Explore an in-depth and insightful collection of resources discussing various aspects of root structure and function in intensive agricultural systems. The Root Systems in Sustainable Agricultural Intensification delivers a comprehensive treatment of state-of-the-art concepts in the theoretical and practical aspects of agricultural management to enhance root system architecture and function. The book emphasizes the agricultural measures that enhance root capacity to develop and function under a range of water and nutrient regimes to maximize food feed and fibre production as well as minimize undesirable water and nutrient losses to the environment. This reference includes resources that discuss a variety of soil plant agronomy, farming system, breeding, molecular and modelling aspects to the subject. It also discusses strategies and mechanisms that underpin increased water and nutrient use efficiency and combines consideration of natural and agricultural systems to show the continuity of traits and mechanisms. Finally, the book explores issues related to the global economy as well as widespread social issues that arise from or are underpinned by agricultural intensification. Readers will also benefit from the inclusion of: A thorough introduction to sustainable intensification including its meaning, the need for the technology components and the role of root systems; Exploration of the dynamics of root systems in crop and pasture genotypes over the last 100 years; Discussion of the interplay between root structure and function with soil microbiome in enhancing efficiency of nitrogen and phosphorus acquisition; Evaluation of water uptake in drying soil including balancing supply and demand. Secretions and Exudates in Biological Systems Jorge M. Vivanco, František Baluška, 2012-01-20. Secretions and emissions in biological systems play important signaling roles within the organism but also in its communications with the surrounding environment. This volume brings together state-of-the-art information on the role of secretions and emissions in different organs and organisms ranging from flowers and roots of plants to nematodes and human organs. The plant chapters relate information regarding the biochemistry of flower volatiles and root exudates and their role in attracting pollinators and soil microbial communities respectively. Microbial chapters explain the biochemistry and ecology of quorum sensing and how microbial communities highly co-adapted to plants can aid in bio-energy applications by degrading ligno-cellulosic materials. Other chapters explain the biology of secretions by nematodes, algae and humans among other organisms.

This volume will be a welcome addition to the literature as no other book covers aspects related to biological secretion in such a holistic and integrative manner Gardeners' Chronicle ,1866 The Rotarian ,1940-04 Established in 1911 The Rotarian is the official magazine of Rotary International and is circulated worldwide Each issue contains feature articles columns and departments about or of interest to Rotarians Seventeen Nobel Prize winners and 19 Pulitzer Prize winners from Mahatma Ghandi to Kurt Vonnegut Jr have written for the magazine
