Equivocal Beings Claudia L. Johnson, 2009-03-09 In the wake of the French Revolution Edmund Burke argued that civil order depended upon nurturing the sensibility of men upon the masculine cultivation of traditionally feminine qualities such as sentiment tenderness veneration awe gratitude and even prejudice Writers as diverse as Sterne Goldsmith Burke and Rousseau were politically motivated to represent authority figures as men of feeling but denied women comparable authority by representing their feelings as inferior pathological or criminal Focusing on Mary Wollstonecraft Ann Radcliffe Frances Burney and Jane Austen whose popular works culminate and assail this tradition Claudia L Johnson examines the legacy male sentimentality left for women of various political persuasions Demonstrating the interrelationships among politics gender and feeling in the fiction of this period Johnson provides detailed readings of Wollstonecraft Radcliffe and Burney and treats the qualities that were once thought to mar their work grotesqueness strain and excess as indices of ideological conflict and as strategies of representation during a period of profound political conflict She maintains that the reactionary reassertion of male sentimentality as a political duty displaced customary gender roles rendering women in Wollstonecraft s words equivocal beings The Encyclopædia Britannica ,1894 Founded in Fiction Thomas Koenigs,2024-11-26 This monograph presents a new history of early American literature that traces the diverse forms of fiction circulating in the early United States 1789 1861 and how they shaped the way Americans thought and argued about political and cultural issues of their age
