Seitz, 2000 Eugene Dynkin is a rare example of a contemporary mathematician who has achieved results in two quite different areas of research algebra and probability In both areas his ideas constitute an essential part of modern mathematical knowledge and form a basis for further development Although his last work in algebra was published in 1955 his contributions continue to influence current research in algebra and in the physics of elementary particles His work in probability is part of both the historical and the modern development of the topic

Selected Works of Phillip A. Griffiths with Commentary Phillip Griffiths, Maurizio Cornalba, 2003 Over the last four decades Phillip Griffiths has been a central figure in mathematics During this time he made crucial contributions in several fields including complex analysis algebraic geometry and differential systems His books and papers are distinguished by a remarkably lucid style that invites the reader to understand not only the subject at hand but also the connections among seemingly unrelated areas of mathematics Even today many of Griffiths papers are used as a standard source on a subject Another important feature of Griffiths writings is that they often bring together classical and modern mathematics The four parts of Selected Works Analytic Geometry Algebraic Geometry Variations of Hodge Structures and Differential Systems are organized according to the subject matter and are supplemented by Griffiths brief but extremely illuminating personal reflections on the mathematical content and the times in which they were produced Griffiths Selected Works provide the reader with a panoramic view of important and exciting mathematics during the second half of the 20th century The
