Spitz, 2003 Examines how the chemical industry has been transformed over the past 20 years Rape Loot Pillage Sara Meger, 2016 Rape Loot Pillage offers a new framework for understanding conflict related sexual violence based on feminist international political economy By looking at patterns of contemporary conflict this book proposes a new typology of wartime sexual violence that ties the value of this violence to the politico economic objectives of the perpetrators in different conflict contexts Communitarian International Relations Emanuel Adler, 2004-11-10 In Emanuel Adler's distinctive constructivist approach to international relations theory international practices evolve in tandem with collective knowledge of the material and social worlds This book comprising a fresh selection of his journal publications a substantial new introduction three previously unpublished articles points IR constructivism in a novel direction characterized as communitarian Adler's synthesis does not herald the end of the nation state nor does it suggest that agency is unimportant in international life Rather it argues that what mediates between individual and state agency and social structures are communities of practice which are the wellspring and repositories of collective meanings and social practices The concept of communities of practice casts new light on epistemic communities and security communities helping to explain why certain ideas congeal into human practices and others do not and which social mechanisms can facilitate the emergence of normatively better communities Diasporic Activism in the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict Svenja Gertheiss, 2015-12-14 With their homelands at war can Diasporas lead the way to peace or do they present an obstacle to conflict resolution nurturing hate far away from those who actually fall victim to violence And which of these roles do the Jewish and Palestinian diaspora communities play in the Israeli Palestinian conflict Particularly since the Oslo peace process the search for a solution to the Israeli Palestinian conflict has been strongly contested among Jewish and Arab Palestinian Organizations in the United States Through an analysis of the activities of Arab Palestinian and Jewish organizations on behalf of and towards their conflict ridden homelands Diasporic Activism in the Israeli Palestinian Conflict provides both a detailed picture of diasporic activism in the Middle East as well as advancing theory building on the roles of diasporas in helping or hindering peace Drawing on research into transnational social movements diaspora studies and constructivist International Relations theory this book retraces how this process of diversification occurred and explains why neither the Jewish nor the Arab Diaspora community hold a unified position in the Israeli Palestinian conflict but are each comprised of both hawks and doves Combining theoretical depth and practical orientation this book is a key resource for those working in the fields of Middle Eastern studies Peace and Conflict Studies and Diapora Studies as well as specialists on the ground in Israel Palestine and other conflict settings in which Diaspora communities play a prominent role Communications & Strategies ,2000 Transnational Southeast Asia Hannah Ming Yit Ho,Ying-kit Chan,2025-04-19 This open access book presents Southeast Asia as an interesting and conceptually meaningful site to interrogate the transnational paradigm In featuring research from and across different nations in Southeast Asia it asks in what ways Southeast Asia lends itself to nuanced applications of transnationalism and what the wider cultural and collective implications of that might be Instead of viewing the past and the present as oppositional concepts of time a temporal continuum is applied to a time space compression that is fundamental to the workings of the transnational paradigm in the region that we call Southeast Asia The transnational paradigm a conceptual tool encompassing various configurations of transnationalism across disciplines becomes relevant for analysing global cultural flows but not without due consideration of the nuances shaped by spatio temporal trends A paradigm shift in transnationalism from historical connections to contemporary connectivity is afforded by increased mobility and accelerated cultural flows which have given rise to unprecedented economic productivity in the past century and digital connectivity in the new millennium a shift that the chapters collectively explore Relevant to advanced students and scholars across disciplines in the humanities and social sciences focused on Southeast Asia this book is a timely exploration that unpicks and unpacks this long discussed aspect within Asian area studies Migrant Men Mike Donaldson,Raymond Hibbins,Richard Howson,Bob Pease,2009-09-11 This edited volume contributes an important collection of chapters to the growing theoretical and empirical work being undertaken at the international level on men and migration The chapters presented here focus on what we might call migratory masculinities the experiences men have of masculinity upon immigration into another national ethnic and cultural context How do these men re construct their conceptions of masculinity Where are the points of tension ambivalence or assimilation in this process Featuring interviews and data drawn from migrants working and living in Australia this book explores how the gender identity of men from non English speaking backgrounds is influenced by the experiences of migration and settlement in an English speaking culture across various cultural spheres such as work leisure family life and religion Routledge International Handbook of Migration Studies Steven J. Gold, Stephanie J. Nawyn, 2019-05-08 This revised and expanded second edition of Routledge International Handbook of Migration Studies provides a comprehensive basis for understanding the complexity and patterns of international migration Despite increased efforts to limit its size and consequences migration has wide ranging impacts upon social environmental economic political and cultural life in countries of origin and settlement Such transformations impact not only those who are migrating but those who are left behind as well as those who live in the areas where migrants settle Featuring forty six essays written by leading international and multidisciplinary scholars this new edition showcases evolving research and theorizing around refugees and forced migrants new migration paths through Central Asia and the Middle East the condition of statelessness and South to South migration New chapters also address immigrant labor and entrepreneurship skilled migration ethnic succession contract labor and informal economies Uniquely among texts in the subject area the Handbook provides a six chapter compendium of methodologies for studying international migration and its impacts Written in a clear and direct style this Handbook offers a contemporary integrated resource for students and scholars from the perspectives of social science humanities journalism and other disciplines A Selective Approach to Establishing a Human Rights Mechanism in Southeast Asia Hao Duy Phan, 2012-02-03 This book proposes a selective approach for states with more advanced human rights protection to establish a human rights court for Southeast Asia It argues the inclusive approach currently employed by ASEAN to set up a human rights body covering all member states cannot produce a strong regional human rights mechanism The mosaic of Southeast Asia reveals great diversity and high complexity in political regimes human rights practice and participation by regional states in the global legal human rights framework Cooperation among ASEAN members to protect and promote human rights remains limited The time honored principle of non interference and the ASEAN Way still predominate in relations within ASEAN These factors combine to explain why the ASEAN Intergovernmental Commission on Human Rights is unlikely to be strong and effective in changing and promoting regional human rights protection This book suggests a selective approach to establish a human rights court for Southeast Asia It posits that a group of nations within Southeast Asia may be more willing to consider the possibility of a stronger human rights mechanism It investigates the challenges to and the feasibility of such a proposal Furthermore it examines the design of the three existing regional human rights courts in Europe the Americas and Africa and compares the rationales for those institutional designs with the specific context of Southeast Asia A human rights court for all ASEAN members may not be possible at this time but a court for some nations in the region is feasible and worth exploring The path towards this goal is never an easy one however the region possesses the necessary conditions to gradually translate that goal into reality Cumulated Index Medicus ,2000 Massively Parallel Globalization David C. Earnest, 2015-05-05 In this era of globalization people organize into fluid adaptive networks to solve complex problems and provide resources that nation states cannot Examples include the Grameen Bank mHealth and the Ushahidi open source software project Why do these networks succeed where nation states fail Only recently have social scientists developed tools to understand exactly how these complex networks self organize emerge adapt and solve collective problems Three of these tools agent based modeling social network analysis and evolutionary computing are converging in a field known as computational social science In this provocative book David C Earnest discusses how computational social science helps us understand massively parallel globalization Using explorations of global systems ranging from fisheries to banking Earnest illustrates the promise of computer models for explaining the surprises cascades and complexity that characterize global politics today These examples of massively parallel globalization contrast sharply with the hierarchical and inflexible governmental bureaucracies that are poorly suited to solve many of today s transnational and global challenges

The Changing Face of Home Peggy Levitt, Mary C. Waters, 2002-12-12 The children of immigrants account for the fastest growing segment of the U S population under eighteen years old one out of every five children in the United States Will this generation of immigrant children follow the path of earlier waves of immigrants and gradually assimilate into mainstream American life or does the global nature of the contemporary world mean that the trajectory of today s immigrants will be fundamentally different Rather than severing their ties to their home countries many immigrants today sustain economic political and religious ties to their homelands even as they work vote and pray in the countries that receive them The Changing Face of Home is the first book to examine the extent to which the children of immigrants engage in such transnational practices Because most second generation immigrants are still young there is much debate among immigration scholars about the extent to which these children will engage in transnational practices in the future While the contributors to this volume find some evidence of transnationalism among the children of immigrants they disagree over whether these activities will have any long term effects Part I of the volume explores how the practice and consequences of transnationalism vary among different groups Contributors Philip Kasinitz Mary Waters and John Mollenkopf use findings from their large study of immigrant communities in New York City to show how both distance and politics play important roles in determining levels of transnational activity For example many Latin American and Caribbean immigrants are circular migrants spending much time in both their home countries and the United States while Russian Jews and Chinese immigrants have far less contact of any kind with their homelands In Part II the contributors comment on these findings offering suggestions for reconceptualizing the issue and bridging analytical differences In her chapter Nancy Foner makes valuable comparisons with past waves of immigrants as a way of understanding the conditions that may foster or mitigate transnationalism among today s immigrants The final set of chapters examines how home and host country value systems shape how second generation immigrants construct their identities and the economic social and political communities to which they ultimately express allegiance The Changing Face of Home presents an important first round of research and dialogue on the activities and identities of the second generation vis a vis their ancestral homelands and raises important questions for future research Chinese Transnational Migration in the Age of Global Modernity Liangni Sally Liu, 2018-01-17 The term circulatory transnational migration best describes the unconventional migratory route of many contemporary Chinese migrants that is an unfinished set of circulatory movements that these migrants engage in between the homeland and various host countries Return migration step migration to a third destination and the astronauting strategy are all included within this circulatory migration movement wherein returning to the country of origin does not always mean to settle back to the homeland permanently while step migration also does not necessarily mean to re migrate to a third destination country for a permanent purpose Liu takes a longitudinal perspective to study Chinese migrants transnational movements and looks at their transnational migratory movements as a family matter and progressive and dynamic process using New Zealand as a primary case study She examines Chinese migrants initial motives for immigrating to New Zealand the driving forces behind their adoption of a transnational lifestyle which includes leaving New Zealand to return to China moving to a third country typically Australia or commuting across borders family related considerations inter generational dynamics in transnational migration as well as their future movement intentions Liu also discusses Chinese migrants conceptualisation of home citizenship identity and sense of belonging to provide a deeper understanding of their transnational migratory experiences Global Political Economy Theodore H.
