International Handbook of Neuropsychological Rehabilitation Anne-Lise Christensen,Barbara P. Uzzell,2013-04-17 I am extraordinarily pleased to have been asked by Drs Christensen and Uzzell to write the foreword for this handbook This handbook is the result of the most recent of a series of conferences held in Copenhagen Denmark at five year intervals over the past 15 years under the guidance and leadership of Dr Anne Lise Christensen and under the sponsorship of the Egmont Foundation which must be acknowledged as well for its constant support of this international effort. The participants in these conferences are all internationally renowned clinicians and scientists. These experts represent not only the area of neuropsychology but disciplines ranging from fundamental neurophysiology and neuroanatomy to medical and financial perspectives on neurological injury and recovery. The participants have to a significant extent remained remarkably constant over this period and this has allowed increasing intimacy among them both professionally and personally. One felicitous result of this camaraderie has been that the conferences have evolved with an increased focus on topics of the broadest interest across disciplines. One aspect of such a continuing dialogue across disciplines is that specific areas of mutual interest are explored in depth allowing cross fertilization of ideas to occur. Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

David G. Penney, 2007-11-01 Edited by a leading expert this book delineates the successful means to prevent, identify and manage the effects of CO poisoning. It provides new information on CO toxicity including rehabilitation, the dissemination of information to the public, litigation involving CO poisoning, economic loss assessment and firefighting. The book addresses the pros and cons of hyperbaric oxygen therapy and thoroughly reviews the physiological effects of acute and long term exposure to CO as well as the neurocognitive and neurobehavioral sequelae. The only comprehensive reference on the subject, this multifaceted guide takes an innovative look at how to identify, treat and prevent harmful exposure to carbon monoxide.

Morgan, Jerry J.

Sweet, 2008-11-19 Clinical neuropsychologists frequently evaluate individuals within a forensic context and therefore must address questions regarding the possible presence of reduced effort, response bias and/or malingering. This volume offers a wide range of instructive real world case examples involving the complex differential diagnosis where symptom exaggeration and/or malingering cloud the picture. Written by expert forensic neuropsychologists, the scenarios described provide informed empirically based and scientifically derived opinions on the topic Issues related to malingering such as response bias and insufficient effort are discussed thoroughly with regard to a large number of clinical conditions and assessment instruments Test data and non test information are considered and integrated by the numerous experts Expert guidance for clinicians who must address the issue of malingering is provided in a straightforward and well organized format To date there has not been a comparable collection of rich case material relevant to forensic practice in clinical neuropsychology

Neuropsychotherapy and Community Integration Tedd Judd, 2012-12-06 The first time I walked onto a neurology ward during my graduate training I was shocked much as family members of people with brain illnesses probably are I had learned a great deal in class about aphasia amnesia agnosia apraxia and other cognitive disorders but I had not been prepared for the behavioral disorders I was to encounter for the severe physical disabilities for the indignities of the patient role Bit by bit I overcame this shock I learned to look people in the eye who seemed to have more tubes than the New York subway system people whose faces had been scraped off the pavement and who were drooling incontinent and severely dysarthric I learned to see beyond what frightened and repulsed me to the human beings within I wish I could say that I saw in each person a deep human soul yearning to breathe free and to love an essence an intrinsic goodness a wholeness I did not Rather it seems like each and every unique element of human behavior one's abilities and one's desires can be destroyed by some brain lesion while leaving a uniquely human person behind Not only are there losses but behaviors emerge at times that are not seen in people with intact brains but which still reveal a human attempting to cope I do feel that I saw and still see in each such person something intrinsically human but not the same thing in each

Environmental and Chemical Toxins and Psychiatric Illness James S. Brown, 2008-08-13 During the past 60 years the number of chemical disasters worldwide from military occupational and environmental sources has risen at an alarming rate The profound controversy surrounding many chemicals makes objective analysis nearly impossible Yet now more than ever with the daily exposure to a wide range of chemicals and the increased threat of chemical terrorism it is critical that we understand the role of chemicals in causing psychiatric illness Unlike related books this remarkable reference is intended specifically for psychiatric applications and is thus the definitive sourcebook for the many professionals called on to respond to these events This work stands alone as the first on this topic to be written by a psychiatrist and the first to bring together the military occupational and environmental exposures causing psychiatric illness including multiple chemical sensitivities mass hysteria radiation exposures community stress reactions and Gulf War and other syndromes Unique highlights include A summary of the reported psychiatric symptoms attributed to each chemical class chemical weapons pesticides fumigants metals solvents gases PCBs Agent Orange and other miscellaneous chemicals in tables for easy reference We use personal care products take prescription drugs pump gasoline drink alcohol and spray insecticides as part of our everyday lives Yet rarely do we realize that significant exposures to the chemicals described in this book many of which we are exposed to in daily activities can damage the central nervous system causing psychiatric illness A comprehensive bibliography in every chapter of all the important material in English language medical journals and books that has appeared on this subject since the late 19th century These bibliographies cover everything from the first published reports of the dangers of carbon disulfide in the French rubber industry dangers that American medicine ignored for years through more recent large scale chemical exposures that have serious long term consequences e g Love Canal The latest information about terrorist and military uses of chemical weapons of critical relevance in psychiatry today from World War I combatants exposed to chlorine phosgene mustard gas arsenic and cyanide to the first organophosphate or nerve gases such as tabun and sarin developed by the Germans before and during World War II and used by Iraq in the Gulf War and by a religious cult in the terrorist subway attacks in Tokyo and Matsumoto Japan Quite simply this book is a must have for psychiatric and medical professionals everywhere with extended appeal among laypersons such as environmental consumer advocates attorneys insurance professionals industrial hygienists disaster planners and medical librarians
