An examination of sixteenth century quest narratives focussing on their conscious use of a medieval tradition to hold a mirror up to contemporary culture Offers the first full study of the allegorical knightly quest tradition from the Middle Ages to the Renaissance Richly satisfying as impressive in the detail of its scholarship as in the elegance of its critical formulations It seamlessly moves between different literary traditions and across conventional period boundaries In Dr Nievergelt s treatment of this theme the successive retellings of the tale of the knight s quest come to stand as an emblem of shifting values and norms both religious and worldly and of our repeated failures to realise those ideals Dr Alex Davis Department of English University of St Andrews The literary motif of the allegorical knightly quest appears repeatedly in the literature of the late medieval early modern period notably in Spenser but has hitherto been little examined Here in his examination of a number of sixteenth century English allegorical chivalric quest narratives focussing on Spenser s Faerie Queene but including important lesser known works such as Stephen Bateman s Travayled Pylgrime and William Goodyear s Voyage of the Wandering Knight the author argues that the tradition begins with the French writer Guillaume de Deguileville His seminal Plerinage de la vie humaine was composed c 1331 1355 it was widely adapted translated rewritten and printed over the next centuries Dr Nievergelt goes on to demonstrate how this essentially medieval literary form could be adapted to articulate reflections on changing patterns of identity society and religion during the early modern period and how it becomes a vehicle of self exploration and self fashioning during a period of profound cultural crisis Dr Marco Nievergelt is Lecturer Maître Assitant and SNF Swiss National Science Foundation Research Fellow in the English Department at the Universit de Lausanne

Claassens,Werner Verbeke,2006 In Medieval Manuscripts in Transition various scholars investigate the ways in which the study of manuscripts can contribute to interpretation or provide insight      Models of Political Competence Maria Golubeva,2013-05-20 Offering a systematic analysis of texts produced at the courts of Burgundy and Austrian Habsburg over a period reaching from the 1470s until the early 1700s this book traces the development of the idea of successful and competent political behaviour as seen through the eyes of court historians between the fifteenth and the eighteenth centuries The official chronicles and histories studied in this work not only reveal a growing influence of secular political thinking on the evolving model of political competence but also present in detail the close relationship between the nascent state ideology and secular political theory More broadly following the development of official history writing Models of Political Competence highlights the importance of historiography for the research on political thinking and its relevance for our understanding of the modern state in Europe and its origins      Court Poetry in Late Medieval England and Scotland Antony J. Hasler,2011-03-10 This book explores the anxious and unstable relationship between court poetry and various forms of authority political and cultural in England and Scotland at the beginning of the sixteenth century Through poems by Skelton Dunbar Douglas Hawes Lyndsay and Barclay it examines the paths by which court poetry and its narrators seek multiple forms of legitimation from royal and institutional sources but also in the media of script and print The book is the first for some time to treat English and Scottish material of its period together and responds to European literary contexts the dialogue between vernacular and Latin matter and current critical theory In so doing it claims that public and occasional writing evokes a counter discourse in the secrecies and subversions of medieval love fictions The result is a poetry that queries and at times cancels the very authority to speak that it so proudly promotes      Representing the Dead Helen J. Swift,2016 An examination of how the dead were memorialised in late medieval French literature Awarded a commendation in the Society for French Studies R Gapper Book Prize for the best book published in 2016 by a scholar working in French studies in Britain or Ireland Who am I when I am dead Several late medieval French writers used literary representation of the dead as a springboard for exploring the nature of human being Death is a critical moment for identity definition one is remembered forgotten or worse misremembered Works in prose and verse by authors from Alain Chartier to Jean Bouchet record characters deaths but what distinguishes them as epitaph fictions is not their commemoration of the deceased so much as their interrogation of how by whom and to what purpose posthumous identity is constituted Far from rigidly memorialising the dead they exhibit a productive messiness in the processes by which identity is composed in the moment of its decomposition as a complex interplay between body voice and text The cemeteries hospitals temples and testaments of fifteenth and early sixteenth century literature from the Belle Dame sans mercy querelle to Le Jugement poetic de l honneur femenin present a wealth of ambulant corpses disembodied voices animated effigies martyrs for love and material echoes of the past which invite readers to approach epitaphic identity as a challenging question here lies who exactly In its broadest context this study casts fresh light on ideas of selfhood in medieval culture as well as on contemporary conceptions of the capacities and purposes of literary representation itself Helen Swift is Associate Professor of Medieval French at St Hilda's College Oxford
