Rebel And Saint Muslim Notables Populist Protest Colonial Encounters Algeria And Tunisia 1800 1904:

Rebel and Saint Julia Ann Clancy-Smith,1994 A very fine book contemporary and sophisticated without being trendy R Steven Humphreys author of Islamic History A Framework for Inquiry Women, Gender, and the Palace Households in Ottoman Tunisia Amy Aisen Kallander,2013-09-01 In this first in depth study of the ruling family of Tunisia in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Kallander investigates the palace as a site of familial and political significance Through extensive archival research she elucidates the domestic economy of the palace as well as the changing relationship between the ruling family of Tunis and the government thus revealing how the private space of the palace mirrored the public political space Instead of viewing the period as merely a precursor to colonial occupation and the nation state as emphasized in precolonial or nationalist histories this narrative moves away from images of stagnation and dependency to insist upon dynamism Kallander explains She delves deep into palace dynamics comparing them to those of monarchies outside of the Ottoman Empire to find persuasive evidence of a global modernity She demonstrates how upper class Muslim women were active political players exerting their power through displays of wealth such as consumerism and philanthropy Ultimately she creates a rich view of the Husaynid dynastic culture that will surprise many and stimulate debate and further research among scholars of Ottoman Tunisia

the so called Eastern Question The Ashgate Research Companion to Modern Imperial Histories John Marriott, 2016-03-23

Written by leading scholars this collection provides a comprehensive and authoritative overview of modern empires. Spanning the era of modern imperial history from the early sixteenth century to the present, it challenges both the rather insular focuses on specific experiences and gives due attention to imperial formations outside the West, including the Russian, Japanese, Mughal, Ottoman, and Chinese. The companion is divided into three broad sections. Part I, Times, surveys the three main eras of modern imperialism. The first was that dominated by the settlement impulse, with migrants, many voluntarily and many more by force, making new lives in the colonies. This impulse gave way, most especially in the nineteenth century, to a period of busy and rapid expansion which was less likely to promote new settlement and in which colonists more frequently saw their sojourn in colonial lands as temporary and related to the business, mostly of governance and trade. Lastly, in the twentieth century, in particular, empires began to fail and to fall. Part II, Spaces, studies the principal imperial formations of the modern world. Each chapter charts the experience of a specific empire while, at the same time, placing it within the complex patterns of wider imperial constellations. The individual chapters thus survey the broad dynamics of change within the empires themselves and their relationships with other imperial formations and reflect critically on the ways in which these topics have been approached in the literature. In Part III, Themes, scholars think critically about some of the key features of imperial expansion and decline. These chapters are brief and many are provocative. They reflect the current state of the field and suggest new lines of inquiry which may follow from more comparative perspectives on empire. The broad range of themes captures the vitality and diversity of contemporary scholarship on questions of empire and colonialism, encompassing political, economic, and cultural processes central to the formation and maintenance of empires, as well as institutions, ideologies, and social categories that shaped the lives both of those implementing and those experiencing the force of empire. In these pages, the reader will find the slave and the criminal, the merchant and the maid, the scientist and the artist, alongside the structures which sustained their lives and their livelihoods. Overall, the companion emphasises the diversity of imperial experience and process. Comprehensive in its scope, it draws attention to the particularities of individual empires rather than over-generalising as if all empires at all times and in all places behaved in a similar manner. It is this contingent and historical specificity that enables us to explore, in expansive ways, precisely what constituted the modern empire.

Realizing Islam
Zachary Valentine Wright, 2021-07-01

The Tijaniyya is the largest Sufi order in West and North Africa. In this unprecedented analysis of the Tijaniyya's origins and development in the late eighteenth century, Zachary Valentine Wright situates the order within the broader intellectual history of Islam in the early modern period. Introducing the group's founder Ahmad al-Tijani (1737-1815), Wright focuses on the wider network in which al-Tijani traveled, revealing it to be a veritable global Islamic revival whose scholars commanded large followings, shared key ideas, and produced literature read widely throughout the Muslim world. They were linked through chains of knowledge transmission from which emerged vibrant discourses of renewal.

in the face of perceived social and political corruption Wright argues that this constellation of remarkable Muslim intellectuals despite the uncertainty of the age promoted personal verification in religious learning With distinctive concern for the notions of human actualization and a universal human condition the Tijaniyya emphasized the importance of the realization of Muslim identity Since its beginnings in North Africa in the eighteenth century the Tijaniyya has quietly expanded its influence beyond Africa with significant populations in the Middle East Southeast Asia and North America We are proud to offer this book in our usual print and ebook formats plus as an open access edition available through the Sustainable History Monograph Project

Making Muslim Space in North America and Europe Barbara Daly Metcalf, 2023-04-28 Focusing on the private and public use of space this volume explores the religious life of the new Muslim communities in North America and Europe Unlike most studies of immigrant groups these essays concentrate on cultural practices and expressions of everyday life rather than on the political issues that dominate today's headlines The authors emphasize the cultural strength and creativity of communities that draw upon Islamic symbols and practices to define Muslim space against the background of a non-Muslim environment The range of perspectives is broad encompassing middle class professionals mosque congregations factory workers in France and the north of England itinerant African traders and prison inmates in New York The truism that Islam is a religion of the word takes on concrete meaning as these disparate communities find ways to elaborate word centered ritual and to have the visual and aural presence of sacred words in the spaces they inhabit The volume includes 46 black and white photographs that illustrate Muslim populations in Edmonton Philadelphia the Green Haven Correction Facility Manhattan Marseilles Berlin and London among other places The focus on space directs attention to the new kinds of boundaries and consciousness that exist not only for these Muslim populations but for people from all backgrounds in today's ever more integrated world This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1997 Focusing on the private and public use of space this volume explores the religious life of the new Muslim communities in North America and Europe Unlike most studies of immigrant groups these essays concentrate on cultural practices and expressions of
