New Architecture In New Haven:

New Architecture in New Haven Don Metz, 1973 This revised edition of New architecture in New Haven brings the record to date and reflects in its selection of projects the change in the nature of architecture as it responds to the social and economic demands of the early 1970s. Federal and state participation in the city's projects as elsewhere has dropped off significantly and the University can no longer afford the risk of the extravagant architectural gesture. The resulting attitude seems to have diminished the quantity but not the quality of architectural expression. Innovative solutions in housing and structural systems have taken priority over the elaborate spatial eloquence of the recent past. Included in this edition is a representative selection of New Haven architecture of the past fifteen years introduced by The Public Artscape of New Haven Laura A. Macaluso, 2018-04-12. There are nearly 500 public works of art throughout New Haven, Connecticut, a city of 17 square miles with 130,000 residents. While other historic East Coast cities Philadelphia, Providence, Boston have been the subjects of book-length studies on the function and meaning of public art, New Haven, founded 1638, has largely been ignored. This comprehensive analysis provides an overview of the city's public art policy programs and preservation and explores its two centuries of public art installations, monuments and memorials in a range of contexts. Contemporary Architects Muriel Emanuel, 2016-01-23 Modern Architecture Alan Colquhoun, 2002-04-25 This new account of international modernism explores the complex motivations behind this revolutionary movement and assesses its triumphs and failures. The work of the main architects of the movement such as Frank Lloyd Wright, Adolf Loos, Le Corbusier and Mies van der Rohe is re-examined, shedding new light on their roles as acknowledged masters. Alan Colquhoun explores the evolution of the movement from Art Nouveau in the 1890s to the megastructures of the 1960s, revealing the often contradictory demands of form, function, social engagement, modernity and tradition. Materialized Space: The Architecture of Paul Rudolph Abraham Thomas, 2024-09-30 Architect Paul Rudolph (1918-1997) was known for his iconic modern houses and exemplary Brutalist buildings in exposed concrete. Rudolph's popularity peaked during the 1950s and 1960s when he served as the chair of Yale University's Department of Architecture, but his work fell from favor with the advent of postmodernism in the 1970s. This compact volume provides an introduction to and long overdue reassessment of the architect's trailblazing career from his modernist Florida houses to his public and institutional buildings, unrealized megastructures, experimental interiors and later mixed-use developments in Asia. Abraham Thomas examines how Rudolph explored concepts such as functionalism, urbanism and modular construction across decades and continents. Richly illustrated with photographs of the structures and Rudolph's own drawings as well as models, furniture and period press clippings, this book sheds light on the architect's process and takes up themes as important in his time as in our own such as civic design, housing development and experimental materials and methods. Vienna and the New Wohnkultur, 1918-1938 Michelle Jackson-Beckett, 2024-03-20 While the domestic sphere might seem tangential to the dire political situation and humanitarian crises of interwar Europe, it was nevertheless at the forefront of debates about cultural identity and economic policy in the Viennese press culture and arts Vienna and the New Wohnkultur 1918 1938 explores why and how the Viennese design landscape was set apart aesthetically and theoretically from other European explorations of modern design Jackson Beckett examines interior design exhibitions press and debates about modern living in interwar Vienna an overlooked area of modern European architecture and design history arguing for a reconsideration of the contours of European modernism The text analyses varied interpretations of modern domestic culture Wohnkultur in Vienna and explores why these interpretations were distinct from other strands of European modernism Vienna and the New Wohnkultur introduces new research and translation of primary sources on flexible adaptable and affordable design by architects designers and retailers Vienna's design discourse also prefigured important postmodern and contemporary discussions on historicism eclecticism empathy and user experience Through extensive new research in archival and period sources Jackson Beckett illustrates how design ideas taste and portrayals of domestic culture of fin de siècle Viennese Modernism Wiener Moderne were also deployed as forms of cultural and national identity both during the early years of the Social Democratic government in Vienna 1918 1934 and later under the fascist state 1934 1938

Fractal Architecture James Harris, 2012-07-15 Throughout history nature has served as an inspiration for architecture and designers have tried to incorporate the harmonies and patterns of nature into architectural form Alberti Charles Renee Macintosh Frank Lloyd Wright and Le Corbusier are just a few of the well known figures who have taken this approach and written on this theme With the development of fractal geometry the study of intricate and interesting self similar mathematical patterns in the last part of the twentieth century the quest to replicate nature's creative code took a stunning new turn Using computers it is now possible to model and create the organic self similar forms of nature in a way never previously realized In Fractal Architecture architect James Harris presents a definitive lavishly illustrated guide that explains both the how and why of incorporating fractal geometry into architectural design

Expanding Fields of Architectural Discourse and Practice Matthew Butcher, Megan O'Shea, 2020-11-27 Expanding Fields of Architectural Discourse and Practice presents a selection of essays architectural experiments and works that explore the diversity within the fields of contemporary architectural practice and discourse Specific in this selection is the question of how and why architecture can and should manifest in a critical and reflective capacity as well as to examine how the discipline currently resonates with contemporary art practice It does so by reflecting on the first 10 years of the architectural journal P E A R 2009 to 2019 The volume argues that the initial aims of the journal to explore and celebrate the myriad forms through which architecture can exist are now more relevant than ever to contemporary architectural discourse and practice Included in the volume are architectural practitioners design researchers artists architectural theorists historians journalists curators and a paleobiologist all of whom contributed to the first seven issues of the journal Here they provide a unique presentation of architectural discourse and practice that seeks to test new ground while forming distinct relationships to recent and more longstanding historical legacies Praise for Expanding Fields of Architectural Discourse and Practice

Practice The story told by the authors of this work can thus be considered as the central tool of an architectural transgression Critique d art Architecture and Adaptation Socrates Yiannoudes, 2016-01-29 Architecture and Adaptation discusses architectural projects that use computational technology to adapt to changing conditions and human needs Topics include kinetic and transformable structures digitally driven building parts interactive installations intelligent environments early precedents and their historical context socio cultural aspects of adaptive architecture the history and theory of artificial life the theory of human computer interaction tangible computing and the social studies of technology Author Socrates Yiannoudes proposes tools and frameworks for researchers to evaluate examples and tendencies in adaptive architecture Illustrated with more than 50 black and white images
