Jobe, Jeffrey A. Whitsett, Steven H. Abman, 2016-04-18 This book provides an authoritative review of fetal and neonatal lung development and is designed to provide diverse groups of scientists spanning the basic to clinical research spectrum with the latest developments on the cellular and molecular mechanisms of normal lung development and injury repair processes and how they are dysregulated in disease The Fibroblast Growth Factor Signaling Pathway in Metabolic Regulation, Development, Disease and Repair After Injury Zhouguang

Research Awards Index ,1989 Class I Histone Deacetylases in Lung Development and Regeneration Yi Wang,2015 The generation and development of the mammalian lung requires an elegantly regulated molecular program to control cell number lineage specification as well as morphogenetic remodeling Histone deacetylases HDACs are a group of critical epigenetic factors that can mediate genome wide transcriptional repression However the functional roles of HDACs in lung development and regeneration have not been previously characterized In my dissertation I utilized a series of mouse genetic models ex vivo and in vitro assays to determine the functions of three members of class I HDAC family HDAC1 HDAC2 and HDAC3 in lung epithelial development and regeneration These studies reveal that HDAC1 and HDAC2 are redundantly required for the development and regeneration of Sox2 proximal lung endoderm progenitors via regulation of Bmp4 and cell cycle inhibitors while HDAC3 is critical for the alveolar epithelial remodeling and spreading during lung sacculation and alveologenesis These findings demonstrate strong evidence for the crucial contributions of HDACs to lung development and regeneration and provide novel insights into potential therapeutic directions for human lung diseases
