Weeds Richard Mabey, 2010-10-14 Weeds survive entombed in the soil for centuries They are as persistent and pervasive as myths They ride out ice ages agricultural revolutions global wars They mark the tracks of human movements across continents as indelibly as languages Yet to humans they are the scourge of our gardens saboteurs of our best laid plans They rob crops of nourishment ruin the exquisite visions of garden designers and make unpleasant and impenetrable hiding places for urban ne'er-do-wells Weeds can be destructive and troubling but they can also be beautiful and they are the prototypes of most of the plants that keep us alive Humans have grappled with their paradox for thousands of years and with characteristic verve and lyricism Richard Mabey uncovers some of the deeper cultural reasons behind the attitudes we have to such a huge section of the plant world

The Perfumier and the Stinkhorn Richard Mabey, 2011-04-14 In these elegant short essays revered nature writer Richard Mabey attempts to marry a Romantic's view of the natural world with that of the meticulous observations of the scientist By Romanticism he refers to the view that nature isn't a machine to be dissected but a community of which we the observers are inextricably part And that our feelings about that community are a perfectly proper subject for reflection because they shape our relationship with it Scientists eschew such a subjective response wanting to witness the natural world exactly whatever feelings subsequently follow Our feelings are an extension of our senses sight taste smell touch and sound and here in a sextet of inspiring meditations Mabey explores each sensory response in what it means to interact with nature

From birdsong to poetry from Petri dish to microscope this is a joyful union of meandering thoughts and intimate memories

The Cabaret of Plants Richard Mabey, 2015-10-22 In The Cabaret of Plants Mabey explores the plant species which have challenged our imaginations awoken our wonder and upturned our ideas about history science beauty and belief Picked from every walk of life they encompass crops weeds medicines religious gathering places and a water lily named after a queen Beginning with pagan cults and creation myths the cultural significance of plants has burst upwards sprouting into forms as diverse as the panacea the cure all plant ginseng a single root of which can cost up to 10 000 Newton s apple the African vegetable elephant or baobab and the mystical night flowering Amazonian cactus the moonflower Ranging widely across science art and cultural history poetry and personal experience Mabey puts plants centre stage and reveals a true botanical cabaret a world of tricksters shape shifters and inspired problem solvers as well as an enthralled audience of romantics eccentric amateur scientists and transgressive artists The Cabaret of Plants celebrates the idea that plants are not simply the furniture of the planet but vital inventive individual beings worthy of respect and that to understand this may be the best way of preserving life together on Earth

Burren Country Paul Clements, 2011-05-14 For 20 years Paul Clements has been tapping into the Burren s hidden crevices drawn to its history mystery and peculiarities He writes absorbingly about the rocks hills and walls and the range of colours the animals he rubs shoulders with and about subjects which excite him such as the exotic wild flowers ancient ruins early morning birdsong and the smell of whiskey in historic pubs A hunter and gatherer of information and lore on the Burren the author ferrets out little known facts and weaves them together to create these carefully distilled essays

Turned Out Nice Again Richard Mabey, 2013-02-18 In his trademark style Richard Mabey weaves together science art and memoirs including his own to show the weather s impact on our culture and national psyche He rambles through the myths of Golden Summers and our persistent state of denial about the winter the Impressionists love affair with London smog seasonal affective disorder SAD do we all get it and the mysteries of storm migraines herrings falling like hail in Norfolk and Saharan dust reddening south coast cars moonbows dog suns fog mirages and Constable s clouds the fact that English has more words for rain than Inuit has for snow the curious eccentricity of country clothing and the mathematical behaviour of umbrella sales We should never apologise for our obsession with the weather It is one of the most profound influences on the way we live and something we all experience in common No wonder it s the natural subject for a greeting between total strangers Turned out nice again
