Self Verifying Chronological History:

A Self-verifying Chronological History of Ancient Egypt Orlando P. Schmidt, 1899 Knowledge of Self Supreme Understanding, Sunez Allah, C'BS Alife Allah, 2009-07-30 Do you know who and what you are Do you know who you re meant to be Do you know how to find the answers to questions like these Knowledge of Self is the result of a process of self discovery but few of us know where to begin when we re ready to start looking deeper Although self actualization is the highest of all human needs it is said that only 5% of people ever attain this goal In the culture of the Nation of Gods and Earths commonly known as the Five Percent students are instructed that they must first learn themselves then their worlds and then what they must do in order to transform their world for the better This often intense process has produced thousands of revolutionary thinkers in otherwise desperate environments where poverty and hopelessness dominate Until now few mainstream publications have captured the brilliant yet practical perspectives of these luminary men and women Knowledge of Self A Collection of Writings on the Science of Everything in Life presents the thoughts of Five Percenters both young and old male and female from all over the globe in their own words Through essays poems and even how to articles this anthology presents readers with an accurate portrait of what the Five Percent study and teach as well as sound direction on how to answer timeless questions like Who am I and why am I here Why is there so much injustice in the world and what can be done about it Who is God and where on Earth is he How do I improve myself without losing myself Why are people of color in the situations they re in What can we do about the global problems of racism and poverty The Word Harold W. Percival, 1917 Biblia Charles Henry Stanley Davis, 1902 The Word , 1915 The Westminster Review , 1900 The Historians' History of the World in Twenty-Five Volumes Various Authors, 2020-09-28 Broadly speaking the historians of all recorded ages seem to have had the same general aims They appear always to seek either to glorify something or somebody or to entertain and instruct their readers The observed variety in historical compositions arises not from difference in general motive but from varying interpretations of the relative status of these objects and from differing judgments as to the manner of thing likely to produce these ends combined of course with varying skill in literary composition and varying degrees of freedom of action As to freedom of selective judgment the earliest historians whose records are known to us exercised practically none at all Their task was to glorify the particular monarch who commanded them to write The records of a Ramses a Sennacherib or a Darius tell only of the successful campaigns in which the opponent is so much as mentioned only in contrast with the prowess of the victor With these earliest historians therefore the ends of historical composition were met in the simplest way by reciting the deeds real or alleged of a king as Ramses Sennacherib or David or of the gods as Osiris or Ishtar or Yahveh As to entertainment and instruction the reader was expected to be overawed by the recital of mighty deeds and to draw the conclusion that it would be well for him to do homage to the glorified monarch human or divine A little later in what may be termed the classical period the historians had attained to a somewhat freer position and wider vision and they sought to glorify heroes who were neither gods nor kings but the representatives of the people in a more popular sense Thus the Iliad dwells upon the achievements of Achilles and Ajax and Hector rather than upon the deeds of Menelaus and Priam the opposing kings Hitherto the deeds of all these heroes would simply have been transferred to the credit of the king Now the individual of lesser rank is to have a hearing Moreover the state itself is now considered apart from its particular ruler The histories of Herodotus of Xenophon of Thucydides of Polybius in effect make for the glorification not of individuals but of peoples This shift from the purely egoistic to the altruistic standpoint marks a long step The writer now has much more clearly in view the idea of entertaining without frightening his reader and he thinks to instruct in matters pertaining to good citizenship and communal morality rather than in deference to kings and gods In so doing the historian marks the progress of civilisation of the Greek and early Roman periods In the medi val time there is a strong reaction To frighten becomes again a method of attacking the consciousness to glorify the gods and heroes a chief aim As was the case in the Egyptian and Persian and Indian periods of degeneration the early monotheism has given way to polytheism Hagiology largely takes the place of secular history A constantly growing company of saints demands attention and veneration To glorify these to show the futility of all human action that does not make for such glorification became again an aim of the historian But this influence is by no means altogether dominant and though there is no such list of historians worthy to be remembered as existed in the classical period yet such names appear as those of Einhard the biographer of Charlemagne De Joinville the panegyrist of Saint Louis Villani Froissart and Monstrelet the chroniclers and Comines Machiavelli and Guicciardini
