propositions in relation to baptism Juliette Day undertakes a careful comparative analysis of all the relevant sources for Palestine Egypt and Syria paying attention to the structure content and theological narrative of the rites which they describe The Mystagogical Catecheses commonly attributed to Cyril of Jerusalem are the key source in this discussion and this book demonstrates that they date from the episcopate of his successor John Christian Healing After the New Testament R. The Oxford Handbook of Sacramental Theology Hans Boersma,Matthew Levering,2015-08-06 As a multi faceted introduction to sacramental theology the purposes of this Handbook are threefold historical ecumenical and missional The forty four chapters are organized into the following parts five parts Sacramental Roots in Scripture Patristic Sacramental Theology Medieval Sacramental Theology From the Reformation through Today and Philosophical and Theological Issues in Sacramental Doctrine Contributors to this Handbook explain the diverse ways that believers have construed the sacraments both in inspired Scripture and in the history of the Church s practice In Scripture and the early Church Orthodox Protestants and Catholics all find evidence that the first Christian communities celebrated and taught about the sacraments in a manner that Orthodox Protestants and Catholics today affirm as the foundation of their own faith and practice Thus for those who want to understand what has been taught about the sacraments in Scripture and across the generations by the major thinkers of the various Christian traditions this Handbook provides an introduction As the divisions in Christian sacramental understanding and practice are certainly evident in this Handbook it is not thereby without ecumenical and missional value This book evidences that the story of the Christian sacraments is despite divisions in interpretation and practice one of tremendous hope Encyclopedia of Early Christianity Everett Ferguson, 2013-10-08 First published in 1997 What's new in the Second Edition Some 250 new entries twenty five percent more than in the first edition plus twenty five new expert contributors Bibliographies are greatly expanded and updated throughout More focus on biblical books and philosophical schools their influence on early Christianity and their use by patristic writers More information about the Jewish and pagan environment of early Christianity Greatly enlarged coverage of the eastern expansion of the faith throughout Asia including persons and literature More extensive treatment of saints monasticism worship practices and modern scholars Greater emphasis on social history and more theme articles More illustrations maps and plans Additional articles on geographical regions Expanded chronological table Also includes maps Reading the Liturgy Juliette J. Day, 2014-03-13 This is a unique contribution to discussions within churches about the provision of suitable words for liturgical worship and to debates among scholars about liturgical hermeneutics as well as offering a new methodological paradigm for liturgical studies to inspire students and researchers By combining insights from literary and linguistic studies with those from historical and contemporary liturgical studies Juliette Day investigates the nature of a text in relation to unscripted speech how authors and worshipers make use of genre narrative and other texts how the textuality of the liturgy as well as its ritual context affect the sort of language used in worship and what implicit meanings are conveyed in the way liturgical texts are printed in books Day discusses the history of liturgical texts and their function as well as liturgical genres and narratives She examines the function of language in liturgical worship and emphasizes its meaning for readers worshipers and speakers Day applies insights from literary and linguistic studies to liturgical texts in a comprehensive fashion making it accessible to a broad readership The Origins of the Canons of Hippolytus Nathan P. Chase, Maxwell E. Johnson, 2024-12-15 An analysis of the origin of the Canons of Hippolytus church orders from the fourth century Can a case still be made for Egyptian origin of the Canons of Hippolytus This is the question that noted scholars Maxwell E Johnson and Nathan P Chase focus on in response to the recent translation of and commentary on the Canons of Hippolytus by Alistair Stewart who claims a Cappadocian origin with a possibly later Egyptian redaction In The Origins of the Canons of Hippolytus the authors look at the relevant canons and argue for an Egyptian origin though not necessarily Alexandrian For students and teachers of liturgy theology and the early church this volume provides contemporary research and careful analysis on the origin and relevance of the Canons of Hippolytus supporting the claim that they remain the earliest derivative document of the Apostolic tradition The Apostolic Tradition Nathan P. Chase, Maxwell E. Johnson, 2025-04-15 Renowned liturgical scholars offer for the first time anywhere English translations and commentary of new witnesses to the Apostolic Tradition In recent years a number of new witnesses to the so called Apostolic Tradition have been discovered or freshly edited for the first time Among them is a new recently discovered Ethiopic version of the Apostolic Tradition contained in the Aksumite Collection edited by Alessandro Bausi Also the Arabic version of the Clementine Octateuch while known for some time has only recently been edited by Martin L. Straeten allowing scholars access to this important witness Each of these witnesses provides valuable insights into the origins and development of the Apostolic Tradition Based on these new witnesses as well as new secondary literature the translations and commentary provided in this book updates and challenges earlier and more recent studies with special regard to liturgical practices In addition English translations of these witnesses are provided for the first time anywhere Revisiting an earlier claim held by J. M. Hanssens SJ this study also argues that the final redaction of the text likely occurred within an Egyptian orbit Knowledge and the Coming Kingdom Jonathan Schwiebert, 2008-10-01 Schwiebert expertly examines the relationship between the Didache's meal ritual and the well known tradition of Jesus' final meal Athanasius and the Holy Spirit Kevin Douglas Hill, 2016-12-01 Athanasius was one of the first writers to argue for the Holy Spirit's divinity and the majority of his seven dozen works include at least one reference to the Holy Spirit Yet Athanasius is mainly remembered for his Christological writings and role in the so called Arian controversy Only a limited number of studies have looked at his pneumatology and these studies have usually focused on Athanasius's Letters to Serapion on the Holy Spirit ca. 359-361 leaving a gap in our understanding of Athanasius's prior pneumatology By exploring the period from Athanasius's election as bishop 328 to the completion of the third Oration against the Arians ca. 345 this book seeks to help fill this gap The first part argues that by the mid 330s Athanasius had begun to establish core pneumatological perspectives that he would maintain for the rest of his career Part two examines Athanasius's three Orations giving particular attention to Orations 1-2 Without the pneumatological perspectives that he established in the 330s and 340s Athanasius would not have been prepared for his Letters to Serapion where he took the next steps of confessing the Holy Spirit's divine nature and role in creating the world Early Christian Voices David Warren, Ann Graham Brock, David Pao, 2021-10-01 This collection of studies in honor of Francis Bovon highlights the rich diversity found within early expressions of Christianity as evidenced in ancient texts traditions symbols and motifs Old labels like apocrypha or heresy that for centuries have suppressed much of this evidence are removed previous assumptions are questioned and the old data are examined afresh along with the latest discoveries The studies fall into six areas ancient gospels acts early Christian movements ancient interpretations art and manuscripts Contributors include James Robinson Helmut Koester Harold Attridge Karen King and Jean Daniel Kaestli
