

THE CLASSICS OF WESTERN SPIRITUALITY

A LIBRARY OF THE GREAT SPIRITUAL MASTERS

"English-speaking Christians owe Paulist Press an enormous debt of gratitude for their continuing efforts to help us gain a deeper appreciation of our spiritual heritage." Spiritual Life

In one series, the original writings of the universally acknowledged teachers of the Catholic, Protestant, Eastern Orthodox, Jewish and Islamic traditions have been critically selected, translated and introduced by internationally recognized scholars and spiritual leaders.

ANGLO-SAXON SPIRITUALITY: SELECTED WRITINGS

translated and introduced by Robert Boenig preface by Richard K. Emmerson

"Then the young here ungirded himself, he who was God Almighty, strong and stern....

I trembled when the hero hugged me, I nevertheless dared not bow to earth, fall to the ground's surface, but I had to stand fast.
I was raised up a cross: I raised up a powerful King,
the Lord of the heavens."

From The Dream of the Rood

Anglo-Saxon Spirituality is an anthology of sermons, homilies and poems written by Anglo-Saxons during the later part of their age (c. 660-1066). The sermons celebrate the lives of saints—both biblical figures like John the Baptist and the apostles and also native-born Anglo-Saxons like King Oswald of Northumbria and the hermit Guthlac of Crowland. The sermons and homilies also explain church festivals like Rogationtide and Christmas and call for penance and amended life in the face of the coming Day of Judgment. The poems treat similar subjects but grace them with the distinctive alliterative meter inherited from the pagan and heroic past. Notable among the poems are Cadmon's Hymn, the earliest surviving poem written in English, The Phoenix, an allegorical explanation of the mythical self-immolating bird, and The Dream of the Rood, a poetical recounting of a visionary experience. The works reveal an Anglo-Saxon spirituality: eschatological, heroic and liturgical in nature.
