Women at the Front

Jane E. Schultz,2005-12-15 As many as 20 000 women worked in Union and Confederate hospitals during America s bloodiest war Black and white and from various social classes these women served as nurses administrators matrons seamstresses cooks laundresses and custodial workers Jane E Schultz provides the first full history of these female relief workers showing how the domestic and military arenas merged in Civil War America blurring the line between homefront and battlefield Schultz uses government records private manuscripts and published sources by and about women hospital workers some of whom are familiar such as Dorothea Dix Clara Barton Louisa May Alcott and Sojourner Truth but most of whom are not well known Examining the lives and legacies of these women Schultz considers who they were how they became involved in wartime hospital work how they adjusted to it and how they challenged it She demonstrates that class race and gender roles linked female workers with soldiers both black and white but became sites of conflict between the women and doctors and even among themselves Schultz also explores the women s postwar lives their professional and domestic choices their pursuit of pensions and their memorials to the war in published narratives Surprisingly few parlayed their war experience into postwar medical work and their extremely varied postwar experiences Schultz argues defy any simple narrative of pre professionalism triumphalism or conciliation
