Aestheticism and the Marriage Market in Victorian Popular Fiction Kirby-Jane Hallum, 2015-10-06 Based on close readings of five Victorian novels Hallum presents an original study of the interaction between popular fiction the marriage market and the aesthetic movement She uses the texts to trace the development of aestheticism examining the differences between the authors including their approach style and gender The Modern Marriage Market Marie Corelli, The Marriage Mart Elizabeth Chater, 1983 Now That We Are All Mad Shanaya Stephens, 2024-12-31 In this unflinching and darkly comedic collection Now That We Are All Mad Shanaya Stephens unleashes a torrent of provocative poems that lay bare the absurdities and agonies of modern life With razor sharp wit and unsettling candor these poems dissect the toxic relationships societal expectations and existential crises that drive us all to the brink of madness Unapologetic incisive and strangely exhilarating Now that we are all mad is a poetry collection for the disillusioned and the disenfranchised and for anyone who's ever felt like they're losing their grip on reality Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France Andrea Mansker, 2024-12-15 Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France uncovers the unexplored history of matrimonial agents their novel marketing tactics and the rise of personal advertisements to track the commercialization of marriage in nineteenth century France Brokers transformed courtship and marriage into forms of commercial exchange linking them to the burgeoning urban values of abundance pleasure and social mobility By studying agents and readers media fictions on love alongside court cases legislation and literature surrounding the industry Andrea Mansker reveals the intimate and socioeconomic pressures of finding a spouse At the same time she demonstrates how contemporaries used the business of matrimony to reimagine their public identities relationships and courtship rituals following unprecedented historical change due to the French Revolution and Napoleonic wars The matchmaking business both responded to and helped shape national anxieties over fluctuating nuptial rates and changing laws on marriage and divorce As a result marriage itself was reconceived as a commercial contract inseparable from the atomistic and corrupt marketplace The debates and pressures Mansker describes in Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France are still relevant today As contemporary online daters likely understand the possibility of finding a mate in an

The Royal Marriage Market of Europe Princess Catherine Radziwill, 1915 The Marriage Mart Norma Lee Clark, 1984
Georgina upsets the expectations of her parents, sister and new husband when she makes it clear she has her own expectations for the marriage The Duke of Seduction Darcy Burke, 2018
Lady Lavinia Gillingham prefers rocks and dirt to marriage. Her passion is science and she's determined to marry if and only if she finds a man who supports her interests and intellect. So far she's managed to avoid attention on the Marriage Mart but when the Duke of Seduction pens anonymous letters singing her praises she suddenly becomes the toast of the ton and matrimony seems imminent. William Beckett Marquess of Northam possesses the reputation of a rake but is secretly a romantic. Spurned at sixteen and knowing his sister was victimized by Society he uses music and poetry to fill the void in his soul. As the Duke of Seduction he uses his skill to help Lavinia, never anticipating she has no desire for assistance or that she could be the balm he needs. But when she's on the verge of becoming engaged can Beck beat back the shadows of the past and open his heart again Bath and Beyond
Hillary Burlock, Robin Eagles, Tatjana LeBoff, 2025-04-16
This book re-examines spa and assembly culture as key venues for sociability in the eighteenth century. Focused chiefly on the eighteenth century, this book looks forward into the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. While many of the chapters concern aspects of the city of Bath, the book stretches beyond Bath's confines, taking in comparative British towns such as Tunbridge Wells, European spa towns such as Nice, and the impact Bath had on spa towns in America. The chapters not only reconsider familiar themes such as the marriage market but also offer new insights into the architectural development of the city and the role of Masters of Ceremonies, the officials who oversaw Assembly Rooms, rules and culture. There are also insights into the musical culture of spa towns and the varied backgrounds of the artists and performers. As places that attracted the wealthy and powerful, the book rounds off with consideration of Bath and other spa towns' importance as centres of culture and diplomacy and of their place in the tourist industry. This accessibly written book appeals to a broad readership, including undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as academics and informed non-specialists interested in social and cultural history, British history and modern history.

to trade and welfare policy makers world wide Gender Imbalance and Marriage Squeeze in China Quanbao Jiang, Shuzhuo Li, 2024-08-21 This book presents a comprehensive analysis of China's imbalanced sex ratio at birth and marriage market and the implications of these phenomena for population development and families. China's persistently high sex ratio at birth (SRB) since the early 1980s has led to serious gender imbalance and male marriage squeeze. After examining the quality of existing data on SRB, the authors provide their estimates of the sex selective abortion rate, describe the trends and geographical patterns in SRB, and disaggregate changes in SRB by birth order and province. Special attention is given to the number and proportion of missing girls between 1980 and 2010. Based on the quantitative analyses, the book projects the implications of the severe gender imbalance for China's population development and the future dynamics of the marriage market, including trends in age at first marriage, the proportion of never married, the age structure of surplus males, and the life cycle of bare branch families. The book will appeal to scholars and students of demography, sociology, and China studies, especially those interested in China's population and contemporary society.

National and English Review, 1897 The National Review, 1897 Population and Labour Market Policies in China's Reform Process Sun Wenkai, 2022-05-05 This book investigates the population and labour management reforms implemented since the reform and opening up of China in the early 1980s, giving insights into the economic and social implications of these reforms and future prospects for population governance. The study examines three major components of China's population management strategy in terms of its history and implementation: the household registration (Hukou) system, family planning policy, and the labour market system. Grounded in both qualitative and quantitative analysis, key metrics are introduced to better understand the Hukou system on the one hand, while exploring the socio-economic issues arising from the policy, including the economic behaviour or residents' fertility, care of older people, entrepreneurship, institutional premiums, and gender wage differentials. Based on these investigations, the author advances constructive suggestions to inform policymaking, aiming to deepen market-oriented reform of the economic system and improve social welfare in China. The title will be a good reference for academics, students, and policy makers interested in social policy, labour economics, and especially China's population and labour policy.
