acutely threatened by climate change In the summer of 1975 the composer John Luther Adams then a twenty two year old graduate of CalArts boarded a flight to Alaska So began a journey into the mountains forests and tundra of the far north and across distinctive mental and aural terrain that would last for the next forty years Silences So Deep is Adams s account of these formative decades and of what it s like to live alone in the frozen woods composing music by day and spending one s evenings with a raucous crew of poets philosophers and fishermen From adolescent loves Edgard Var se and Frank Zappa to mature preoccupations with the natural world that inform such works as The Wind in High Places Adams details the influences that have allowed him to emerge as one of the most celebrated and recognizable composers of our time Silences So Deep is also a memoir of solitude enriched by friendships with the likes of the conductor Gordon Wright and the poet John Haines both of whom had a singular impact on Adams s life Whether describing the travails of environmental activism in the midst of an oil boom or midwinter conversations in a communal sauna Adams writes with a voice both playful and meditative one that evokes the particular beauty of the Alaskan landscape and the people who call it home Ultimately this book is also the story of Adams s difficult decision to leave a rapidly warming Alaska and to strike out for new topographies and sources of inspiration In its attentiveness to the challenges of life in the wilderness to the demands of making art in an age of climate crisis and to the pleasures of intellectual fellowship Silences So Deep is a singularly rich account of a creative life Mānoa

,1994 Ancient Salt Andrew Frisardi,2022-07-12 Andrew Frisardi s essays in Ancient Salt are about several modern and contemporary poets British American and Italian Frisardi offers close readings of these poets and considers their work in light of the challenges of living and writing amid the extraordinary transformations of the modern era Some of the poets are religious some are agnostic or perhaps atheist but all of them articulate a human poetic response to modernity its pluralism mobility scientific discoveries innovations and unprecedented global awareness as well as its rootlessness fragmentation dehumanizing mechanization materialism environmental catastrophes and even systematic genocide The subjects of the essays are Scottish poet Edwin Muir 1887 1959 Italian modernist Giuseppe Ungaretti 1888 1970 Irish poet W B Yeats 1865 1939 Welsh poet Vernon Watkins 1906 1968 English poet and Blake scholar Kathleen Raine 1908 2003 English poet editor Peter Russell 1921 2003 American poet and Alaskan homesteader John Haines 1924 2011 English poet Richard Berengarten formerly Burns 1943 and American poet critic David Mason 1954 Frisardi s accessible style and extensive knowledge of the thought and learning of these poets as well as of the craft of poetry makes these essays substantial nourishment for poetry lovers and students Western American Literature ,1990 The World in Which We Occur Neil W. Browne,2007-10-31

Understanding our environment American philosopher John Dewey considered all human endeavors to be continuous with the natural world In his writings particularly Art as Experience 1934 Dewey insists on the primacy of the environment in aesthetic experience Dewey s conception of environment includes both the natural and the man made Neil Browne highlights this notion in order to define what he terms pragmatist ecology a practice rooted in the interface of the cultural and the natural which he finds to be a significant feature of some of the most important ecological writing of the last century To fully understand human involvement in the natural world Browne argues disciplinary boundaries must be opened up This is primarily important between the arts and science with profound implications for the practice of democracy The degradation of the physical environment and democratic decay for Browne are rooted in the same problem our persistent belief that humans are somehow separate from their physical environment Browne probes the work of a number of major American writers through the lens of Dewey's philosophy Among other texts he examines John Muir's My First Summer in the Sierra 1911 Sea of Cortez 1941 by John Steinbeck and Edward Ricketts Rachel Carson's three books about the sea Under the Sea Wind 1941 The Sea Around Us 1951 and The Edge of the Sea 1955 John Haines's The Stars the Snow the Fire 1989 Tarry Lopez's Arctic Dreams 1986 and Terry Tempest Williams's Refuge 1991 Together these texts with their combinations of scientific observation and personal meditation challenge the dichotomies to which we've become accustomed and affirm the values of a pragmatist ecology one in which ecological and democratic values go hand in hand
