Although the motion picture industry in India is one of the oldest and largest in the world with literally thousands of productions released each year films from that country have not been as well received as those from other countries. Known for their impressive musical numbers, melodramatic plots and nationally beloved stars, Indian films have long been ignored by the West but are now at the forefront of cinema studies. With the prolific number of films available it can be difficult to know what to watch. In 100 Essential Indian Films Rohit K. Dasgupta and Sangeeta Datta identify and discuss significant works produced since the 1930s. Examining the output of different regional film industries throughout India, this volume offers a balance of box office blockbusters, critical successes and less recognized cult classics. From early films by Satyajit Ray to contemporary classics such as Salaam Bombay! and Lagaan, each entry includes comprehensive details about the film and situates the work in the context and history of the Indian canon. In addition to these notable productions, this book also examines key film directors and the work of major film stars in the industry. While many studies of Indian films focus on a single language's contributions, this encyclopedia offers a comprehensive guide to productions from across the country in various languages including Hindi, Bengali, Tamil, Malayalam, Assamese, Punjabi, Marathi, and English. 100 Essential Indian Films is an engaging volume that will appeal to both cinema scholars and those looking for an introduction to a vital component of world cinema.

On the works of Satyajit Ray b. 1921, Indian moving picture producer Revisioning History Robert A. Rosenstone, 2020-03-31. In Revisioning History, thirteen historians from around the world look at the historical film on its own terms, not as it compares to written history but as a unique way of recounting the past. How does film construct a historical world? What are the rules, codes and strategies by which it brings the past to life? What does that historical construction mean to us? In grappling with these questions, each contributor looks at an example of New History cinema. Different from Hollywood costume dramas or documentary films, these films are serious efforts to come to grips with the past; they have often grown out of nations engaged in an intense quest for historical connections, such as India, Cuba, Japan, and Germany. The volume begins with an introduction by Robert Rosenstone. Part I, Contesting History, comprises essays by Geoff Eley on the film Distant Voices, Still Lives, Nicholas B. Dirks, The Home and the World, Thomas Kierstead and Deidre Lynch, Eijanaika and Pierre Sorlin, Night of the Shooting Stars. Contributing to Part II, Visioning History, are Michael S. Roth, Hiroshima Mon Amour, John Mraz, Memories of Underdevelopment, Min Soo Kang, The Moderns, and Clayton R. Koppes, Radio Bikini. Part III, Revisioning History, contains essays by Denise J. Youngblood, Repentance, Rudy Koshar, Hitler: A Film from Germany, Rosenstone, Walker, Sumiko Higashi, Walker, and Mississippi, Burning, and Daniel Sipe, From the Pole to the Equator. Noon in Calcutta Krishna Dutta, Andrew Robinson, 1992 Gendered Modernity and Indian Cinema Devapriya
