Toni Morrison's A Mercy Shirley A. Stave, Justine Tally, 2011-08-08 Toni Morrison's ninth novel A Mercy has been received with much acclaim by both the critical and lay reading public Hailed as her best novel after the award-winning Beloved, most critics to date have concentrated on its setting in the late seventeenth century, a time in which, according to the author herself, slavery was pre-racial, a time before the Terrible Transformation irrevocably linked slavery to skin color or race Though a slender, easy-to-read novel, A Mercy is in fact a richly layered text full of multiple meanings and possibilities, a work of art that has only just begun to be mined for its critical import The present volume is the first to deal with these possibilities, presenting a variety of critical approaches that include narrative theory, the eco-critical, the geographical, the allegorical, the Miltonian, the feminist, the metaphorical, and the Lacanian As such, not only is it conceived to enrich the work of Morrison scholars and students, but also to illuminate the use of critical theory in elucidating a complex literary text A Mercy clamors for close reading and thoughtful interrogation and promises to reward the perceptive reader

Lifescapes Jeremy Burchardt, 2023-05-11 Why does landscape matter to us? We rarely articulate the often highly individual ways it can do so Drawing on eight remarkable unpublished diaries, Jeremy Burchardt demonstrates that responses to landscape in modern Britain were powerfully affected by personal circumstances, especially those experienced in childhood and youth Four major patterns are identified: Adherers, who valued landscape for its continuity; Withdrawers, who sought the refuge it provides from perceived threats; Restorers, who sought its sustaining of core value systems; and Explorers, who sought its opportunities for self-discovery and development Lifescapes sets out a new approach to landscape history based on comparative biography and deep contextualization, which has far-reaching implications It foregrounds family structures and relationships and the psychological dynamics they generate These, it is argued, were usually a more decisive presence in landscape encounters than wider cultural patterns and forces Seen in this way, landscape can be understood as a mirror reflecting our innermost selves and the psychosocial influences shaping our development This is a compelling and original study of the relationship between individual lives and landscapes

Emotion

Identity and Death Chang-Won Park, 2016-05-06 Death affects all aspects of life it touches our emotions and influences our identity Presenting a kaleidoscope of informative views of death dying and human response this book reveals how different disciplines contribute to understanding the theme of death Drawing together new and established scholars this is the first book among the studies of emotion that focuses on issues surrounding death and the first among death studies which focuses on the issue of emotion Themes explored include themes of grief in the ties that bind the living and the dead funerals public memorials and the art of consolation obituaries and issues of war and death row use of the internet in dying and grieving what people do with cremated remains new rituals of spiritual care in medical contexts themes bounded and expressed through music and more

Bodily Natures Stacy Alaimo, 2010-10-25 How do we understand the agency and significance of material forces and their interface with human bodies What does it mean to be human in these times with bodies that are inextricably interconnected with our physical world Bodily Natures considers these questions by grappling with powerful and pervasive material forces and their increasingly harmful effects on the human body Drawing on feminist theory environmental studies and the sciences Stacy Alaimo focuses on trans corporeality or movement across bodies and nature which has profoundly altered our sense of self By looking at a broad range of creative and philosophical writings Alaimo illuminates how science politics and culture collide while considering the closeness of the human body to the environment

Writing the Trail Deborah Lawrence, 2009-11 For a long time the American West was mainly identified with white masculinity but as more women s narratives of westward expansion came to light scholars revised purely patriarchal interpretations Writing the Trail continues in this vein by providing a comparative literary analysis of five frontier narratives Susan Magoffin s Down the Santa Fe Trail and into Mexico Sarah Royce s A Frontier Lady Louise Clappe s The Shirley Letters Eliza Farnham s California In doors and Out and Lydia Spencer Lane s I Married a Soldier to explore the ways in which women s responses to the western environment differed from men s Throughout their very different journeys from an eighteen year old bride and self styled wandering princess on the Santa Fe Trail to the mining camps of northern California to garrison life in the Southwest these women moved out of their traditional positions as objects of masculine culture Initially disoriented they soon began the complex process of assimilating to a new environment changing views of power and authority and making homes in wilderness conditions Because critics tend to consider nineteenth century women s writings as confirmations of home and stability they overlook aspects of women s textualizations of themselves that are dynamic and contingent on movement through space As the narratives in Writing the Trail illustrate women s frontier writings depict geographical spiritual and psychological movement By tracing the journeys of Magoffin Royce Clappe Farnham and Lane readers are exposed to the subversive strength of travel writing and come to a new understanding of gender roles on the nineteenth century frontier

The Bloomsbury Handbook to the Medical-Environmental Humanities Scott Slovic, Swarnalatha Rangarajan, Vidya Sarveswaran, 2022-07-28 Bringing together two parallel and occasionally intersecting disciplines the environmental and medical humanities this field defining handbook reveals our ecological predicament to be a simultaneous threat to human health The book Represents the first collection to bring the environmental humanities and medical humanities into conversation in a systematic way Features contributions from a wide range of interdisciplinary perspectives including literary studies environmental ethics and philosophy cultural history and sociology Adopts a truly global approach examining contexts including but not limited to North America the UK Africa Latin America South Asia Turkey and East Asia Touches on issues and approaches such as narrative medicine ecoprecarity toxicity mental health and contaminated environments Showcasing and surveying a rich spectrum of issues and methodologies this book looks not only at where research currently is at the intersection of these two important fields but also at where it is going William Wordsworth and the Ecology of Authorship Scott Hess,2012-04-12 In William Wordsworth and the Ecology of Authorship Scott Hess explores Wordsworth s defining role in establishing what he designates as the ecology of authorship a primarily middle class nineteenth century conception of nature associated with aesthetics high culture individualism and nation Instead of viewing Wordsworth as an early ecologist Hess places him within a context that is largely cultural and aesthetic The supposedly universal Wordsworthian vision of nature Hess argues was in this sense specifically male middle class professional and culturally elite factors that continue to shape the environmental movement today Life Writing in the Posthuman Anthropocene Ina Batzke,Lea Espinoza Garrido,Linda M. Hess,2022-01-01 Life Writing in the Posthuman Anthropocene is a timely collection of insightful contributions that negotiate how the genre of life writing traditionally tied to the human perspective and thus anthropocentric qua definition can provide adequate perspectives for an age of ecological disasters and global climate change The volume s eight chapters illustrate the aptness of life writing and life writing studies to critically reevaluate the role of the human vis vis non human others while remaining mindful of persisting inequalities between humans regarding who causes and who suffers damage in the Anthropocene age The authors in this collection not only expand the toolbox of life writing studies by engaging with critical insights from the fields of posthumanism and ecocriticism but in turn also enrich those fields by offering unique approaches to contemplate the responsibility of humans for as well as their relational existence in the posthuman Anthropocene Ecofeminism and the Indian Novel Sangita Patil,2019-07-08 Ecofeminism and the Indian Novel tests the theories of ecofeminism against the background of India s often different perceptions of environmental problems challenging the hegemony of Western culture in thinking about human problems This book moves beyond a simple application of the concepts of ecofeminism instead explaining the uniqueness of Indian novels as narratives of ecofeminism and how they can contribute to the development of the theory of ecofeminism In examining a selection of novels the author argues that Indian texts conceptualize the ecological crisis more as a human problem than as a gender problem The book proposes that we should think of ecofeminism as ecohumanism instead seeing human beings and nature as a part of a complex web Novels analysed within the text include Kamala Markandaya s Nectar in a Sieve 1954 Shivram Karanth's Return to Earth 2002 and Na D Souza's Dweepa 2013 Ecofeminism and the Indian Novel will be of great interest to students and scholars of ecofeminism ecocriticism ecological feminism environmental humanities gender studies ecological humanities feminist studies and Indian literature

Topographies of the Sacred Catherine E. Rigby, 2004 Although the British romantic poets notably Blake Wordsworth and Byron have been the subjects of previous ecocritical examinations this text compares English and German literary models of romanticism

The World in Which We Occur Neil W. Browne, 2007-10-31 Understanding our environment American philosopher John Dewey considered all human endeavors to be continuous with the natural world In his writings particularly Art as Experience 1934 Dewey insists on the primacy of the environment in aesthetic experience Dewey's conception of environment includes both the natural and the man made Neil Browne highlights this notion in order to define what he terms pragmatist ecology a practice rooted in the interface of the cultural and the natural which he finds to be a significant feature of some of the most important ecological writing of the last century To fully understand human involvement in the natural world Browne argues disciplinary boundaries must be opened up This is primarily important between the arts and science with profound implications for the practice of democracy The degradation of the physical environment and democratic decay for Browne are rooted in the same problem our persistent belief that humans are somehow separate from their physical environment Browne probes the work of a number of major American writers through the lens of Dewey's philosophy Among other texts he examines John Muir's My First Summer in the Sierra 1911 Sea of Cortez 1941 by John Steinbeck and Edward Ricketts Rachel Carson's three books about the sea Under the Sea Wind 1941 The Sea Around Us 1951 and The Edge of the Sea 1955 John Haines's The Stars the Snow the Fire 1989 Tarry Lopez's Arctic Dreams 1986 and Terry Tempest Williams's Refuge 1991 Together these texts with their combinations of scientific observation and personal meditation challenge the dichotomies to which we've become accustomed and affirm the values of a pragmatist ecology one in which ecological and democratic values go hand in hand

Unsettling Nature Taylor Eggan, 2022-03-24 The German poet and mystic Novalis once identified philosophy as a form of homesickness More than two centuries later as modernity's displacements continue to intensify we feel Novalis's homesickness more than ever Yet nowhere has a longing for home flourished more than in contemporary environmental thinking and particularly in eco phenomenology If only we can reestablish our sense of material enmeshment in nature so the logic goes we might reverse the degradation we humans have wrought and in saving the earth we can once again dwell in the nearness of our own being Unsettling Nature opens with a meditation on the trouble with such ecological homecoming narratives which bear a close resemblance to narratives of settler colonial homemaking Taylor Eggan demonstrates that the Heideggerian strain of eco phenomenology along with its well trod categories of home dwelling and world produces uncanny effects in settler colonial contexts He reads instances of nature s defamiliarization not merely as psychological phenomena but also as symptoms of the repressed consciousness of coloniality The book at once critiques Heidegger s phenomenology and brings it forward through chapters on Willa Cather D H Lawrence Olive Schreiner Doris Lessing and J M Coetzee Suggesting that alienation may in fact be natural to the human condition and hence something worth embracing instead of repressing Unsettling Nature concludes with a speculative proposal to transform eco phenomenology into exo phenomenology an experiential mode that engages deeply with the alterity of others and with the self as its own Other

Visions of the Land Michael A. Bryson, 2002 Bryson humanities Evelyn T Stone U College Roosevelt U discusses the connections between the representation of nature and the practice of science in America from the 1840s to the 1960s as presented in the texts of seven American writers John Charles Fremont Richard Byrd Charlotte Perkins Gilman John Wesley Powell Susan Cooper Rachel Carson and Loren Eiseley The author considers how various scientific perspectives have influenced environmental attitudes how selected writers of varied backgrounds scientific training and geographic experience have represented nature through a variety of natural sciences and the relations among science nature language and the human community Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Reclaiming Nostalgia Jennifer K. Ladino, 2012-12-24 Often thought of as the quintessential home or the Eden from which humanity has fallen the natural world has long been a popular object of nostalgic narratives In Reclaiming Nostalgia Jennifer Ladino assesses the ideological effects of this phenomenon by tracing its dominant forms in American literature and culture since the closing of the frontier in 1890 While referencing nostalgia for pastoral communities and for untamed and often violent frontiers she also highlights the ways in which nostalgia for nature has served as a mechanism for social change a model for ethical relationships and a motivating force for social and environmental justice
