Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry Nona Lyons, 2010-04-07. Philosophers have warned of the perils of a life spent without reflection but what constitutes reflective inquiry and why it is necessary in our lives can be an elusive concept. Synthesizing ideas from minds as diverse as John Dewey and Paulo Freire, the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry presents reflective thought in its most vital aspects not as a fanciful or nostalgic exercise but as a powerful means of seeing familiar events anew, encouraging critical thinking and crucial insight teaching and learning. In its opening pages, two seasoned educators, Maxine Greene and Lee Shulman, discuss reflective inquiry as a form of active attention. Thoreau's wide awakeness, an act of consciousness and a process by which people can understand themselves, their work, particularly in the form of life projects and others. Building on this foundation, the Handbook analyzes through the work of 40 internationally oriented authors. Definitional issues concerning reflection: what it is and is not. Worldwide social and moral conditions contributing to the growing interest in reflective inquiry in professional education. Reflection as promoted across professional educational domains including K-12 education, teacher education, occupational therapy, and the law. Methods of facilitating and scaffolding reflective engagement. Current pedagogical and research practices in reflection. Approaches to assessing reflective inquiry. Educators across the professions as well as adult educators, counselors, and psychologists and curriculum developers concerned with adult learning will find the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry an invaluable teaching tool for challenging times.

Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher

Researchers Bernie Sullivan, Máirín Glenn, Mary Roche, Caitriona McDonagh, 2016-04-28. Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers provides crucial direction for educators looking to improve their teaching and maximise learning. While many students can grasp the basic elements of researching their practice and can write about practitioner research, some need guidance and assistance to reflect meaningfully on their teaching practice so as to articulate their educational values. This book provides this guidance. By exploring how to engage in an authentic, practical and personalised framework, the book encourages critical reflection and action on educational practice. Moving through the process of reflecting on practice, engaging in critical thinking and planning and taking action, it helps the reader to subsequently generate educational theory from their own personal learning. Examples from the authors' experiences illustrate the issues raised in each section with Pause and Reflect activities, guidelines for conducting a research project and annotated further reading available for every chapter. Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers is based on the idea that reflection is in itself a deliberate action and something we must live; it is key to understanding our practice and is a core component of action research This book is a valuable guide for teachers trainee teachers and researchers interested in reflecting on and enhancing their teaching practice

Andrew Furco University of Minnesota

Pursuit of Liberation conceived and written during tumultuous times in the United States offers hope for the possibility of social justice and liberation in educational spaces The modern day brutal lynching of George Floyd an African American man by a white police officer and the COVID 19 pandemic revealed the horridness and inhumanity of a country that advertises itself as a beacon of equity and inclusion This volume is a reminder that social justice and liberation require vigilance The editors Professors Nemeth and Patterson persuade us to understand that the work of inclusion and liberation in education is complex multidisciplinary continuous and iterative Most importantly they convincingly assert that communities and educational institutions need to take bold steps toward a more just hopeful and loving world through critical service learning
