Martin Delany Frederick Douglass And The Politics Of Representative:

Martin Delany, Frederick Douglass, and the Politics of Representative Identity Robert Steven Levine, 1997 The differences between Frederick Douglass and Martin Delany have historically been reduced to a simple binary pronouncement assimilationist versus separatist Now Robert S Levine restores the relationship of these two important nineteenth century African American writers

Disaffected Xine Yao, 2021-09-08 In Disaffected Xine Yao explores the racial and sexual politics of unfeeling affects that are not recognized as feeling as a means of survival and refusal in nineteenth century America She positions unfeeling beyond sentimentalism's paradigm of universal feeling Yao traces how works by Herman Melville Martin R Delany Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Frances Ellen Watkins Harper and Sui Sin Far engaged major sociopolitical issues in ways that resisted the weaponization of white sentimentalism against the lives of people of color Exploring variously pathologized racialized queer and gendered affective modes like unsympathetic Blackness queer female frigidity and Oriental inscrutability these authors departed from the values that undergird the politics of recognition and the liberal project of inclusion By theorizing feeling otherwise as an antisocial affect form of dissent and mode of care Yao suggests that unfeeling can serve as a contemporary political strategy for people of color to survive in the face of continuing racism and white fragility Duke University Press Scholars of Color First Book Award recipient

Science Fiction and Anticipation Bernard Montoneri, 2022-08-16 Science Fiction and Anticipation Utopias Dystopias and Time Travel presents ten chapters discussing themes related to time travel utopias and dystopias in science fiction novels published in America and Europe between the 18th and 20th century These themes include social progress freedom and human rights technological advances and the issues of ethics racism sexism censorship and slavery The contributors analyze novels such as The Year 2440 published in 1771 Paris in the Twentieth Century written by Jules Verne Blake or The Huts of America by Martin Robinson Delany The Amphibian Man by Alexander Belyaev Heart of a Dog by Mikhail Bulgakov Ashes Ashes by Ren Barjavel The Machine Stops by E M Forster Morel's Invention by Adolfo Bioy Casares and writers of Spanish Argentinian English and French fictions such as George Orwell Eduardo Ladislao Holmberg and Leopoldo Antonio Lugones Argento This book notably presents their sources and influence the accuracy of their predictions and their relevance in our very unstable world

Mary Ann Shadd Cary Jane Rhodes, 2023-09-05 Mary Ann Shadd Cary was a courageous and outspoken nineteenth century African American who used the press and public speaking to fight slavery and oppression in the United States and Canada Part of the small free black elite who used their education and limited freedoms to fight for the end of slavery and racial oppression Shadd Cary is best known as the first African American woman to publish and edit a newspaper in North America But her importance does not stop there She was an active participant in many of the social and political movements that influenced nineteenth century abolition black emigration and nationalism women's rights and temperance Mary Ann Shadd Cary The Black Press and Protest in the Nineteenth Century explores her remarkable life and offers a window on the free black experience emergent black nationalisms African American gender ideologies and the formation of a black public sphere This new edition contains a new epilogue and new photographs

Latinx Revolutionary Horizons Renee Hudson, 2024-05-07 A necessary reconceptualization of Latinx identity literature and politics In Latinx Revolutionary Horizons Renee Hudson theorizes a liberatory latinidad that is not yet here and conceptualizes a hemispheric project in which contemporary Latinx authors return to earlier moments of revolution Rather than viewing Latinx as solely a category of identification she argues for an expansive historicized sense of the term that illuminates its political potential Claiming the x in Latinx as marking the suspension and tension between how Latin American descended people identify and the future politics the x points us toward Hudson contends that latinidad can signal a politics grounded in shared struggles and histories rather than merely a mode of identification In this way Latinx Revolutionary Horizons reads against current calls for cancelling latinidad based on its presumed anti Black and anti Indigenous framework Instead she examines the not yet here of latinidad to investigate the connection between the revolutionary history of the Americas and the creation of new genres in the hemisphere from conversion narratives and dictator novels to neoslave narratives and testimonios By comparing colonialisms she charts a revolutionary genealogy across a range of movements such as the Mexican Revolution the Filipino People Power Revolution resistance to Trujillo in the Dominican Republic and the Cuban Revolution In pairing nineteenth century authors alongside contemporary Latinx ones Hudson examines a longer genealogy of Latinx resistance while expanding its literary canon from the works of Jos Rizal and Martin Delany to those of Julia Alvarez Jessica Hagedorn and Leslie Marmon Silko In imagining a truly transnational latinidad Latinx Revolutionary Horizons thus rewrites our understanding of the nationalist formations that continue to characterize Latinx Studies

Perplexing Patriarchies: Fatherhood Among Black Opponents and White Defenders of Slavery Pierre Islam, 2019-08-15 Perplexing Patriarchies examines the rhetorical usage and lived experience of fatherhood among three African American abolitionists and three of their white proslavery opponents in the United States during the nineteenth century Both the prominent abolitionists Frederick Douglass Martin Delany and Henry Garnet as well as the prominent proslavery advocates Henry Hammond George Fitzhugh and Richard Dabney appealed to the popular image of the father husband and head of household in order to attack or justify slavery How and why could these opposing individuals rely on appeals to the same ideal of fatherhood to come to completely different and opposing conclusions This book strives to find the answer by first acknowledging that both the abolitionists and the proslavery men shared similar concerns about the contested status of fatherhood in the nineteenth century However due to subtle differences in their starting assumptions and different choices of what parts of a father's responsibilities to emphasize the black abolitionists conceived of an ideal father who protected the autonomy of his dependents while the proslavery men conceived of one whose authority necessitated the subordination of those he protected Finding that these differences arose from choices in starting assumptions and emphases rather than total disagreement on what the role of the father should be this work reveals that black abolitionists were not radically critiquing the gender conventions of their day but innovatively working within those conventions to turn them towards social reform This discovery opens up a new way for historians to consider how oppressed peoples negotiated the intellectual boundaries of the societies which oppressed them Not necessarily breaking entirely from those boundaries nor passively accepting them but ingeniously synthesizing a worldview from within their confines that still allowed for freedom and personal autonomy Abolitionist Places Martha Schoolman, Jared Hickman, 2014-10-20 From David Brion Davis's The Problem of Slavery in the Age of Revolution to Paul Gilroy's The Black Atlantic some of the most influential conceptualizations of the Atlantic World have taken the movements of individuals and transnational organizations working to advocate the abolition of slavery as their material basis This unique interdisciplinary collection of essays provides diverse new approaches to examining the abolitionist Atlantic With contributions from an international roster of historians literary scholars and specialists in the history of art this book provides case studies in the connections between abolitionism and material spatial practice in literature theory history and memory This volume covers a wide range of topics and themes including the circum Atlantic itineraries of abolitionist artists and activists precise locations such as Paris and Chatham Ontario where abolitionists congregated to speculate over the future of and hatch emigration plans to sites in Africa Latin America and the Caribbean and the reimagining of abolitionist places in twentieth and twenty first century literature and public art This book was originally published as a special issue of Atlantic Studies An Alternative History of Pittsburgh Ed Simon, 2021-05-04 An epic atomic history of the Steel City a work of literature a series of linked creative nonfiction essays an historical story cycle Phillip Maciak Los Angeles Review of Books The land surrounding the confluence of the Allegheny Monongahela and Ohio rivers has supported communities of humans for millennia Over the past four centuries however it has been transformed countless times by the many people who call it home In this brief lyrical and idiosyncratic collection Ed Simon a staff writer at The Millions follows the story of Pittsburgh through a series of interconnected segments covering all manner of beloved people places and things including Paleolithic Pittsburgh The Whiskey Rebellion The attempted assassination of Henry Frick The Harmonists The Mystery Pittsburgh's radical Black nationalist newspaper The myth of Joe Magarac Billy Strayhorn Duke Ellington Andy Warhol and much much more Accessible and funny An Alternative History of Pittsburgh is a must read for anyone curious about this storied city and for Pittsburghers who think they know it all too well already A rich and idiosyncratic history Even Pittsburgh history buffs will learn something new Publishers Weekly Simon tells the story of the city and all the changes that made it what it is today in a way that's entirely new by the hand of someone who is deeply familiar Juliana Rose Pignataro Newsweek A sparkling new take on everyone's favorite Rust Belt metropolis Justin Velluci Jewish Chronicle A brilliant look at how geology and art politics and religion disaster and luck combine to build America's great cities one that will leave you wondering what secrets your own hometown might be hiding Anjali Sachdeva author of All the Names They Used for God Black Empire Michelle Ann Stephens, 2005-07-18 Explores the writings of

Philadelphia Stories Samuel Otter, 2013-01-02 In Philadelphia Stories Samuel Otter finds literary value historical significance and political urgency in a sequence of texts written in and about Philadelphia between the Constitution and the Civil War Historians such as Gary B Nash and Julie Winch have chronicled the distinctive social and political space of early national Philadelphia Yet while individual writers such as Charles Brockden Brown Edgar Allan Poe and George Lippard have been linked to Philadelphia no sustained attempt has been made to understand these figures and many others as writing in a tradition tied to the city's history The site of William Penn's Holy Experiment in religious toleration and representative government and of national Declaration and Constitution near the border between slavery and freedom Philadelphia was home to one of the largest and most influential free African American communities in the United States The city was seen by residents and observers as the laboratory for a social experiment with international consequences Philadelphia would be the stage on which racial character would be tested and a possible future for the United States after slavery would be played out It would be the arena in which various residents would or would not demonstrate their capacities to participate in the nation's civic and political life Otter argues that the Philadelphia experiment the term used in the nineteenth century produced a largely unacknowledged literary tradition of peculiar forms and intensities in which verbal performance and social behavior assumed the weight of race and nation

Fleshing Out America Carolyn Sorisio, 2002 Can we work through the imaginative space of literature to combat the divisive nature of the politics of the body That is the central question asked of the writings Carolyn Sorisio investigates in Fleshing Out America The first half of the nineteenth century ushered in an era of powerful scientific and quasi scientific disciplines that assumed innate differences between the types of humankind Some proponents of slavery and Indian Removal as well as opponents of women's rights supplanted the Declaration of Independence's higher law of inborn equality with a new set of laws proclaiming the physical inferiority of women Negroes and Aborigines Fleshing Out America explores the representation of the body in the work of seven authors all of whom were involved with their era's reform movements Lydia Maria Child Frances E W Harper Ralph Waldo Emerson Margaret Fuller Walt Whitman Harriet Jacobs and Martin R Delany For such American writers who connected the individual body symbolically with the body politic the new science was fraught with possibility and peril Covering topics from representation spectatorship and essentialism to difference power and authority Carolyn Sorisio places these writers' works in historical context and in relation to contemporary theories of corporeality She shows how these authors struggled in diverse and divergent ways to flesh out America to define even defend the nation's body in a tumultuous period Drawing on Euro and African American authors of both genders who are notable for their aesthetic and political differences Fleshing Out America demonstrates the surprisingly diverse literary conversation taking place as American authors attempted to reshape the politics of the body which shaped the politics of the time The Wars of Reconstruction Douglas R. Egerton, 2014-01-21 A groundbreaking new history telling the stories of hundreds of African American activists and officeholders who risked their lives for equality in the face of murderous violence in the years after the Civil War By 1870 just five years after Confederate surrender and thirteen years after the Dred Scott decision ruled blacks ineligible for citizenship Congressional action had ended slavery and given the vote to black men That same year Hiram Revels and Joseph Hayne Rainey became the first African American U S senator and congressman respectively In South Carolina only twenty years after the death of arch secessionist John C Calhoun a black man Jasper J Wright took a seat on the state s Supreme Court Not even the most optimistic abolitionists thought such milestones would occur in their lifetimes The brief years of Reconstruction marked the United States most progressive moment prior to the civil rights movement Previous histories of Reconstruction have focused on Washington politics But in this sweeping prodigiously researched narrative Douglas Egerton brings a much bigger even more dramatic story into view exploring state and local politics and tracing the struggles of some fifteen hundred African American officeholders in both the North and South who fought entrenched white resistance Tragically their movement was met by ruthless violence not just riotous mobs but also targeted assassination With stark evidence Egerton shows that Reconstruction often cast as a failure or a doomed experiment was rolled back by murderous force The Wars of Reconstruction is a major and provocative contribution to American history Romantic Reformers and the Antislavery Struggle in the Civil War Era Ethan J. Kytell, 2014-08-11 On the cusp of the American Civil War a new generation of reformers including Theodore Parker Frederick Douglass Harriet Beecher Stowe Martin Robison Delany and Thomas Wentworth Higginson took the lead in the antislavery struggle Frustrated by political defeats a more aggressive Slave Power and the inability of early abolitionists like William Lloyd Garrison to rid the nation of slavery the New Romantics crafted fresh often more combative approaches to the peculiar institution Contrary to what many scholars have argued however they did not reject Romantic reform in the process Instead the New Romantics roamed widely through Romantic modes of thought embracing not only the immediatism and perfectionism pioneered by Garrisonians but also new motifs and doctrines including sentimentalism self culture martial heroism Romantic racialism and Manifest Destiny This book tells the story of how antebellum America s most important intellectual current Romanticism shaped the coming and course of the nation s bloodiest and most revolutionary conflict
