Mountie Makers Putting The Canadian In Rcmp:

Mountie Makers Robert Gordon Teather, 2011-02-01 Bob Teather entered RCMP Basic Recruit Training three decades ago with no idea of what he was getting into Along with 31 other confused young men he found himself in Regina Saskatchewan as a lowly member of Troop 18 Bald intimidated and soon to be bruised Bob began a six month ordeal that he candidly recalls in this engaging book Corporal Teather's story brings you close to six recruits from across the country Prairie Dog Andr Lumchuck Francois weird Harold Burl and Teather himself a scrawny kid from Hamilton who often learned the hard way that if it hurts you just tape an aspirin to it Their experiences capture the essence of Canada and provide revealing aspects of the traditional RCMP training process Near the end of his active career Bob came to realize that it was Basic Training that put the Canadian in his RCMP and that bonds its members into a force capable of policing this complex country

BC Provincial Police Stories: Volume Two Cecil Clark, 1986-05 West Kootenay's tragic The Miner Who Died Eight Times Murder on Okanagan Lake Death Rode a Pinto Pony The Cremation of Siboo Singh Kitwancool Drums Throbbled a War Dance The Parking Ticket that Killed Three Men and Hangman's Tree at Lillooet Honoured in Places William Joseph Hulgaard, John Wesley White, 2002 Ever since the Canadian prairies were first settled and the Mounties marched west to establish and maintain law and order the names of individual officers have left their mark on the national landscape Their long tradition has been honoured in many of the place names of Canada especially in the West In this collection over 250 of the NWMP RNWMP and RCMP members who died while on duty or who enjoyed long or extraordinary careers are remembered Other place names are connected to a Mountie related event or were named by a pioneering Mountie in honour of some significant occurrence Authors William Bill Hulgaard and John Jack White both retired Mounties extended their research across Canada to compile the information for Honoured in Places

Riding to the Rescue Steve Hewitt, 2006-12-15 The Mountie may be one of Canada's best known national symbols yet much of the post nineteenth century history of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police remains unexamined particularly the period between 1914 and 1939 when the RCMP underwent enormous transformation The nature of this transformation as it took place in Alberta and Saskatchewan where the Mounties have traditionally dominated policing is the focus of Steve Hewitt's Riding to the Rescue During the 1914 to 1939 period the nineteenth century model of the RCMP was evolving into a twentieth century version and the institution that emerged responded to a nation that was being transformed as well Forces such as industrialization mass immigration urbanization and political radicalism compelled the Mounties to look away from the frontier and toward a new era Incorporating previously classified material which explores the RCMP both in the context of its ordinary policing role and in its work as Canada's domestic spy agency Hewitt demonstrates how much of the impetus behind the RCMP's transformation was ensuring its own survival and continued relevance Riding to the Rescue is a provocative and incisive look behind one of Canada's most enduring icons at the cusp of the modern era

George Garrett is one of the most remarkable reporters of news that I have ever known. He has always had the ability to smell a good story and to report on it honestly and accurately. Jim Pattison, Canadian business magnate, starting from humble beginnings as a farm boy in Saskatchewan, George Garrett rose through the ranks of journalism and came to be known as the reporter who, as radio personality Rafe Mair recalled, seemed to know details almost as soon as the police did on such infamous stories as the Clifford Olson murders. He was willing to take risks to get to the real story, which resulted in his being assaulted in the Rodney King riots in Los Angeles among many other scrapes. In this memoir, Garrett shares the behind-the-scenes tales of his harrowing, humorous, and occasionally humiliating investigative tactics: from posing as an accident victim to uncover the questionable practices of an insurance claim lawyer to acting as a tow truck driver to expose a forgery scheme and baring it all for the sake of an interview with a local nudist colony. Garrett also delves into the personal details of his life, sharing the hardships and resilience that marks him as an empathetic storyteller. He reveals the heartbreaking loss of his son in a canoeing accident and his wife Joan's devastating diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease, which inspired him to dedicate his time to supporting the Alzheimer Society. Through it all, George Garrett never lost the insatiable curiosity that, according to Rafe Mair, made him the standard by which good reporting is judged. The Death of Albert Johnson F. W. Anderson, Art Downs, 1986-05. Annotation: It took a posse of trappers, soldiers, natives, and the RCMP six weeks and four shootouts to nab Albert Johnson, subject of one of the greatest manhunts of all time. Mountie Makers Putting the Canadian in RCMP., 2011. Bob Teather entered RCMP Basic Recruit Training three decades ago with no idea of what he was getting into. Along with 31 other confused young men, he found himself in Regina, Saskatchewan, as a lowly member of Troop 18. Bald, intimidated, and soon to be bruised, Bob began a six-month ordeal that he candidly recalls in this engaging book. Corporal Teather's story brings you close to six recruits from across the country: Prairie Dog, Andr Lumchuck, Francois, weird Harold, Burl, and Teather himself, a scrawny kid from Hamilton who often learned the hard way that if it hurts you, just tape an aspirin to it. Their experiences capture the essence of Canada and provide revealing aspects of the traditional RCMP training process. Near the end of his active career, Bob came to realize that it was Basic Training that put the Canadian in his RCMP and that bonds its members into a force capable of policing this complex country. 2009 Writer's Market Robert Brewer, 2008-06-01. Hazing of Russian Army Conscripts in a Comparative Perspective* Françoise Daucé, Elisabeth Sieca-Kozłowski, 2012-02-13. In contemporary armies, violence among soldiers seems to be a universal phenomenon found in both professional and drafted armies However the comparison of violent practices in various armies around the world allows us to identify specific features linked to those countries sociological political or anthropological contexts Hazing for example seems to be more violent in the armies of transitional societies Russia Eastern Europe Latin America where social tensions encountered by citizens in their daily lives are carried over to and sometimes intensified in the military The comparison of Russian dedovshchina with the situation in other countries makes it possible to identify universal transitional and national characteristics of military violence

Globalisation, Criminal Law and Criminal Justice Valsamis Mitsilegas,Peter Alldridge,Leonidas Cheliotis,2015-01-22 The book consists of the keynote papers delivered at the 2012 WG Hart Workshop on Globalisation Criminal Law and Criminal Justice organised by the Queen Mary Criminal Justice Centre The volume addresses from a cross disciplinary perspective the multifarious relationship between globalisation on the one hand and criminal law and justice on the other hand At a time when economic political and cultural systems across different jurisdictions are increasingly becoming or are perceived to be parts of a coherent global whole it appears that the study of crime and criminal justice policies and practices can no longer be restricted within the boundaries of individual nation states or even particular transnational regions But in which specific fields to what extent and in what ways does globalisation influence crime and criminal justice in disparate jurisdictions Which are the factors that facilitate or prevent such influence at a domestic and or regional level And how does or should scholarly inquiry explore these themes These are all key questions which are addressed by the contributors to the volume In addition to contributions focusing on theoretical and comparative dimensions of globalisation in criminal law and justice the volume includes sections focusing on the role of evidence in the development of criminal justice policy the development of European criminal law and its relationship with national and transnational legal orders and the influence of globalisation on the interplay between criminal and administrative law Quill & Quire ,2004 The Mountie Michael Dawson,1998-04-01 Historian Michael Dawson digs deep into the written and pictorial record to reveal how the RCMP since its inception has constructed and zealously guarded its public image Drawing on previously untapped sources Dawson documents how consultants and entrepreneurs deliberately transformed and modernized the traditional symbolism of the Mountie His trenchant analysis extends to the ironies of the recent licensing of the hallowed Mountie image to the ultimate dream merchants Disney The Rotarian ,1974-01 Established in 1911 The Rotarian is the official magazine of Rotary International and is circulated worldwide Each issue contains feature articles columns and departments about or of interest to Rotarians Seventeen Nobel Prize winners and 19 Pulitzer Prize winners from Mahatma Ghandi to Kurt Vonnegut Jr have written for the magazine TV Creators James L.
