Smart Business Systems for the Optimized Organization Robert J. Thierauf, James J. Hootor, 2002-12-30 One of the first books to probe the latest direction in computing technology Thierauf's and Hootor's innovative text explores ways in which smart business systems can help pick the best most optimal or near optimal solutions from among hundreds even thousands of possibilities that threaten to swamp organizational decision makers daily Authors make clear that while past information systems have focused on generating information that is helpful in the production of knowledge over time smart business systems utilizing optimizing techniques can do it quickly more efficiently and in ways that can raise organizations to higher levels of competitiveness Well illustrated with examples and discussions of typical applications in such areas as strategic planning marketing manufacturing and accounting the book will help managers at all levels tie their organization's critical success factors into its key performance indicators and financial ratios The result is a win-win situation within your company's complex of competing needs and goals and a way to produce directly and immediately measurable benefits on the bottom line The book is designed for company managers and other decision makers and for information systems professionals It provides understanding of one of the most important developments in systems decision making and how these smart business systems are constructed It is also suitable in an academic environment specifically in undergraduate and graduate courses that cover the fundamentals of smart business systems and which give special emphasis to optimization models The authors explain that enterprise resource planning and supply chain management vendors include optimization algorithms in their products and that their book will make software optimization more accessible to developers of business systems Although optimization is undoubtedly a complicated subject Thierauf and Hootor go a long way toward simplifying it In doing so they enhance its value as an important tool for decision makers in almost all organizational capacities

On-line Analytical Processing Systems for Business Robert J. Thierauf, 1997-09-30 On-line analytical processing OLAP is clearly a new approach to information system technology offering a much needed way to make informed decisions better and faster One of its most important characteristics is multidimensional analysis analysis that goes beyond the conventional two-dimensional analysis and provides users with rapid retrieval of data from organizational databases data warehouses or both Not only that but most importantly says Dr Thierauf it allows users to look at different dimensions of the same data thus enabling them to do analyses across departmental and even corporate boundaries How it works and OLAP's many benefits to aid users in the public and private sectors is spelled out here comprehensively yet concisely and with the author's customary well-developed examples and clear prose His book will be important reading for people at all levels of management and in all types of organizations Another way of viewing OLAP is getting a typical company out of the custom report writing business and into the data cube server building business An OLAP data structure can be thought of as a Rubik's Cube of data that users can twist and twirl in different ways to work through what if and what happened scenarios to get at the whys of the situation Within an OLAP environment the focus is on performing dictionary definition and maintenance as well as mapping flat files or relational columns to dimensions and measures Although this may sound like a lot of work managing one data cube is more efficient than writing a number of custom reports Currently some vendors provide administrative tools to get the data into the cubes in the first place in the proper form and on a regular basis Hence the job of managing data has been simplified for users
