Self-portrait David Douglas Duncan, 1969 A Corpus of Rembrandt Paintings IV Ernst van de Wetering, 2010-07-19
Volume IV of A Corpus of Rembrandt Paintings deals uniquely with the self portraits of Rembrandt. In a clearly written explanatory style, the head of the Rembrandt Research Project and Editor of this Volume, Ernst van de Wetering, discusses the full body of work of paintings and etchings portraying Rembrandt. He sets the different parameters for accepting or rejecting a Rembrandt self portrait as such whilst also discussing the exact working environment of Rembrandt and his apprentices. This workshop setting created a surroundings where apprentices could be involved in working on Rembrandt paintings making it more difficult to determine the hand of the master. Van de Wetering, who is one of the Rembrandt experts of our day and age, goes down to great detail to explain how the different self portraits are made and what techniques Rembrandt uses, also giving an overview of which paintings are to be attributed to the Dutch Master and which not. In the additional catalogue, the self portraits are examined in detail. In clear and accessible explanatory text, the different paintings are discussed, larded with immaculate images of each painting. Details are shown where possible as well as the results of modern day technical imaging like X radiography. This work of art history and art research should be part of every serious art historical institute, university or museum. Nowhere in the art history have all Rembrandt's self portraits been discussed in such detailed and comparative manner by an authority such as Ernst van de Wetering. This is a standard work for decades to come. The Art Teacher's Survival Guide for Secondary Schools Helen D. Hume, 2014-02-21. Germania USA was first published in 1967 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions An unusual community in southern Minnesota New Ulm a town of about 12 000 inhabitants is the subject of this sociological study New Ulm was founded in 1856 by a group of German immigrants who came to the United States as refugees from the revolution of 1848 in Germany They were members of the Turnverein a society of liberal thinkers who were a political minority in Germany In founding New Ulm they established a utopian ethnic community became the town s status elite and for a long time monopolized its economic political and cultural life Professor Iverson analyzes four aspects of sociological change in the community class status power and assimilation Each aspect is viewed according to the differences found between two generations of the upper status group the Turners and two corresponding generations of non Turners In addition to its substantive contribution to our knowledge of ethnic settlements the study demonstrates a gain in methodological precision over many earlier studies of ethnic communities Its chief methodological innovation is in the use of scales to verify and measure the changing structure of class status and power and to gauge the extent of assimilation The book is of interest not only to sociologists especially those concerned with the study of community change but also to political scientists interested in the study of community power structures Also the methodology will be instructive to those interested in the design of community studies Reagan, American Icon Robert Paul Metzger,1989 Made in the U.S.A. Judy Collischan,2010 This book begins with an abbreviated background on the origins and development of European Modernism This is followed by attention to a transitional phase moving art s center from Paris to New York Next is examination of various phases of Contemporary Art as it evolved in this country The coverage is broad inclusive of Black Hispanic Native American Asian American and Caucasian artists of both sexes and of every age group The story is told against a background of socio political events affairs There is a wealth of information augmented by selected visual matter that is listed with links for e readers greatly enhancing the portability of this art book This feature allows readers to browse further and to learn via textual matter and visual audio tapes Targeted audiences include college students artists and general readers
