Seeking The White Root An Australian Story:

The Publishers Weekly, 1999 Independent Publisher, 1999 Seeking the White Root Cinda Wombles
Pettigrew, Robyn D. Warner, 1998 Witnessing Australian Stories Kelly Jean Butler, 2017-07-28 This book is about how Australians have responded to stories about suffering and injustice in Australia presented in a range of public media including literature history films and television Those who have responded are both ordinary and prominent Australians politicians writers and scholars All have sought to come to terms with Australia's history by responding empathetically to stories of its marginalized citizens Drawing upon international scholarship on collective memory public history testimony and witnessing this book represents a cultural history of contemporary Australia It examines the forms of witnessing that dominated Australian public culture at the turn of the millennium Since the late 1980s witnessing has developed in Australia in response to the increasingly audible voices of indigenous peoples migrants and more recently asylum seekers As these voices became public they posed a challenge not only to scholars and politicians but also most importantly to ordinary citizens When former Prime Minister Kevin Rudd delivered his historic apology to Australia's indigenous peoples in February 2008 he performed an act of collective witnessing that affirmed the testimony and experiences of Aboriginal Australians The phenomenon of witnessing became crucial not only to the recognition and reparation of past injustices but to efforts to create a more cosmopolitan Australia in the present This is a vital addition to Transaction's critically acclaimed Memory and Narrative series Vulnerability and Resilience Jione Havea, 2020-01-28 In Vulnerability and Resilience vulnerability is not the final word Rather resilience provides the cutting edge and living breath in the stories of subjects who are vulnerable And they have many stories stories of being trapped in bodies teachings and or situations that make them and others like them vulnerable to discrimination hatred and rejection stories of being trapped because of their bodies theologies and or cultures and stories of being trapped for no good reason For subjects who are vulnerable life is like a maze of traps and stories of resilience keep them going The contributors to Vulnerability and Resilience refuse to be trapped At the intersection of body and liberation theologies they tell their stories in the hope that they will expose cultures that make individuals and communities vulnerable and that those stories will encourage vulnerable subjects to be resilient and bring change to theological institutions that conserve vulnerability Because of the location of the contributors the Americas Africa Asia Europe Caribbean and Oceania this book is a testimony that vulnerability is present all over the world and that resilience is a liberating alternative An Immigrant Nation Seeks Cohesion James Jupp, 2018-04-10 An Immigrant Nation Seeks Cohesion presents Australian traditions myths and legends in an understanding but often critical light in the belief that such devices have often been used by interested parties and even governments to maintain social solidarity and to mould a very complex people into a coherent and obedient whole Australia is not and never has been an equal society It has not always been a peaceful and tolerant society but it is more so than most other states and especially many of those sending immigrants It is not a perfect democracy Many have been mistreated and even persecuted but that most of those suffering at present are either indigenous or refugees should not be a cause of indifference Australians may be suspicious of foreigners and social and political deviants But they have passed a whole series of reforming laws since the Federation in 1901 not all of which have been as racist as the White Australia policy An Immigrant Nation Seeks Cohesion attempts to get a little bit closer to the truth of two hundred years of creating a liveable society in what was a remote and unknown part of the world The

Bowker's Guide to Characters in Fiction 2007 ,2008-02 The Roots of Radicalization Victor Counted,2021-08-06 In The Roots of Radicalization Disrupted Attachment Systems and Displacement Victor Counted examines the expressions of attachment related radicalization Counted argues that radicalization is rooted in experiences of disrupted attachment in religion places or with people who are perceived as sources of security On Thomas Keneally Stan Grant,2021-05-04

Keneally's caricature of a self-loathing Jimmie Blacksmith is a lost opportunity to explore the complex ways that Aboriginal people were pushing against a white world that would not accept them for who they were that would not see them as equal that in truth would not see them as human. Acclaimed journalist Stan Grant weaves literary criticism, philosophy and memoir to shed light on The Chant of Jimmie Blacksmith. Drawing parallels with Indigenous writers Tara June Winch and Bruce Pascoe, Grant brilliantly re-examines Keneally's novel, raising questions about identity, modernity and storytelling. In the Writers on Writers series, leading authors reflect on an Australian writer who has inspired and fascinated them. Provocative and crisp, these books start a fresh conversation between past and present, shed new light on the craft of writing and introduce some intriguing and talented authors and their work. Published by Black Inc in association with the University of Melbourne and State Library Victoria.

Critical Autoethnography and Écriture Feminine Elizabeth Mackinlay, Renée Mickelburgh, 2023-10-11. The project offers a collection of new interdisciplinary critical autoethnographic engagements with Hélène Cixous' critique of feminine and work. Three steps on the ladder of writing. Critical autoethnography shares a reciprocal and inter-animating relationship with Hélène Cixous' critique of feminine writing, and in this collection, authors explore that inter-animation by explicitly engaging with Three steps on the ladder of writing. Three steps is a poetic, insightful and ultimately moving reflection on the writing process and explores three distinct areas essential for writing: The School of the Dead, the notion that something or someone must die in order for good writing to be born; The School of Dreams, the crucial role dreams play in literary inspiration and output; and The School of Roots, the importance of depth in the nether realms in all aspects of writing. Topics covered include ways Cixous' work can address the need for loss and reparation in writing; critical autoethnography; how Cixous' writing makes our body speak through concepts of birth and the body in through and of critical autoethnography; whether writing in this way recast and reform prevailing orders of domination and oppression; and how Cixous' writing around the ethics of loving and giving translates into response-able and non-violent forms of critical autoethnography in relation to otherness and difference. In this collection, we invite you to Let us go to the school of critical autoethnographic writing. Cixous, 1993, p. 3, with the work of Hélène Cixous and speak in a different way and through a different medium of academic language in an approach that reveals the tensions, the paradoxes, the pains and the pleasures of writing with critical autoethnography in the contemporary university.

History Of Australia (Volumes 5 & 6) Manning Clark, 1999-09-13. Manning Clark's six-volume history is one of the masterpieces of Australian writing. It is also one of the most passionately debated visions of Australian history in which the struggle to realise an Australian nation is played out on an epic scale. A History of Australia 1888-1945 covers Federation, the Boer War and World War I's Gallipoli. It finishes with the story of an emerging Australian identity at the point of its greatest trial, the outbreak of World War II. This is not a general Australian history; it does not attempt to cover all aspects and it is not a definitive or quantitative analysis. It is a work of art, a living and breathing account of the remaking of a primitive continent.
