counted as a Religion? Secularism: Can We Put Religion in a Box? How is the way we think about religion influenced by the theology of Martin Luther? How does the Christian paradigm of religion distort our perception of Christianity itself? This textbook not only provides a survey of important religious traditions but also guides the reader on how to study religion in a methodologically sophisticated way. This innovative volume is essential reading for those who want a contemporary and engaging approach to the study of world religions.

Seeing Through God John Llewelyn, 2004. Playing on the various meanings of Seeing Through God, John Llewelyn explores the act of looking in the wake of the death of the transcendent God of metaphysics. Taking up strategies developed by the Western sciences for seeing and observing, he finds that the so-called tough-minded practices of the physical sciences are very much at home with the so-called tender-minded practices of Eastern religions. Instead of opposing East and West, Llewelyn thinks that blending these spheres leads to a better understanding of aesthetic experience and imagination. In this blending, he presents a phenomenological description of the imagination and the ethical and religious dimensions of the act of imagining. Seeing Through God touches on themes of salvation, the preservation of the environment, and the role of God in our temptation to dishonor the earth. This unique book presents Llewelyn as one of the leading interpreters of the environmental phenomenology movement.

An inspirational guide to a powerful meditation method for greater clarity, consciousness, and spiritual growth by New York Times bestselling author and world renowned meditation teacher Ilchi Lee. Are you feeling stuck in your current situation or your life in general? Are you having trouble managing stress? Have you sought answers at spiritual retreats without getting the clarity you need? Relief can be closer than you think if you reframe how you look at your problems. New York Times bestselling author Ilchi Lee proposes there is one root cause to all the troubles plaguing us: separation. We put up walls in every aspect of our lives, isolating ourselves. In Connect: How to Find Clarity and Expand Your Consciousness with Pineal Gland Meditation, Lee shows how to connect to your authentic self through the pineal gland in your brain. Activate your pineal gland through the meditations rooted in an ancient Korean tradition that Ilchi Lee describes in this book. Mysterious Minds Elise Nykänen, 2017-11-22 This study examines the narrative tools techniques and structures that Marja Liisa Vartio a classic of Finnish post war modernism used in presenting fictional minds in her narrative prose The study contributes to the academic discussion on formal and thematic conventions of modernism by addressing the ways in which fictional minds work in interaction and in relation to the enfolding fictional world The epistemic problem of how accurately the world the self and the other can be known is approached by analyzing two co operating ways of portraying fictional minds both from external and internal perspectives The external perspective relies on detachment and emotional restraint dominating in Vartio s early novels Se on sitten kev t and Mies kuin mies tytt kuin tytt The internal perspective pertains to the mental processes of self reflection speculation and excessive imagining that gain more importance in her later novels Kaikki naiset n kev t unia Tunteet and H nen olivat linnut In the theoretical chapter of this study fictional minds are discussed in the context of the acclaimed inward turn of modernist fiction by suggesting alternative methods for reading modernist minds as embodied emotional and social entities In respect to fictional minds interaction this study elaborates on the ideas of mind reading intersubjectivity and the social mind established within post classical cognitive narratology Furthermore it employs possible world poetics when addressing the complexity incompleteness and inaccessibility of Vartio s epistemic worlds including the characters private worlds of knowledge beliefs emotions hallucinations and dreams In regards to the emotional emplotment of fictional worlds this study also benefits from affective narratology as well as the plot theory being influenced by possible world semantics narrative dynamics and cognitive narratology As the five analysis chapters of this study show fictional minds in Vartio s fiction are not only introspective solipsist and streaming but also embodied and social entities In the readings of the primary texts the concept of embodiedness is used to examine the situated presence of an experiencing mind within the time and space of the storyworld Fictional minds interactions are also demonstrated as evolving from local experientiality to long term calculations that turn emotional incidents into episodes and episodes into stories In Vartio s novels the emotional story structure of certain conventional story patterns such as the narratives of female development and the romance plot the sentimental novel and epistolary fiction are modified and causally altered in the portrayal of the embodied interactions between the self the other and the world The trajectories of female self discovery in Vartio s novels are analyzed through the emotional responses of characters their experiences of randomness their ways of counterfactualizing their traumatic past their procrastinatory or akratic reactions or indecisiveness The gradual move away from the percepts of the external world to the excessive imaginings and mis readings of other minds triggered by the interaction of worlds and minds challenges the contemporary and more recent accounts of modernism both in Finnish and international contexts
