Marriage Lost And Found:

Lost and Found Paul Florsheim, David Moore, 2020-01-02 Over the past six decades there have been dramatic changes in the dynamics of family life in the United States Today about half of all babies born to mothers under the age of 25 will not live with their fathers for much of their childhood From the perspective of many social scientists and politicians this change has wreaked havoc on society by trapping women and children in poverty and loosening the civilizing bond between men and their families But what is causing the phenomenon Some place blame at the feet of the young men themselves together with eroding cultural and family values Others point to systemic failures in our economy or social support programs Rather than assign blame the first goal of Lost and Found is to tell the stories of young men as they struggle with varying degrees of success to become fathers The second goal is to outline a strategy for helping young fathers remain constructively involved with their partners and children Drawing from their research with over 1 000 young parents in Chicago and Salt Lake City Paul Florsheim and David Moore focus on a group of about 20 young fathers whose stories conveyed in their own words help the reader make sense of what is happening to fatherhood in America Having interviewed young fathers and their partners before and after their children were born these accounts provide a dynamic perspective on the development of young men and their relationships Young mothers the partners of these young men both corroborate and sometimes offer alternative or contradictory perspectives Oriented to undo stereotypes the authors introduce the notion of good enough fathering tempering the tendency to think simply in terms of good or bad fathers They go on to provide concrete recommendations for strengthening fathers roles and helping young fathers and mothers create stable home environments for their children whether the parents are together or not

Lost and Found Srishti Bagh, 2021-02-26 Lost and Found is a collection of poems short stories and open letters written by emerging authors from all over India Every writer has inked their own views in a way that you ll feel inspired happy and also experience the impact of words on human emotions A pen is mightier than the sword This anthology best describes this phrase as our co authors have used their power of communicating with words to express their fantasies and imaginations The main reason behind the publication of this book is to create love and awareness towards English Literature in our new generation and to provide a platform for all budding writers to showcase their talent

Marriage Lost and Found Trish Wylie, 2005 Lost and Found Joana Okudzeto Biekro, 2018-08-06 Through the twists and turns of life author Joana Okudzeto Biekro has been overwhelmed by the amazing grace of God In Lost and Found she offers her love story with God a documentation of Gods goodness in the simple life of an African child from Ghana Narrating a story of adversity and triumph Joana shares the challenges she and her family faced including losing her father when she was just three years old From near death situations to dealing with a learning disability she tells how the grace of God guided her and sent the right people into her life at the right times She shares the story of how she became lost in her journey from Africa to the United States but found her way through her relationship with God A wake up call for the salvation of souls Lost and Found unravels the amazing saving grace of God from a place of death to one of life from a place of being lost to a place of being found

Lost and Found John James Kennedy, Yaojiang Shi, 2019-05-10 In 1979 the Chinese government famously introduced The Single Child Policy to control population growth Nearly 40 years later the result is an estimated 20 million missing girls in the population from 1980 2010 In Lost and Found John James Kennedy and Yaojiang Shi focus on village level implementation of the one child policy and the level of mutual noncompliance between officials and rural families Through in depth interviews with rural parents and local leaders they reveal that many had strong incentives not to comply with the birth control policy because larger families meant increased labor and income In this sober exploration of China's Single Child Policy throughout the reform period the authors more broadly show how governance by grassroots cadres with greater local autonomy has affected China in the past and the challenges for resolving center versus locality contradictions in governance that lie ahead

Lost and Found Judith Masson, Christine Harrison, Annie Pavlovic, 2019-08-08 First published in 1999 this volume is a collection of essays focused on the theme of partnership with parents in social work practice with children and families It covers issues relating to the quality of care and preparation for aftercare particularly children's identity needs and preparation for life after care which are highlighted in the Quality Protects programme It developed from an action research project funded by the Joseph Rowntree Foundation and conducted by the editors at Warwick University between 1993 and 1996 Through teaching activities associated with the implementation of the Children Act 1989 the editors became aware that there were many parents who had lost contact with both their child and their child's social workers after their child had entered the care system These were the lost parents of the study Partnership with parents has become an integral part of social work with children and families living together or apart Inevitably it concerns many other people involved in the care of children and providing advice to individuals Partnership permeates all aspects of relationships between parents children and those providing care in place of parents Consequently the issues discussed in this book are of relevance to all those working directly or indirectly with children parents and other relatives Amongst these are social workers family placement workers carers and residential workers team managers and policy makers in local authority social services departments guardians ad litem court welfare officers and lawyers acting for children or parents children's rights officers and advisers working in voluntary agencies which support families and children
