Marx The First Hundred Years:

Marx, the First Hundred Years David McLellan,1983

Marx, the First Hundred Years David McLellan,1983

Time, Labor, and Social Domination Moishe Postone,1996 Moishe Postone undertakes a fundamental reinterpretation of Karl Marx's mature critical theory. He calls into question many of the presuppositions of traditional Marxist analyses and offers new interpretations of Marx's central arguments. He does so by developing concepts aimed at grasping the essential character and historical development of modern society and also at overcoming the familiar dichotomies of structure and action, meaning and material life. These concepts lead him to an original analysis of the nature and problems of capitalism and provide the basis for a critique of actually existing socialism. According to this new interpretation, Marx identifies the core of the capitalist system with an impersonal form of social domination. Generated by labor and the industrial production process are characterized as expressions of domination generated by labor itself and not simply with market mechanisms and private property. Proletarian labor and the industrial production process are characterized as expressions of domination rather than as means of human emancipation. This reinterpretation entails the form of economic growth and the structure of social labor in modern society to the alienation and domination at the heart of capitalism. This reformulation, Postone argues, provides the foundation for a critical social theory that is more adequate to late twentieth-century capitalism. One Hundred Years of Philosophy Brian Shanley,2019-02-08 This collection originated in the centenary celebration of the School of Philosophy at The Catholic University of America. Written by acknowledged experts in their fields, the essays provide a unique overview of philosophical developments in the twentieth century. The broad range of topics considered makes the book an invaluable reference work. Manchester's First Hundred Years, 1867-1967 Marie A. Schneider,1967 Marx's Proletariat David

Lovell,2015-04-24 George Orwell wrote in Nineteen Eighty Four that if there is hope it lies in the proles. A century earlier Marx was unequivocal: the future belonged to the proletariat. Today such confidence might seem misplaced. The proletariat has not yet fulfilled Marx's expectations and seems unlikely ever to do so. How could Marx have entertained the notion that the proletariat would emancipate humanity from capitalism and from class rule itself? This book, first published in 1988, attempts an explanation by examining the sources and development of Marx's concept of the proletariat. It contends that this was not only a crucial element in Marx's theory but a significant departure in socialist thought. By examining this concept in detail, the book uncovers a major contradiction in Marxian thought: although the proletariat is assigned a momentous task, it is chiefly depicted as the class of suffering, which is why historically it has preferred security to enterprise. The Norton

History of the Human Sciences Roger Smith,1997 A comprehensive history of the human sciences: psychology, sociology, anthropology, economics, and political science, from their precursors in early human culture to the present. This erudite yet accessible volume, in Norton's highly praised History of Science series, tracks the long and circuitous path by which human beings came to see themselves and their societies as scientific subjects like any other. Beginning with the Renaissance's

rediscovery of Greek psychology political philosophy and ethics Roger Smith recounts how the human sciences gradually organized themselves around a scientific conception of psychology and how this trend has continued to the present day in a circle of interactions between science and ordinary life in which the human sciences have influenced and been influenced by popular culture

Africana Critical Theory Reiland Rabaka, 2009-01-16 Building on and going far beyond W E B Du Bois and the Problems of the Twenty First Century and Du Bois s Dialectics Reiland Rabaka s Africana Critical Theory innovatively identifies and analyzes continental and diasporan African contributions to classical and contemporary critical theory This book represents a climatic critical theoretical clincher that cogently demonstrates how Du Bois s rarely discussed dialectical thought interdisciplinarity intellectual history making radical political activism and world historical multiple liberation movement leadership helped to inaugurate a distinct Africana tradition of critical theory With chapters on W E B Du Bois C L R James Negritude Aime Cesaire and Leopold Senghor Frantz Fanon and Amilcar Cabral Africana Critical Theory endeavors to accessibly offer contemporary critical theorists an intellectual archaeology of the Africana tradition of critical theory and a much needed dialectical deconstruction and reconstruction of black radical politics These six seminal figures collective thought and texts clearly cuts across several disciplines and therefore closes the chasm between Africana Studies and critical theory constantly demanding that intellectuals not simply think deep thoughts develop new theories and theoretically support radical politics but be and constantly become political activists social organizers and cultural workers that is folk the Italian critical theorist Antonio Gramsci referred to as organic intellectuals In this sense then the series of studies gathered in Africana Critical Theory contribute not only to African Studies African American Studies Caribbean Studies Cultural Studies Gender Studies and Postcolonial Studies but also to contemporary critical theoretical discourse across an amazingly wide range of traditional disciplines and radical political activism outside of and in many instances absolutely against Europe s ivory towers and the absurdities of the American academe

Catholic Progressives in England after Vatican II Jay P. Corrin, 2013-11-30 In Catholic Progressives in England after Vatican II Jay P Corrin traces the evolution of Catholic social and theological thought from the end of World War II through the 1960s that culminated in Vatican Council II He focuses on the emergence of reformist thinking as represented by the Council and the corresponding responses triggered by the Church s failure to expand the promises or expectations of reform to the satisfaction of Catholics on the political left especially in Great Britain The resistance of the Roman Curia the clerical hierarchy and many conservative lay men and women to reform was challenged in 1960s England by a cohort of young Catholic intellectuals for whom the Council had not gone far enough to achieve what they believed was the central message of the social gospels namely the creation of a community of humanistic socialism This effort was spearheaded by members of the English Catholic New Left who launched a path breaking journal of ideas called Slant What made Slant revolutionary was its success in developing a coherent philosophy of revolution based on a synthesis of the New Theology fueling Vatican II and the New Left's Marxist critique of capitalism Although the English Catholic New Left failed to meet their revolutionary objectives their bold and imaginative efforts inspired many younger Catholics who had despaired of connecting their faith to contemporary social political and economic issues Corrin's analysis of the periodical and of such notable contributors as Terry Eagleton and Herbert McCabe explains the importance of Slant and its associated group within the context of twentieth century English Catholic liberal thought and action Politics and Society Michael Rush, 2014-06-06 First published in 1992 Rush and Althoff's An Introduction to Political Sociology was published in 1971 and has been out of print for some years In the meantime the scope of political sociology has broadened considerably and a number of its traditional concerns have benefited from further research and publication although some have suffered from relative neglect The present volume is not therefore a revised edition of the original book but a new and much more comprehensive piece of work covering a number of major themes not previously included Its purpose is to introduce students to the wide range of concepts themes and ideas now regarded as central to political sociology and to draw on the extensive research available

China's Search for Modernity He Ping, 2002-06-18 Twenty years after a return from fundamentalism to economic reality China has become the world's tenth largest economy and an increasingly important global power Despite the rise of fundamentalism and post modernism the pursuit of modernity was an ongoing historical movement in late twentieth century China He Ping focuses on China's quest for and experience of modernity Implicitly comparative the author discusses broad aspects of both Chinese and western civilizations including their scientific traditions and socio economic structures with reference to modernization He seeks to enhance our understanding of the cultural changes behind China's phenomenal rise and provides a fresh case study for the global cultural discourse

A Crisis of Waste? Martin O'Brien, 2012-11-12 This book takes a measured look at the crisis of waste in modern society and it does so historically sociologically and critically It tells stories about past and present crises of waste and puts them in their appropriate social and industrial contexts From Charles Dickens to Don DeLillo from the internal combustion engine to fish fingers from kitchen grease to the Tour de France this book digs deep into society's dust piles and emerges with untold treasures of the imagination Fantastic Reality Jack Conrad, 2012-06-02 Religion as defined by Marxism is fantastic reality Fantastic not in the trite sense that the claims religion makes about existence are verifiably untrue unreal or baseless but in the sense that nature and society are reflected in exaggerated form as leaping shadows as symbols or inversions So religion should not be dismissed as mere false consciousness Religion reflects something of the real but as Jack Conrad s book shows there is even more to it than that Religious ideas are not only determined by reality they can themselves become materially effective The ideas people have in their heads especially when mediated through institutions such as churches mosques and temples no matter how wrapped up in the godly and seemingly unrelated to the corporeal world impact on their surroundings Unfinished Leninism Paul Le Blanc,2014-06-17 A stimulating collection of essays on the revolutionary socialist Vladimir Lenin that survey fierce controversies over his life and ideas Central Asia, Security, and Strategic Imperatives Tabassum Firdous,2002 The present study offers an assessment of security concerns in Central Asia after the collapse of Soviet Union in 1991 It deals with the transition period for the five Central Asian States from the communist system to a democratic and pluralistic one Essentially the focus of the writer is on bilateral multilateral and international commitments of these States to ensure peace and security in the region The withdrawal of nuclear warheads from Kazakhstan collective security formula bilateral agreements and the role of the big powers all make an interesting study The author has discussed these concerns in the context of the stance of neighbouring States vis a vis Central Asia Economic interests also figure wherever necessary This work is highly useful to those who would like to concentrate on any aspect of history in Central Asia and adjoining regions in the post Soviet period Theorising Welfare Martin O'Brien,Sue Penna,1998-03-30 Theorising Welfare is very well written and painstakingly clear It is an accessible and original textbook on the welfare state and the idea of welfare There is nothing available like it in terms of its scope and intellectual sweep Scott Lash University of Lancaster There are many interpretations of welfare and welfare states each providing insights into different aspects of welfare and pointing to different possibilities for its future Theorising Welfare provides a guide to these debates through an examination of seven theoretical perspectives liberalism Marxism neo liberalism post structuralism political economy political ecology and postmodernism situating them within their historical and political contexts Communism Ferdinand Mount,1993-04-15 From the overthrow of the tsars until the sudden collapse of Soviet communism the most influential Western analysts have reflected on and debated the rise and fall of communism in the pages of the TLS The diverse opinions gathered in Communism A TLS Companion reflect the succession of Western attitudes to the birth growth and death of communism Contributors to this volume include Isaac Deutscher Eric Hobsbawm Richard Pipes Hugh Seton Watson Robert Conquest Geoffrey Hosking C M Woodhouse Max Hayward Leszek Kolakowski Timothy Garton Ash and many others of equal distinction The volume is arranged in four sections covering the period leading to the Russian Revolution the post Revolution era of Lenin Trotsky and Stalin the Soviet Union from World War II to 1968 and the final period of disillusionment and collapse
