Maastricht Model A Canadian Perspective On The European Model:

The Maastricht Model Peter M. Leslie, Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). School of Policy Studies, 1996 Leslie provides an accessible and clear description of the complex governing machinery of the European Union as created by the Maastricht Treaty of 1993 underlying dynamics of European integration and applicability of the model to Canada

The Maastricht Model Peter M. Leslie, Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, 1995

The Secession of Quebec and the Future of Canada Robert Andrew Young, 1998 Based on the premises that Quebecers vote for independence in a referendum and Canada accepts this result The Secession of Quebec and the Future of Canada is a timely examination of the implications of separation for Quebec and the rest of Canada

The EU in the Global Political Economy Finn Laursen, 2009 The EU has become an important international actor Its internal policies often have repercussions far beyond its borders It is also increasingly becoming a proactive global actor defending its interests and projecting its norms and values in both bilateral and multilateral external relations This volume has a special focus on external economic relations and includes chapters on the Euro trade policy and competition policy as well as on specific bilateral relationships The section on relations with industrialized countries deals with the United States Canada Russia Japan and China while the section on relations with developing countries has chapters on administrative reform environmental cooperation Cuba Central America and Iran The book thus gives an up to date overview of important aspects of the EU's external relations With a focus on political economy it traces the continuous interplay of economics and politics that has characterized the EU's development of a fully fledged foreign policy What emerges is a picture of a European Union that is better equipped institutionally to deal with economic rather than political issues

Struggle for Quebec Robert Andrew Young, 1999 Young political science U of Western Ontario follows his analysis of the Quebec situation in The Secession of Quebec and the Future of Canada written in mid 1994 with an update of developments since then He describes the prelude to the 1995 referendum campaign on Quebec secession and analyzes the arguments deployed by federalists and sovereignists seeking to explain why the Yes forces gained ground in 1995 and almost won He then assesses the fallout of the referendum and describes how the sovereignists and federalists are maneuvering around the prospect of another referendum He provides predictions on what would happen after a Yes vote Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Canada Patrick C. Fafard, Douglas Mitchell Brown, 1996 Part of an annual series of essays surveying the state of the Canadian federation the 1996 volume of Canada The State of the Federation explores major developments and new trends in Canadian federalism and intergovernmental relations in 1996

European Integration after Amsterdam Karlheinz Neunreither, Antje Wiener, 2000-03-16 European integration is at a turning point with implications for all member states and their citizens The Amsterdam treaty marks a shift towards constitutional issues Integration has involved a continually evolving process of constitution making A group of leading scholars argue that the shift towards constitutional issues is rooted not only in the issues on the European level but also in shifting models of political and economic organisation in the member states Paradoxically however this push towards integration is accompanied by a number of institutional changes and political decisions which challenge the picture of on going integration and indicate a shift towards a new pluralism in the Euro polity The contributors address questions such as what are the likely effects of the Amsterdam treaty changes in comparison with Maastricht how will these changes effect the complex balance among the governing institutions of the EU and what will be the implications for the lingering quest for democracy

Market Rules Douglas Brown,2003 Federalism is about dividing and sharing government often in complex ways that involve some tasks being done jointly Are federal systems capable of effective joint policy making Is this possible in the fast moving context of globalization In Market Rules Douglas Brown examines these questions through a comparative study of Australia and Canada looking at recent major reforms to the economic union in the two federations and comparing them with the evolving European Union EU Brown argues that internal barriers to trade and competition in these countries were significant obstacles to competition in the global economy and shows that the old market rules were rooted in longstanding political and regional compromises He describes the process of detailed and difficult intergovernmental collaboration required for the EU and now Canada and Australia to produce new market rules The resulting reforms created new regimes that provide deeper and broader national economic integration in Canada and Australia than in the EU The new rules entrench neo liberal values retaining some room for diversity and flexibility for equity goals Built on a careful analysis of the differences and similarities in political economy constitutional design federal culture and history of intergovernmental relations in Canada and Australia Market Rules provides fresh evidence that federal states can be strong and autonomous in the global society while underscoring the conditions for effective collaboration that make this sustainable Rich in detail broad in scope Market Rules makes a significant contribution to knowledge about federalism and economic policy making in the era of globalization

Globalization, Governance and Identity Guy Lachapelle,John E. Trent,2000 The International Political Science Association IPSA attempted to seek theoretical explanations for the established and emerging forms of political and economic partnerships This is the result of these efforts following a roundtable organized by IPSA in Quebec City in 1998
