Remembering the Troubles Jim Smyth, 2017-03-30 The historian A T Q Stewart once remarked that in Ireland all history is applied history that is the study of the past prosecutes political conflict by other means Indeed nearly twenty years after the 1998 Belfast Agreement dealing with the past remains near the top of the political agenda in Northern Ireland The essays in this volume by leading experts in the fields of Irish and British history politics and international studies explore the ways in which competing social or collective memories of the Northern Ireland Troubles continue to shape the post conflict political landscape The contributors to this volume embrace a diversity of perspectives the Provisional Republican version of events as well as that of its Official Republican rival Loyalist understandings of the recent past as well as the British Army's authorized for the record account the importance of commemoration and memorialization to Irish Republican culture and the individual memory of one of the noncombatants swept up in the conflict Tightly specific sharply focused and rich in local detail these essays make a significant contribution to the burgeoning literature of history and memory The book will interest students and scholars of Irish studies contemporary British history memory studies conflict resolution and political science Contributors Jim Smyth Ian McBride Ruan O'Donnell Aaron Edwards James W McAuley Margaret O'Callaghan John Mulqueen and Cathal Goan Jailtacht Diarmait Mac Giolla Chríost, 2012-05-15 Using research methods and techniques the author closely analyses the emergence of the Irish language amongst republican prisoners and ex prisoners in Northern Ireland from the 1970 s up until the present This pioneering study shows how the language was used exclusively in parts of the prison despite the efforts of the prison authorities to suppress the language and the dramatic impact this had on Irish society Drawing on interviews with the prisoners and various other materials Mac Giolla Chriost shows how these developments gave rise to the popular coinage of the term Jailtacht a deformation of Gaeltacht the official Irish speaking district of the Republic of Ireland to describe this unique linguistic phenomenon Conservation, Tourism, and Identity of Contemporary Community Art Virginia Santamarina-Campos, María Ángeles Carabal-Montagud, María de Miguel-Molina, Blanca de Miguel-Molina, 2017-11-23 This unique volume aims to promote new models of sustainable management in the field of contemporary mural art Cultural heritage has become an essential tool for society stressing the necessity to properly conserve cultural resources in order to maintain a socially economically and environmentally sustainable development In this book the mural Allegory to Work by the artist Felipe Seade located in Uruguay is used as a case study The work of Felipe Seade a prominent political mural artist of the twentieth century reflects the influence of Mexican heritage and the socio political themes of that time which were commonly used by the Social Realism art movement The authors look at the mural and its restoration through the lens of tourism globalization and new interest in cultural heritage The book demonstrates that the restoration should be aware that the perspective of the protagonists must be incorporated in the intervention process This first of its kind volume brings together historical ethnographic tourism and scientific research that leads to a sustainable project from the point of view of identity economy politics and society This volume with over 50 color illustrations and many black and white photos will be valuable for college and research libraries undergraduate and graduate students researchers and professors in the field of cultural heritage and art as well as those involved in community based research 1995 Massimo Mastrogregori, 2014-02-21 Annually published since 1930 the International bibliography of Historical Sciences IBOHS is an international bibliography of the most important historical monographs and periodical articles published throughout the world which deal with history from the earliest to the most recent times The works are arranged systematically according to period region or historical discipline and within this classification alphabetically The bibliography contains a geographical index and indexes of persons and authors

Commemoration and Bloody Sunday B. Conway, 2010-03-03 In this wide ranging study of the politics of memory in Northern Ireland Brian Conway examines the career of the commemoration of Bloody Sunday and looks at how and why the way this historic event is remembered has undergone change over time Drawing on original empirical data he provides new insights into the debate on collective memory Ireland in Focus Eóin Flannery, Michael Griffin, 2009-06-01 From an analysis of the Guinness brand s reflection of Irish identity to an exploration of murals and film portrayals of political prisoners this pioneering collection of essays seeks to present Ireland s relationship to visual culture as a whole While other works have explored the imagistic history of Ireland most have restricted their lens to a single form of visual representation

Ireland in Focus is the first book to address the diverse range of visual representations of national and communal identity in Ireland. The contributors examine the politics of visual representation from both historical and contemporary perspectives. Drawing from the areas of cultural theory, postcolonial studies, art criticism, documentary and archival history and gender studies, the essays provide novel insights on a variety of visual cultural forms including film, theater, photography, landscape art, political murals and the visual iconography of commercial marketing. Bringing together established scholars and emerging young critics in the field, Ireland in Focus breaks new ground in showcasing the essential dynamism of visual culture and its relationship to Irish studies.

Topography of Trauma: Fissures, Disruptions and Transfigurations

,2019-08-26 This volume addresses trauma not only from a theoretical, descriptive and therapeutic perspective but also through the survivor as narrator, meaning maker and presenter. By conceptualising different outlooks on trauma, exploring transfigurations in writing and art, and engaging trauma through scriptotherapy, dharma art, autoethnography, photovoice and choreography, the interdisciplinary dialogue highlights the need for rethinking and re-examining trauma as classical treatments geared towards healing do not recognise the potential for transfiguration inherent in the trauma itself. The investigation of the fissures, disruptions and shifts after punctual traumatic events or prolonged exposure to verbal and physical abuse, illness, war, captivity, incarceration and chemical exposure amongst others, leads to a new understanding of the transformed self and empowering post-traumatic developments. Contributors are Peter Bray, Francesca Brencio, Mark Callaghan, M. Candace Christensen, Diedra L. Clay, Leanne Dodd, Marie France Forcier, Gen-ichiro Itakura, Jacqueline Linder, Elwin, Susan John, Kori D. Novak, Cassie Pedersen, Danielle Schaub, Nicholas Quin, Serenati Asl, Tekinay, Tony M. Vinci and Claudio Zanini.

Painting History

Tony Crowley, 2025-09-16 Painting History: The Murals of Northern Ireland 1908-2024 is the first book-length study of the oldest and most enduring tradition of political wall art. Tony Crowley shows how muralism became an important medium for the unionist and loyalist community in its political domination of public space before and after Partition. The text also demonstrates that nationalists and republicans painted few murals before the start of the 1981 Hunger Strike, during which they painted wall art across republican areas of Northern Ireland as a way of publicizing their cause. In the context of a divided society, by the mid-1980s murals had become an established genre for the expression of political demands and aspirations. In Painting History, Tony Crowley provides a detailed analysis of the complex tradition of muralism in the context of the history that produced it, with particular attention given to the cultural politics of this remarkable form. The book also raises and discusses a series of theoretical questions about murals and muralism that transcend Northern Ireland's issues of propriety and legality, form and content, authority and censorship. The work ends with a consideration of the future of the murals in a still polarized but changing region.

Northern Ireland: The Troubles

Kenneth Lesley-Dixon, 2020-01-31 It is of course no secret that undercover Special Forces and intelligence agencies operated in Northern Ireland and the Republic throughout the troubles from 1969 to 2001 and beyond. What is less well known is how these units were recruited how they operated what their mandate was and what they actually did This is the first account to reveal much of this hitherto unpublished information providing a truly unique record of surveillance reconnaissance intelligence gathering collusion and undercover combat An astonishing number of agencies were active to combat the IRA murder squads the Provos among others the Military Reaction Force MRF and the Special Reconnaissance Unit also known as the 14 Field Security and Intelligence Company The Det as well as MI5 Special Branch the RUC the UDR and the Force Research Unit FRU later the Joint Support Group JSG It deals with still contentious and challenging issues as shoot to kill murder squads the Disappeared and collusion with loyalists It examines the findings of the Stevens Cassel and De Silva reports and looks at operations Loughgall Andersonstown Gibraltar and others

Theatre History and Historiography

Claire Cochrane, 2016-04-29 This collection of essays explores how historians of theatre apply ethical thinking to the attempt to truthfully represent their subject whether that be the life of a well known performer or the little known history of colonial theatre in India by exploring the process by which such histories are written and the challenges they raise

Ireland and Empire Stephen Howe, 2000-04-06 A growing band of historians political commentators and cultural critics has sought to analyse Ireland's past and present in colonial terms For some including Irish Republicans it is the only proper framework for understanding Ireland Others reject the very use of the colonial label for Ireland's history while using the term for the present arouses outrage especially amongst Ulster Unionists This book evaluates and analyses these controversies ranging from debates over the ancient and medieval past to those in current literary and postcolonial theory Scholarly at times polemical it is the most comprehensive study of these themes ever to appear and will undoubtedly stimulate discussion for years to come

Murals und Paraden Mario Liffenegger, 2013

Versions Of Ireland Eóin Flannery, 2021-03-04 Versions of Ireland brings a refined postcolonial theoretical optic to bear on many of the most urgent questions within contemporary Irish cultural studies Drawing on and extending the most advanced critical work within the discipline the book offers a subtle critical genealogy of the development of Ireland's diverse postcolonial projects Furthermore it reflects on the relevance and the effectiveness of postcolonial and subaltern historiographical methodologies in an Irish context interrogating the ethical and political problematics of such discursive importation Flannery's work highlights the operative dynamics of imperial modernity together with its representational agents in Ireland and also divines moments of explicit and implicit resistance to modernity's rationalising and accumulative urges The book is pioneering in the facility and ease with which it navigates the interdisciplinary terrain of Irish studies Flannery provides enabling and challenging new readings of the poetry of the bi-lingual poet Michael Hartnett the politically imaginative vistas of the republican mural tradition in the North of Ireland the gothic anxieties inherent in the fiction of Eugene McCabe and the semi-fictional writing of Seamus Deane and the differential codes of visual surveillance apparent in Irish tourist posters and late nineteenth century photography in Ireland Versions of Ireland does not dwell on the exclusively theoretical but offers rich critical analyses of a range of Irish cultural artefacts in terms of Ireland's protracted colonial history and contested postcolonial condition

Insurgency Online Michael Y. Dartnell, 2006-12-15 In Insurgency Online Michael Dartnell focuses on a new form of conflict made possible by global communications. The Internet, Dartnell argues, is affecting extensive changes to the way politics are carried out by inserting a range of non-state actors onto the global political stage. He demonstrates that Web activism raises issues about the organization of societies and the distribution of power and contends that the development of online activism has far-reaching social and political implications with parallels to the influence of the invention of the printing press, the telegraph, and the radio. Dartnell concentrates on Web activists who use the Net as a media tool, distinguishing this use from information terrorism which threatens or harasses through hacking or electronic sabotage. Using the examples of the Revolutionary Association of the Women of Afghanistan (RAWA) which opposed the Taliban, the Peruvian Movimiento Revolucionario Tupac Amaru (MRTA) and its campaign against the Fujimori government, and the Irish Republican Socialist Movement (IRSM), Dartnell evaluates the political implications and general character of Web activism among non-state actors. Insurgency Online shows that online activism is a ripe new territory for non-governmental actors to raise awareness and develop support around the world.

Plural Identities--singular Narratives Máiréad Nic Craith, 2002 Northern Ireland is frequently characterised in terms of a two traditions paradigm representing the conflict as being between two discrete cultures. Demonstrating the reductionist nature of this argument, this book highlights the complexity of reality.

Material Conflicts Neil Jarman, 2020-08-04 The deep and abiding sectarian divide splintering Northern Ireland has been the focus of considerable attention recently. In particular, the role of parades and visual displays in underscoring opposition has come into the spotlight with the emergence of heightened tensions close on the heels of a tentative peace. Providing penetrating insights into the historical roots of Northern Ireland's ethnic hostilities, this timely book explores the role of images and material culture in shaping present attitudes. Ritual, identity, class, and memory are shown to be potent forces informing trenchant animosities, animosities which are visually reflected in banners and murals for unionists and nationalists alike. The pivotal role of the Twelfth of July parade in Belfast, when an estimated 100,000 either parade or watch the Orangemen, is highlighted. Anyone interested in the future of Northern Ireland and concerned about escalating conflict across the globe will warmly welcome this impressive study.
