Ancient Christian Martyrdom Candida R. Moss, 2012-06-26 The importance of martyrdom for the spread of Christianity in the first centuries of the Common Era is a question of enduring interest In this innovative new study Candida Moss offers a radically new history of martyrdom in the first and second centuries that challenges traditional understandings of the spread of Christianity and rethinks the nature of Christian martyrdom itself Martyrdom Moss shows was not a single idea theology or practice there were diverse perspectives and understandings of what it meant to die for Christ Beginning with an overview of ancient Greek Roman and Jewish ideas about death Moss demonstrates that there were many cultural contexts within which early Christian views of martyrdom were very much at home She then shows how distinctive and diverging theologies of martyrdom emerged in different ancient congregations In the process she reexamines the authenticity of early Christian stories about martyrs and calls into question the dominant scholarly narrative about the spread of martyrdom in the ancient world

Early Chinese Religion, Part Two: The Period of Division (220-589 AD) (2 vols.) John Lagerwey, Pengzhi Lü, 2009-11-23 After the Warring States treated in Part One of this set there is no more fecund era in Chinese religious and cultural history than the period of division 220 589 AD During it Buddhism conquered China Daoism grew into a mature religion with independent institutions and together with Confucianism these three teachings having each won its share of state recognition and support formed a united front against shamanism While all four religions are covered Buddhism and Daoism receive special attention in a series of parallel chapters on their pantheons rituals sacred geography community organization canon formation impact on literature and recent archaeological discoveries This multi disciplinary approach without ignoring philosophical and theological issues brings into sharp focus the social and historical matrices of Chinese religion

Passion, Persecution, and Epiphany in Early Jewish Literature Nicholas Peter Legh Allen, Pierre J. Jordaen, József

Zsengellér, 2020-04-08 This volume examines Jewish literature produced from c 700 B C E to c 200 C E from a socio theological perspective In this context it offers a scholarly attempt to understand how the ancient Jewish psyche dealt with times of extreme turmoil and how Jewish theology altered to meet the challenges experienced The volume explores various early Jewish literature including both the canonical and apocryphal scripture Here reference is often made to a divine epiphany a moment of unexpected and prodigious revelation or insight as a response to abuse suffering and passion Many of the chapters deal with these issues in relation to the Antiochan crisis of 169 to 164 B C E in Judea one of the more notable periods of oppression This watershed event appears to have served as a catalyst for the new apocalyptic texts which were produced up until c 200 C E and which reflect a new theological dynamic in Judaism one that informed subsequent Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism Passion Persecution and Epiphany in Early Jewish Literature will be of interest to anyone working on the Bible both Masoretic and LXX and early Jewish literature as well as students of Jewish history and the Levant in the classical period

Constructing Religious Martyrdom

John Soboslai, 2024-06-27 Martyrdom is a phenomenon common to many of the world's religious traditions. But why? In this study John Soboslai offers insights into the practices of self-sacrifice within specific sociopolitical contexts. Providing a new understanding of martyrdom through the lens of political theology, he analyzes discourses and performances in four religious traditions during social and political crises beginning with second-century Christianity in Asia Minor where the term martyr first took its meaning. He also analyzes Shi'a Islam in the 1980s when suicide bombing first appeared as a strategy in West Asia, global Sikhism during World War I where martyrs stood for and against the British Raj, and twenty-first-century Tibetan Buddhism where self-immolators used their bodies in opposition to the programs of the People's Republic of China. Presenting a new theory of martyrdom linked to constructions of sovereign authority, Soboslai reveals common features of self-sacrifice and demonstrates how bodily performances buttress conceptions of authority.

The Holy Land and the Early Modern Reinvention of Catholicism Megan C.

Armstrong, 2021-05-20 A shared biblical past has long imbued the Holy Land with special authority as well as a mythic character that has made the region not only the spiritual home for Muslims, Christians, and Jews but also a source of a living sacred history that informs contemporary realities and religious identities. This book explores the Holy Land as a critical site in which early modern Catholics sought spiritual and political legitimacy during a period of profound and disruptive change. The Ottoman conquest of the region, the division of the Western Church, Catholic reform, the integration of the Mediterranean into global trading networks, and the emergence of new imperial rivalries transformed the Custody of the Holy Land, the venerable Catholic institution that had overseen Western pilgrimage since 1342, into a site of intense intra-Christian conflict by 1517. This contestation underscored the Holy Land's importance as a frontier and center of an embattled Catholic tradition.

The Bible and Feminism Yvonne Sherwood, 2017-11-24 This groundbreaking book breaks with established canons and resists some of the stereotypes of feminist biblical studies. It features a wide range of contributors who showcase new methodological and theoretical movements such as feminist materialisms, intersectionality, postidentitarian, nomadic politics, gender archaeology, and lived religion, and theories of the human and the posthuman. The Bible and Feminism: Remapping the Field engages a range of social and political issues including migration and xenophobia, divorce and family law, abortion, pinkwashing, the neoliberal university, the second amendment, AIDS, and sexual trafficking, and the politics of the veil. Foundational figures in feminist biblical studies work alongside new voices and contributors from a multitude of disciplines in conversations with the Bible that go well beyond the expected canon within the canon assumed to be of interest to feminist biblical scholars. Moving beyond the limits of a text-orientated model of reading, this collection looks at how biblical texts were actualized in the lives of religious revolutionaries such as Joanna Southcott or Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz. It charts the politics of the Pauline veil in the self-understanding of Europe and reads the genealogical halls in the book of Chronicles alongside acts of commemoration and forgetting in 9/11 and Tiananmen Square.

Martyrdom Ihab Saloul, Jan Willem Henten, 2025-10-01 The phenomenon of martyrdom is more than 2000 years old, but as contemporary events show, still very much alive Martyrdom Canonisation Contestation and Afterlives examines the canonisation contestation and afterlives of martyrdom and connects these with cross cultural acts and practices of remembrance Martyrdom appeals to the imagination of many because it is a highly ambiguous spectacle with thrilling deadly consequences Imagination is thus a vital catalyst for martyrdom for martyrs become martyrs only because others remember and honour them as such This memorialisation occurs through rituals and documents that incorporate and re interpret traditions deriving from canonical texts The canonisation of martyrdom generally occurs in one of two ways First through ritual commemoration by communities of inside readers listeners viewers and participants who create and recycle texts re interpreting them until the martyrs ultimately receive a canonical status or second through commemoration as a means of contestation by competing communities who perceive these same people as traitors or terrorists By adopting an interdisciplinary orientation and a cross cultural approach this book goes beyond both the insider admiration of martyrs and the partisan rejection of martyrdoms and concisely synthesises key interpretive questions and themes that broach the canonised unstable and contested representations of martyrdom as well as their analytical connections divergences and afterlives in the present

Remembrance of Things Past? Michael J. Thate, 2013 In this book Michael J Thate offers an experiment in reception criticism in its consideration of the formation and reception of the historical Jesus discourse He also attempts to historicize Leben Jesu Forschung within debates and narratives of secularization These two foci guide the book through its two parts First Thate explicates Schweitzer s dominant archival function in Leben Jesu Forschung while aiming to make fragile the grand architect s receptive hegemony Then he combines critical memory theory and other theoretical readings of the material in an attempt to refocus the study of the historical Jesus as early Christian memory politics in the service of identity explication He attempts to problematize Schweitzer s legacy of a tidy systematic approach in which much of historical Jesus scholarship continues to operate

The Violence of the Lamb Paul Middleton, 2018-05-03 The act of martyrdom in the worldview of the Apocalypse has been considered to be an exemplification of non violent resistance Paul Middleton argues here however that it is in fact a representation of direct participation by Christians through their martyrdom in divine violence against those the author of Revelation portrays as God s enemies Middleton shows that acceptance of martyrdom is to grasp the invitation to participate in the Revelation s divine violence Martyrs follow the model laid down by the Lamb who was not only slain but resurrected glorified and who executes judgement The world created by the Apocalypse encourages readers to conquer the Beast through martyrdom but also through the experience of resurrection and being appointed judges In this role martyrs participate in the judgement of the wicked by sharing the Lamb s power to judge Different from eschewing violence the conceptual world of the Apocalypse portrays God the Lamb and the martyrs as possessing more power might and violent potential than the Emperor and his armies Middleton believes that martyrdom and violence are necessary components of the worldview of Revelation

Christian Political Witness George Kalantzis, Gregory W. Lee, 2014-02-28 George Kalantzis and

Gregory W Lee edit twelve essays that explore the topic of Christian political witness originally presented at the 2013 Wheaton Theology Conference Contributors include Stanley Hauerwas Mark Noll William Cavanaugh Peter Leithart and Scot McKnight     The Mental Universe of the English Nonjurors John William Klein,2019-02-25 The Glorious Revolution of 1688 which pushed James II from the throne of England was not glorious for everyone in fact for many it was a great disaster Those who had already taken an oath of allegiance to James II and to his heirs and lawful successors now pondered how they could take a second oath to William and Mary Those who initially refused to swear the oath were called Nonjurors In 1691 Archbishop Sancroft eight bishops and four hundred clergy of the Church of England as well as a substantial number of scholars at Oxford and Cambridge were deprived removed from their offices and their license to practice revoked for their refusal This nonjuring community over time adopted hybridized ideas long embraced and called out by the times and circumstances Five paradigms shaped the English Nonjurors mental universe a radical obedience a Cyprianist mentality using printing presses in place of the pulpits they had lost a hybridized view of time and a global ecumenical perspective that linked them to the Orthodox East These patterns operated synergistically to create an effective tool for the Nonjurors survival and success in their mission The Nonjurors influence out of proportion to their size was due in large measure to this mentality their unique circumstances prompted creative thinking and they were superb in that endeavor Those five ideas constituted the infrastructure of the Nonjurors world This study helps us to see the early eighteenth century not only as a time of rapid change but also as an era of persistent older religious mentalities adapted to new circumstances and the Nonjurors were brilliant at this adaptation     Voices of Early Christianity Kevin W. Kaatz,2013-02-27 This fascinating resource examines the day to day lives of early Christians as depicted through documented accounts of the period from the beginning of Christianity through 325 CE Early Christianity drew its doctrine from a variety of sources personal interpretation Hebrew scriptures and church council yet the core ideology endured even as the religion transitioned from being the object of persecution to becoming a legal institution in the Roman Empire This book celebrates the voices that helped create and develop Christianity during that period Voices of Early Christianity Documents from the Origins of Christianity is a collection of excerpts from significant documents from early Christian history organized topically then listed chronologically within each section The author compares textual variations among the works of the apostles as well as key themes over time and frames the discussion for further critical thinking Topics include sexuality marriage and divorce food issues women in early Christianity and politics and Christianity
