Kings and Sages S. Beck L. S. Beck,L. S. Beck,2010-02 On a hot summer day in Arkansas in 1953 ten year old Annie Marcus is intent on nothing else but scraping a tick off her skin when she receives the scare of her life Suddenly she is looking into the eyes of Be More Happy an old hermit that lives deep in the woods Frightening stories have circulated among Annie's ten friends for a long time about the hermit with long white hair who supposedly has no tongue but when Annie notices his eyes are like two big black sad holes in his head she ignores the mystery surrounding the old man and strikes up a conversation As time goes on and Be More Happy begins offering gentle advice and a strong shoulder to cry on Annie realizes that despite opposition from other children she needs to bring Be More Happy into their circle of friends As the children all learn to accept others face the tragedy of death and understand the importance of fulfilling dreams Be More Happy teaches them all a lifelong lesson they will never forget Hindsight Donna Balfe,2001-06-21 In Hindsight Carla Whitewater daughter of a WWII veteran blinded while serving as a pilot tries to understand the background and events that led to the precipitous end of her childhood Carla's memories conjectures and family stories are interrupted periodically by conversations with her late father's irreverent insistent and outspoken glass eye Like soldiers throughout history Carter Whitewater bore the epigraph of war on both body and spirit Courage and determination helped him overcome his disability and with extraordinary intelligence humor and wit he initially appeared to be managing the difficult emotional and psychological realm of blindness In reality he increasingly used the anesthetizing effect of alcohol to subjugate his underlying anger and resentment about his situation Cycles of elation and hope followed by despair and uncertainty were the continuing pattern of his life and consequently that of his family Beyond the Margins Linda A. Bell,2012-02-01 Presenting essays rich with her own personal experiences philosopher Linda A Bell examines not only her own life but also problems arising from ways that living affects thinking She reflects on her own experience in order to challenge a variety of provocative claims including that affirmative action harms those it is designed to help that suicide while perhaps acceptable for some with fatal diseases is otherwise a manifestation of mental illness that women are to blame for male violence toward them if they don't leave the relationships that a low profile is the best path to success for women in academe that women are treated fairly in academe perhaps even better than men and that political correctness is a recent and aberrant move away from respect for freedom of speech Although drawing from experience as she creates and critiques theory Bell argues against the view that it is the bedrock of theory Here First Arnold Krupat,Brian Swann,2000-06-13 Here First is an important new collection of essays by Native American writers compiled by Arnold Krupat and Brian Swann the editors of I Tell You Now Autobiographical Essays by Native American Writers In Here First authors such as Sherman Alexie Greg Sarris and Elizabeth Woody tell the stories of their lives and their art Each essay demonstrates the breadth of experience of twenty seven individuals united in the creative expression of a Native American heritage Each has a different relation to that heritage and in describing it through personal and family history with verse and in anecdotes the writers give a strong image of the different cultures that have shaped them This is living history and the kind of collective memoir that makes for fascinating and rewarding reading one of the most vivid and diverse portraits of Native American culture available today
