Machine In The Studio Constructing The Postwar American Artist

Richard H. Brown

Machine In The Studio Constructing The Postwar American Artist:

Machine in the Studio Caroline A. Jones, 1996 Drawing on extensive interviews with artists and their assistants as well as close readings of artworks Jones explains that much of the major work of the 1960s was compelling precisely because it was mainstream central to the visual and economic culture of its time

Machine Art, 1934 Jennifer Jane Marshall, 2019-01-23 In 1934 New York's Museum of Modern Art staged a major exhibition of ball bearings airplane propellers pots and pans cocktail tumblers petri dishes protractors and other machine parts and products The exhibition titled Machine Art explored these ordinary objects as works of modern art teaching museumgoers about the nature of beauty and value in the era of mass production Telling the story of this extraordinarily popular but controversial show Jennifer Jane Marshall examines its history and the relationship between the museum's director Alfred H Barr Jr and its curator Philip Johnson who oversaw it She situates the show within the tumultuous climate of the interwar period and the Great Depression considering how these unadorned objects served as a response to timely debates over photography abstract art the end of the American gold standard and John Dewey's insight that how a person experiences things depends on the context in which they are encountered An engaging investigation of interwar American modernism Machine Art 1934 reveals how even simple things can serve as a defense against uncertainty

Engineers for Change Matthew Wisnioski, 2012-10-19 An account of conflicts within engineering in the 1960s that helped shape our dominant contemporary understanding of technological change as the driver of history In the late 1960s an eclectic group of engineers joined the antiwar and civil rights activists of the time in agitating for change The engineers were fighting to remake their profession challenging their fellow engineers to embrace a more humane vision of technology In Engineers for Change Matthew Wisnioski offers an account of this conflict within engineering linking it to deep seated assumptions about technology and American life The postwar period in America saw a near utopian belief in technology's beneficence Beginning in the mid 1960s however society influenced by the antitechnology writings of such thinkers as Jacques Ellul and Lewis Mumford began to view technology in a more negative light Engineers themselves were seen as conformist organization men propping up the military industrial complex A dissident minority of engineers offered critiques of their profession that appropriated concepts from technology's critics These dissidents were criticized in turn by conservatives who regarded them as countercultural Luddites And yet as Wisnioski shows the radical minority spurred the professional elite to promote a new understanding of technology as a rapidly accelerating force that our institutions are ill equipped to handle The negative consequences of technology spring from its very nature and not from engineering's failures Sociotechnologists were recruited to help society adjust to its technology Wisnioski argues that in responding to the challenges posed by critics within their profession engineers in the 1960s helped shape our dominant contemporary understanding of technological change as the driver of history

Live Form Jenni Sorkin, 2016-07-26 Sorkin focuses on three Americans who promoted ceramics as an advanced artistic medium Marguerite

Wildenhain a Bauhaus trained potter and writer Mary Caroline M C Richards who renounced formalism at Black Mountain College to pursue new performative methods and Susan Peterson best known for her live throwing demonstrations on public television Together these women pioneered a hands on teaching style and led educational and therapeutic activities for war veterans students the elderly and many others Steina Natalie Bell,2025-03-11 The first comprehensive monograph in over a decade celebrating the work of pioneering video artist Steina who is known for pushing perspective beyond the human centered realm Accompanying the related exhibition at MIT List Visual Arts Center and Buffalo AKG Art Museum Steina brings renewed recognition to Steina b 1940 Iceland tracing her oeuvre from early collaborative works with her partner Woody Vasulka to her independent explorations of optics and a liberated non anthropocentric subjectivity It follows her practice from downtown New York to Buffalo to the vast landscapes of New Mexico and Iceland which appear in her immersive video environments of the 1990s and 2000s Venturing into nature and combining imaging technologies with reflective orbs Steina reorientated the human body s relationship to nature and expanded how we access the natural world through media Scholars including Gloria Sutton Joey Heinen and Ina Blom consider how Steina s generative sense of play gave way to methods of processing and computation contextualize Steina alongside a group of her peers who shared an obsession with the electronic signal and argue for her interest in video as a proto virtual space Steina has never felt more relevant Steina born Steinunn Briem Bjarnadottir studied violin and music theory in Reykjavik before attending the State Music Conservatory in Prague Czechoslovakia In 1965 she emigrated to New York City By the late 1960s she began to focus entirely on video work and in 1971 cofounded The Electronic Kitchen later The Kitchen an experimental electronic media space Her work has been shown at the Centre Georges Pompidou Paris the Whitney Museum of American Art New York and many other places A copublication with the MIT List Visual Arts Center and Buffalo AKG Art Museum Site Reading David J. Alworth,2018-11-20 Site Reading offers a new method of literary and cultural interpretation and a new theory of narrative setting by examining five sites supermarkets dumps roads ruins and asylums that have been crucial to American literature and visual art since the mid twentieth century Against the traditional understanding of setting as a static background for narrative action and character development David Alworth argues that sites figure in novels as social agents Engaging a wide range of social and cultural theorists especially Bruno Latour and Erving Goffman Site Reading examines how the literary figuration of real material environments reorients our sense of social relations To read the sites of fiction Alworth demonstrates is to reveal literature as a profound sociological resource one that simultaneously models and theorizes collective life Each chapter identifies a particular site as a point of contact for writers and artists the supermarket for Don DeLillo and Andy Warhol the dump for William Burroughs and Mierle Laderman Ukeles the road for Jack Kerouac Joan Didion and John Chamberlain the ruin for Thomas Pynchon and Robert Smithson and the asylum for Ralph Ellison Gordon Parks and Jeff Wall and shows how this site mediates complex interactions among humans and nonhumans The result is an interdisciplinary study of American culture that brings together literature visual art and social theory to develop a new sociology of literature that emphasizes the sociology in literature The Contingent Object of Contemporary Art Martha Buskirk,2005-02-18 An exploration of transformations in the nature of the art object and artistic authorship in the last four decades In this book Martha Buskirk addresses the interesting fact that since the early 1960s almost anything can and has been called art Among other practices contemporary artists have employed mass produced elements impermanent materials and appropriated imagery have incorporated performance and video and have created works through instructions carried out by others Furthermore works of art that lack traditional signs of authenticity or permanence have been embraced by institutions long devoted to the original and the permanent Buskirk begins with questions of authorship raised by minimalists use of industrial materials and methods including competing claims of ownership and artistic authorship evident in conflicts over the right to fabricate artists works Examining recent examples of appropriation she finds precedents in pop art and the early twentieth century readymade and explores the intersection of contemporary artistic copying and the system of copyrights trademarks and brand names characteristic of other forms of commodity production She also investigates the ways that connections between work and context have transformed art and institutional conventions the impact of new materials on definitions of medium the role of the document as both primary and secondary object and the significance of conceptually oriented performance work for the intersection of photography and the human body in contemporary art Buskirk explores how artists active in the 1980s and 1990s have recombined strategies of the art of the 1960s and 1970s She also shows how the mechanisms through which art is presented shape not only readings of the work but the work itself She uses her discussion of the readymade and conceptual art to explore broader issues of authorship reproduction context and temporality Horizontal together Paisid Aramphongphan,2021-05-11 Horizontal together tells the story of 1960s art and queer culture in New York through the overlapping circles of Andy Warhol underground filmmaker Jack Smith and experimental dance star Fred Herko Taking a pioneering approach to this intersecting cultural milieu the book uses a unique methodology that draws on queer theory dance studies and the analysis of movement deportment and gesture to look anew at familiar artists and artworks but also to bring to light queer artistic figures key cultural contributions to the 1960s New York art world Illustrated with rarely published images and written in clear and fluid prose Horizontal together will appeal to specialists and general readers interested in the study of modern and contemporary art dance and queer history Through the Looking Glass Richard H. Brown,2019 Through the Looking Glass examines John Cage s interactions and collaborations with avant garde and experimental filmmakers and in turn seeks out the implications of the audiovisual experience for the overall aesthetic surrounding Cage s career As the commercially dominant media form in the twentieth century cinema transformed the way listeners were introduced to and consumed music Cage s quest to redefine music intentionality and expression reflect the similar transformation of music within the larger audiovisual experience of sound film This volume examines key moments in Cage's career where cinema either informed or transformed his position on the nature of sound music expression and the ontology of the musical artwork. The examples point to moments of rupture within Cage's own consideration of the musical artwork pointing to newfound collision points that have a significant and heretofore unacknowledged role in Cage's notions of the audiovisual experience and the medium-specific ontology of a work of art.
