The Woman Question in Nineteenth-Century English, German and Russian Literature Kathryn L. Ambrose, 2015-09-29 Kathryn Ambrose offers a new approach to the Woman Question in mid to late nineteenth century English German and Russian literature Using a methodological framework based on feminist theory and post structuralism she provides a revision of canonical texts such as Jane Eyre Wuthering Heights Middlemarch Effi Briest Fathers and Children and Anna Karenina alongside lesser known works by Emily and Charlotte Bront George Eliot Theodor Storm Theodor Fontane Ivan Turgenev and Leo Tolstoy Her exploration of the semiotics of barriers as opposed to the established approach of the semiotics of space makes for a rewarding reading of this period of literature and establishes new cross cultural and literary connections between the three countries

Women in Nineteenth-Century Europe Rachel Fuchs, Victoria E. Thompson, 2004-11-21 During the nineteenth century European women of all countries and social classes experienced dramatic and enduring changes in their familial working and political lives However the history of women at this time is not one of unmitigated progress theirs was an uphill struggle fraught with hindrances hard work and economic downturns and the increasing intrusion of the public into their innermost private and personal lives Breaking away from traditional categories Rachel G Fuchs and Victoria E Thompson provide a sense of the variety and complexity of women s lives across national and regional boundaries juxtaposing the experiences of women with the perceptions of their lives Three themes unite this study The tension between tradition and modernity The changing relationship between the community and individual The shifting boundaries between public and private Dealing with individual women s lives within a large social and cultural context Fuchs and Thompson demonstrate how strong and courageous women refused to live within the prescribed domestic roles and how many became the modern women of the twentieth century

Born to Write Neil Kenny, 2020-02-27 It is easy to forget how deeply embedded in social hierarchy was the literature and learning that has come down to us from the early modern European world From fiction to philosophy from poetry to history works of all kinds emerged from and through the social hierarchy that was a fundamental fact of everyday life Paying attention to it changes how we might understand and interpret the works themselves whether canonical and familiar or largely forgotten But a second related fact is much overlooked too works also often emanated from families not just from individuals Families were driving forces in the production that is in the composing editing translating or publishing of countless works Relatives collaborated with each other edited each other or continued the unfinished works of deceased family members some imitated or were inspired by the works of long dead relatives The reason why this second fact about families is connected to the first about social hierarchy is that families were in the period a basic social medium through which social status was claimed maintained threatened or lost So producing literary works was one of the many ways in which families claimed their place in the social world The process was however often fraught difficult or disappointing If families created works as a form of socio cultural legacy that might continue to benefit their future members not all members benefited equally women sometimes produced or claimed the legacy for themselves but they were often sidelined from it Relatives sometimes disagreed bitterly about family history identity not least religious and so about the picture of themselves and their family that they wished to project more widely in society through their written works whether printed or manuscript So although family was a fundamental social medium out of which so many works emerged that process could be conflictual as well as harmonious The intertwined role of family and social hierarchy within literary production is explored in this book through the case of France from the late fifteenth to the mid seventeenth century Some families are studied here in detail such as that of the most widely read French poet of the age Cl ment Marot But the extent of this phenomenon is quantified too some two hundred families are identified as each containing more than one literary producer and in the case of one family an extraordinary twenty seven

Transformations of Domesticity in Modern Women's Writing T. Foster, 2002-11-05 Transformations of Domesticity in Modern Women's Writing makes new connections between feminist criticism of domestic ideology in the nineteenth century modernist women's experiments with literary form contemporary feminist debates about the politics of location and postmodern theories of social space The book identifies a coherent transition of women's writing that transforms domestic ideologies of woman's place by redefining the ideas about space that underlie that ideology The result is to open the space of gender identity to new relations of class and race

French Women and the Empire Marie-Paule Ha, 2014 The first book length investigation of colonial gender politics in Third Republic France using Indochina as a case study charts women's experiences and activities to reveal a transformation in French views of empire from colonial life as an exclusively male preserve to one where women's presence was seen as essential

The Writings ... Anne Thackeray Ritchie, 1870 Affective Circuits Jennifer Cole, Christian Groes, 2016-11-25 The influx of African migrants into Europe in recent years has raised important issues about changing labor economies new technologies of border control and the effects of armed conflict But attention to such broad questions often obscures a fundamental fact of migration its effects on ordinary life Affective Circuits brings together essays by an international group of well known anthropologists to place the migrant family front and center Moving between Africa and Europe the book explores the many ways migrants sustain and rework family ties and intimate relationships at home and abroad It demonstrates how their quotidian efforts on such a mass scale contribute to a broader process of social regeneration The contributors point to the intersecting streams of goods people ideas and money as they circulate between African migrants and their kin who remain back home They also show the complex ways that emotions become entangled in these exchanges Examining how these circuits operate in domains of social life ranging from child fosterage to binational marriages from coming of age to healing and religious rituals the book also registers the tremendous impact of state officials laws and policies on migrant experience Together these essays paint an especially vivid portrait of new forms of kinship at a time of both intense mobility and ever tightening borders The Volta Review, 1910 Germaine Dulac Maryann De Julio, 2022-08-02 One of the few women pioneers of cinema and a committed feminist Germaine Dulac strongly believed that the public had a role to play in shaping the history of cinema and the kinds of films that filmmakers could make This book draws on a wealth of archival material both films and writing to study Dulac s behind the scenes work on filmmaking and her social political activism in the field of cinema The biographical and historical introduction contextualises Dulac s situation at the heart of the avant garde Three chapters organise her films and career around the kinds of cinema that she promoted psychological pure and documentary The conclusion contrasts Dulac s contributions with those of Alice Guy Blach another early woman film pioneer highlighting their differing paths to recognition Remaking Dixie: The Impact of World War II on the American South McMillen, Neil R., 1997 A Close Ring, Or, Episodes in the Life of a French Family Matilda Betham-Edwards, 1907 The Glittering Strand Judith Lennox, 2015-04-09 A desperate fight for her birthright and freedom Spiced with the colour and sensuous splendour of the sixteenth century silk trade Judith Lennox s The Glittering Strand is the triumphant story of a young woman s fight for independence Perfect for fans of Rachel Hore and Kate Morton Serafina Guardi and her father a wealthy silk merchant from Marseilles are sailing to Italy to celebrate her betrothal when their ship is captured by Barbary corsairs Serafina finds herself plunged into the unknown brutal world of the North African slave states From there she begins the long struggle to free herself from servitude Serafina s wit and beauty are tempered by her ruthlessness a ruthlessness which eventually threatens to lose her both her lover and her child Embattled by the prejudices of the age and by the ambitions of her treacherous cousin Angelo Serafina fights against poverty loneliness and despair vowing to regain her lost inheritance the Guardi silk house at whatever cost What readers are saying about Judith Lennox Ideal escapism Judith Lennox is the ultimate storyteller her stories are compelling and beautifully descriptive of both characters and feelings Judith Lennox s characters are marvellously drawn and their lives draw the reader totally into the story The Writings of Anne Isabella Thackeray Anne Thackeray Ritchie, 1870 Short Voyages to the Land of the People Jacques Rancière, 2003 This work reads a series of texts and journeys across class lines and shows how the image of the people functions in them as a point of reference unto which the observer projects a conceptual framework based on the observer's own circumstances Historical Women on Television Karen A. Romanko, 2025-09-12 Queen Victoria in Bewitched Harriet Tubman in Timeless Amelia Earhart in Star Trek Voyager Historical women appear regularly in televised period dramas and biopics but sometimes they also turn up in the strangest places transported to worlds future or past via space operas sitcoms and time travel series This book covers 120 historical women on scripted television shining a light on the representation of women in history through their representation on the small screen The inspiring fascinating and sometimes heartbreaking stories of these women come to life in this book's entries which sort fact from televised fiction but also serve as a starting point for further investigation by TV fans history buffs students teachers and scholars Women

Wartime Spies Ann Kramer, 2012-07-12 A thrilling challenging and educational book examines the roles of spies such as Edith Cavell Mata Hari Violette Szabo and Noor Inayat Khan Pennant Magazine Women spies have rarely received the recognition they deserve They have often been trivialized and in cinema and popular fiction stereotyped as vamps or dupes The reality is very different As spies women have played a critical role during wartime receiving and passing on vital information frequently at considerable risk Often able to blend into their background more easily than their male counterparts women have worked as couriers transmitters and with resistance fighters their achievements often unknown Many have died Ann Kramer describes the role of women spies during wartime with particular reference to the two world wars She looks at why some women chose to become spies their motives and backgrounds She looks at the experience of women spies during wartime what training they received and what skills they needed She examines the reality of life for a woman spy operating behind enemy lines and explores and explodes the myths about women spies that continue until the present day The focus is mainly on Britain but also takes an international view as appropriate Tells the often surprising stories of some of the women who chose to become spies and to serve their country An excellent work The Great War Magazine The Cure Within: A History of Mind-Body Medicine Anne Harrington, 2009-02-16 A splendid history of mind body medicine a book that desperately needed to be written Jerome Groopman New York Times Is stress a deadly disease on the rise in modern society Can mind body practices from the East help us become well When it comes to healing we believe we must look beyond doctors and drugs we must look within ourselves Faith relationships and attitude matter But why do we believe such things From psychoanalysis to the placebo effect to meditation this vibrant cultural history describes mind body healing as rooted in a patchwork of stories allowing us to make new sense of our suffering and to rationalize new treatments and lifestyles
