Foley, Herbert Hendin, 2004-04-29 In The Case against Assisted Suicide For the Right to End of Life Care Dr Kathleen Foley and Dr Herbert Hendin uncover why pleas for patient autonomy and compassion often used in favor of legalizing euthanasia do not advance or protect the rights of terminally ill patients Incisive essays by authorities in the fields of medicine law and bioethics draw on studies done in the Netherlands Oregon and Australia by the editors and contributors that show the dangers that legalization of assisted suicide would pose to the most vulnerable patients Thoughtful and persuasive this book urges the medical profession to improve palliative care and develop a more humane response to the complex issues facing those who are terminally ill Seduced by Death Herbert Hendin, 1997-01-01 Examines the use of euthanasia and assisted suicide that have been in common practice in the Netherlands for more than twenty years and explores the ramifications of legalizing euthanasia for patients their families and medical practitioners

The Price of Compassion Michael Stiglitz, 2010-05-12 This important book includes a compelling selection of original essays on euthanasia and associated legislative and health care issues together with important background material for understanding and assessing the arguments of these essays The book explores a central strand in the debate over medically assisted death the so called slippery slope argument The focus of the book is on one particularly important aspect of the downward slope of this argument hastening the death of those individuals who appear to be suffering greatly from their medical condition but are unable to request that we do anything about that suffering because of their diminished mental capacities Slippery slope concerns have been raised in many countries including Britain the Netherlands Canada and the United States This book concentrates most of its attention on the latter two countries Stiglitz divides the book into four parts Part I lays out the relevant public policies in the form of legal judgments making them the philosophical point of departure for readers Part II discusses the ever present slippery slope objection to assisted suicide and other forms of euthanasia Parts III and IV examine the role of social factors and political structures in determining the morality and legalization of voluntary and non voluntary euthanasia These sections are especially valuable The inclusion of a selection of papers on the relationship between the morality and legality of euthanasia and systems of health care delivery is of particular interest especially to those who want to make statistical legal and moral comparisons between the USA and Canada
