Selected Works Fifty Years In Films:

Designing Russian Cinema Eleanor Rees, 2022-12-15 This book highlights the significant role that production artists played when Russian cinema was still in its infancy. It uncovers Russian cinema's connections with other art forms, examining how production artists drew on both aesthetic traditions and modernist experiments in architecture, painting, and theatre as they explored the new medium of cinema and its potential to engender new models of perception and forms of audience engagement. Drawing on set design sketches, archival documents, and film makers' memoirs, Eleanor Rees reveals how less canonical films such as Behind the Screen (Kulisy ekrana) 1919 and Palace and Fortress (Dvorets i krepost) 1923 were remarkable from a design perspective and also provides new readings of well-known films such as Children of the Age (Deti veka) 1915 and Strike (Stachka) 1925. Rees brings to light information on significant but understudied figures such as Vladimir Egorov and Sergei Kozlovskii and highlights the involvement of well-known figures such as Lev Kuleshov and Aleksandr Rodchenko. Unlike the majority of late Imperial directors and camera operators, many early Russian production artists continued to work in cinema in the Soviet era and to draw on practices forged before the 1917 Revolution. In spanning the entire silent era, this book highlights the often overlooked continuities between the late Imperial and early Soviet periods of cinema, thus questioning traditional historical periodisations.

The Silent Cinema Reader Lee Grieveson, Peter Krämer, 2004 The Silent Cinema Reader brings together key writings on cinema from the beginnings of film in 1894 to the advent of sound in 1927, addressing the development of film production and exhibition technologies, methods of distribution, film form, and film culture during this critical period of film history. Thematic sections address film projection and variety shows, storytelling and the Nickelodeon cinema, and reform feature films and cinema programs. Classical Hollywood cinema and European national cinemas. Each section is introduced by the editors and contains suggestions for further readings and film viewings.

Film and History James Chapman, 2017-09-16 Film is the pre-eminent mass medium of the modern age. It is a valuable source of evidence for the study of both the past and the contemporary world and is a social practice that has affected the lives of millions. How can historians engage with this important and influential medium? Written for both students and teachers, Film and History provides a concise, accessible introduction to the use of film in historical enquiry and a summary of the main theoretical debates. It charts the development of film history as a subject area and a discipline in its own right. It considers different approaches to film history, including film as an art form, as ideology, as a historical source, and as a social practice. It includes case studies to ground discussion of theories and approaches in specific examples. Wide-ranging and authoritative, Film and History equips students with the methods both to analyse film texts and to understand the place of film in history and culture.

A Grammar of Murder Karla Oeler,2009-12-15 The dark shadows and offscreen space that force us to imagine violence we cannot see The real slaughter of animals spliced with the fictional killing of men The missing countershot from the murder victim s point of view Such images or absent images Karla Oeler contends distill how the murder scene challenges and changes film Reexamining works by such filmmakers as Renoir Hitchcock Kubrick Jarmusch and Eisenstein Oeler traces the murder scene s intricate connections to the great breakthroughs in the theory and practice of montage and the formulation of the rules and syntax of Hollywood genre She argues that murder plays such a central role in film because it mirrors on multiple levels the act of cinematic representation Death and murder at once eradicate life and call attention to its former existence just as cinema conveys both the reality and the absence of the objects it depicts But murder shares with cinema not only this interplay between presence and absence movement and stillness unlike death killing entails the deliberate reduction of a singular subject to a disposable object Like cinema it involves a crucial choice about what to cut and what to keep Dmitri Shostakovich John Riley,2004-11-26 Of all the major Soviet composers who worked in the cinema the most prominent was Dmitri Shostakovich who in addition to over a hundred works for the stage and concert hall wrote scores for almost forty films Yet despite his reputation this work when not completely overlooked has been poorly judged by the same criteria as his other music Likewise while much attention has been paid to Soviet film the crucial role played by the scores is all too often forgotten This the first book in English to look at Shostakovich s cinema career discusses every film he scored looking at the films themselves tracing their relationship to the changing concerns and policies of the Soviet state and examining how the music works in context John Riley also gives a fascinating account of the composer s life This highly readable book will be welcomed equally by devotees of the composer those interested in Soviet culture and cinema and general film music enthusiasts

Film And Television In Education Robert Watson,2003-09-02 First published in 1990 The aim of the series is to define and defend a comprehensive aesthetic both theoretical and practical for the teaching of the arts There can be little doubt that of the six great arts which the Library of Aesthetic Education is committed to defending and defining film has been the most ignored in the curriculum of our schools There is a grand irony in this for film is not only the one unique art form developed in our own century but also the most unequivocally popular Film was envisaged as part of a system of communications which had to be decoded in terms of ideology and contextualized in terms of power and control Robert Watson s Film and Television in Education with its telling subtitle An Aesthetic Approach to the Moving Image sets out to remedy the neglect

Devastation and Laughter Annie Gérin,2018-01-01 In Devastation and Laughter Annie G rin explores the use of satire in the visual arts the circus theatre and cinema under Lenin and Stalin G rin traces the rise and decline of the genre and argues that the use of satire in official Soviet art and propaganda was neither marginal nor untheorized The author sheds light on the theoretical texts written in the 1920s and 1930s by Anatoly Lunacharsky the Soviet Commissar of Enlightenment and the impact his writings had on satirists While the Avant Garde and Socialist Realism were necessarily forward looking and utopian satire afforded artists the means to examine critically past and present subjects themes and practice Devastation and Laughter is the first work to bring Soviet theoretical writings on the use of satire to the attention of scholars outside of Russia By introducing important bodies of work that have largely been overlooked in the fields of art history film and theatre history Annie G rin provides a nuanced and alternative reading of early Soviet art
