Diseases of Globalization Christine McMurray, Roy Smith, 2013-10-11 The emergence of a global economy has led to the erosion of local autonomy and national sovereignty with an associated emphasis on the spread of liberal free market economics A clear divide is appearing between those benefiting from and those disadvantaged by this process Among the most important consequences are changes in the patterns of health and the prevalence of disease While infant mortality is declining in most countries and many formerly prevalent diseases are being successfully tackled the move from subsistence to cash economies brings with it changes in diet alcohol consumption and high levels of smoking with the result that non communicable lifestyle illnesses such as heart disease and diabetes are spreading rapidly Similarly growing divisions of wealth add to the problem bringing diseases relating to poverty and malnourishment as well as those caused by affluence and over consumption Issues covered in this book include equitable and sustainable modernization the determinants of health the process of marginalization and survival strategies on the periphery The authors draw on primary case study material largely from societies in the Pacific region undergoing modernization to provide invaluable information for tracking and assessing the full impacts of these changes

Climate Change and Tradition in a Small Island State Peter Rudiak-Gould, 2013-07-18 The citizens of the Marshall Islands have been told that climate change will doom their country and they have seen confirmatory omens in the land air and sea This book investigates how grassroots Marshallese society has interpreted and responded to this threat as intimated by local observation science communication and Biblical exegesis With grounds to dismiss or ignore the threat Marshall Islanders have instead embraced it with reasons to forswear guilt and responsibility they have instead adopted in group blame and having been instructed that resettlement is necessary they have vowed instead to retain the homeland These dominant local responses can be understood as arising from a pre existing vigorous constellation of Marshallese ideas termed modernity the trickster a historically inspired narrative of self inflicted cultural decline and seduction by Euro American modernity This study illuminates islander agency at the intersection of the local and the global and suggests a theory of risk perception based on ideological commitment to narratives of historical progress and decline
