Self In The Family A Classification Of Personality Criminality And Psychopathology:

The Self in the Family Luciano L'Abate, 1997-01-07 In his acclaimed book A Theory of Personality Development Luciano L'Abate introduced a revolutionary theory of personality development and functioning that departed radically from traditional theories. In place of hypothetical traits existing in an empirical vacuum, Dr. L'Abate offered an image of observable interpersonal competencies functioning within the basic contexts of home, work, leisure, and the marketplace. Central to his theory was a developmental model that posited the family as the primordial setting in which propensities are formed and behavior patterns set. By defining personality in terms of the growth and interplay of interpersonal competencies, the L'Abate theory provided an epistemologically and empirically sound basis for understanding personality function and dysfunction as corollaries and extensions of one another. In The Self in the Family, Luciano L'Abate and Margaret Baggett again break new ground by expanding the L'Abate theory of personality development to encompass criminal and psychopathological behavior. Drawing upon mounting empirical evidence that the family paradigm is the major determinant of personality socialization throughout the life span, the authors develop a selfhood model with demonstrable links between the three domains of personality function, criminality, and psychopathology. With the help of the model, they show how it is now possible to arrive at a personality-based interpretation of most deviant behaviors, including criminality, psychopathology, addictions, and even psychosomatic illnesses, and they describe various preventive and psychotherapeutic applications for this expanded theory of family-based personality development. The authors further elaborate on the theories developed in Dr. L'Abate's previous books by introducing the core concepts of hurt, the basic feeling underlying much of personality functioning and dysfunctioning, and a continuum of likeness, the fundamental determinant of interpersonal choices and behavior in friendships, parent-child relations, and marital relations. Offering an empirically rigorous, developmentally based unified field theory of personality function, criminality, and psychopathology, The Self in the Family is essential reading for developmental and clinical psychologists, family therapists, personality theorists, and criminality and psychopathology researchers.

that non normative events such as violence and abuse addiction long term and chronic illness divorce adoption trauma and many others can have on family function and provides proven intervention strategies and techniques for treating these families With the special attention given to the structure dynamics and unique problems of families that do not fit the traditional mold such as binuclear single parent and gay and lesbian families Treating the Changing Family is a valuable resource for all mental health professionals and families 1995 0 471 07905 7 374 pp Also in the Series HANDBOOK OF RELATIONAL DIAGNOSIS AND DYSFUNCTIONAL FAMILY PATTERNS Florence W Kaslow Editor 1996 0 471 08078 0 592 pp

The Family Systems Test (FAST) Thomas M. Gehring, Marianne Debry, Peter K. Smith, 2013-02-01 The Family System Test FAST developed by Thomas M Gehring is an important new tool for investigating family relations Based on the structural systemic theory of families it is a figural technique for representing emotional bonds cohesion and hierarchical structures in the family or similar social systems In this unique volume the editors draw on current theory and research in family or similar social systems together with a variety of empirical studies that have used the FAST to provide a comprehensive overview and assessment of the test and its use in various clinical research contexts The book is divided into four sections each focusing on a different aspect of the FAST Part 1 describes the concepts and psychometric properties of the FAST within the context of theoretically and empirically relevant aspects of the field of family psychology as a whole Special emphasis is given to systematic structural approaches to assessing individual and family functioning Part II focuses on the use of the FAST in developmental research For example the the FAST has been used to show how family constructs are influenced by age type of family and situation Part III deals with cross cultural issues and compares the interpersonal constructs of Japanese and Chinese families to Western families Finally Part IV addresses the applications of the FAST in clinical setting in diagnosis of biopsychosocial problems and planning and evaluation of clinical interventions The result is a book that helps to bridge the gap between theory practice and research It will be essential reading for users of the FAST and all clinicians and researchers who work in family relations and development

Families as Complex Systems Ana Teixeira de Melo, 2025-06-30 This book presents an innovative framework for conceptualising families as complex systems and for understanding and supporting positive change adaptation and resilience The development of this framework was based on a qualitative and abductive research process targeting change and resilience processes in multi challenged families The theoretical novelty of this book is mostly expressed in the notion of Love Force a relational force emerging from the coupling processes between individuals with potential transformative effects on them their interactions and environments This book introduces a new vocabulary for understanding the complexity of families as complex systems and their change and resilience processes Love Force is presented as a supreme expression of the complexity of families and human bonds It elaborates on the complexity of the family bonds on the relation of Love Force to change and resilience and its contributions to the conceptualisation of the Potential for Family Change Raising important theoretical and methodological challenges and questions it presents a guide for future interdisciplinary research in the domains of complexity and family sciences and advances in practice As such it will be of interest to anyone interested in the complexity of human relations and to complexity scientists as much as family theorists researchers and practitioners Handbook of Research on Technoself: Identity in a Technological Society Luppigini, Rocci,2012-10-31 This book provides insights to better enhance the understanding of technology s widespread intertwinement with human identity within an advancing technological society Provided by publisher Assessment of Couples and Families Len Sperry,Professor of Mental Health Counseling Len Sperry, M.D., PH.D.,2004-09 Assessment of Couples and Families considers the impact of recent changes on the assessment process and provide practitioners with a review of contemporary techniques and the means by which they can be implemented into practice in conjunction with new reporting inventories and observational methods These new assessment strategies will be presented collaterally with case material that addresses a specific problem such as family violence or marital suitability This unique problem focus will provide practitioners with a handy point of reference to acquaint themselves with modern practice techniques that address issues new to the therapy session while providing a supplement to coursework on assessment

Beyond the Systems Paradigm Luciano L'Abate,2013-05-30 This monograph owes its origins to the decades old proposal by David Bakan 1968 about the duality of human experience He proposed that community and agency would be two necessary and sufficient constructs to classify and to encompass most human relationships This dichotomy has been found to be valid by a variety of contributions over the last half a century L Abate 2009 L Abate Cusinato Maino Colesso Scilletta 2010 Additionally the purpose of this book is to argue and assert that two important fields of psychology family and personality psychologies if not already dead are conceptually empirically and practically moribund They are being superseded respectively by perhaps more appropriate perhaps more specific and more likely verifiable concepts and constructs such as intimacy and identity The traditional family still conceived as composed by two parents and two children of different gender is esponsible for only one fourth of all domiciles in USA Singles same sex couples and completely different family organization complete the remaining 100% Difficulties in defining what is personality require a change in perspective and advance toward a comprehensive theory of human relationships that can and should fulfill requirements necessary to achieve an undoubtedly grandiose and ambitious universal status The Therapist's Notebook, Volume 2 Lorna L. Hecker,Catherine Ford Sori,2007 The Therapist s Notebook Volume 2 More Homework Handouts and Activities for Use in Psychotherapy is the updated classic that provides mental health clinicians with hands on tools to use in daily practice This essential resource includes helpful homework assignments reproducible handouts and activities and interventions that can be applied to a wide variety of client and client problems Useful case studies illustrate how the activities can be effectively applied The book employs a consistent chapter format making finding the right activity easy Using Homework Assignments in Cognitive Behavior Therapy Nikolaos Kazantzis, Frank P. Deane, Kevin R. Ronan, Luciano L'Abate,2005-12-05 Homework is a central feature of Cognitive Behavioral Therapy CBT given its educational emphasis This new text is a comprehensive guide for administering assignments The first part of the text offers essential introductory material a comprehensive review of the theoretical and empirical support for the use of homework models for practice and systems for evaluating client compliance and therapist competence in administering assignments Part two focuses on the role of homework in cognitive therapy demonstrating successful methods of integration and discussing solutions to common barriers Rather than offering one size fits all pre designed tasks this book illustrates application of a model with detailed case study and recommendations for adjusting administration methods for particular problems and specific client populations Over the last nine chapters homework administration is described within cognitive and behavioral therapy for anxiety and depression chronic pain delusions and hallucinations obsessions and compulsions marital and sexual problems personality disorders children and adolescents group and family therapy and older adults Readers are provided with a full range of knowledge to successfully incorporate individualized homework assignments into their practice to maximize the proven long term benefits of CBT
