Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia, Volume 1 Ganesh Shivakoti, Ujjwal Pradhan, Helmi Helmi, 2016-09-01 Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia Volumes 1 4 brings together scientific research and policy issues across various topographical area in Asia to provide a comprehensive overview of the issues facing the region Sustainable Natural Resources Management in Dynamic Southeast Asia Volume 1 pulls together regional experts in the field to look specifically at sustainability issues across the region to see what has been implemented what the impacts have been and what other options are available In the race to be a developed region many Southeast Asian countries have foregone natural resources through haphazard use As a result the people are faced with numerous environmental challenges particularly deforestation and forest degradation biodiversity loss and ecosystem degradation reduction in soil quality and decreases in the quantity of available water Community based forest management is the involvement of local communities in the protection conservation and management of public forests to prevent degradation through sustainable practices while still responding to the basic social and economic needs of local populations When the people who depend on forest resources for their livelihoods are jointly responsible for managing and protecting them they tend to do so in a more sustainable manner by focusing on the long term benefits rather than the immediate short term gains However when tenure rights are weak unclear or insecure or offer limited benefits people are incited in extracting more immediate benefits resulting in suboptimal forest management and the reduction of carbon stocks Features case studies that cover issues such as rising levels of deforestation forest degradation regional food security ecosystem degradation biodiversity loss conflicts over natural resource use water management issues and impacts on local communities Includes contributions from local researchers who are dealing with these issues first hand and on a daily basis Includes a comparative review on REDD implementation in different communities Focuses on sustainability issues across the region

The Diversity Machine Frederick R. Lynch, 2017-07-05 Diversity has become the turn of the century buzzword Republican and Democratic leaders ritually chant diversity is our strength and corporate CEOs talk about the need to create a workforce that looks like America Most corporate mission statements now contain a clause on valuing differences and millions of employees have completed or soon will undergo some sort of diversity training Where did all this come from and why Who created diversity programs How do they differ How effective are these policies Can they do more harm than good in organizations and in the wider society During the past decade sociologist Frederick R Lynch studied the rise of a social policy movement that has successfully moved multiculturalism from universities and foundations into the courts mass media and the American workplace The new diversity policies are future oriented and market driven eclipsing old affirmative action debates about overcoming past discrimination against blacks Based on more than six years of field research and hundreds of interviews Lynch tracks the development and impact of different forms of diversity policies at dozens of consultant gatherings in the business and professional literature and through in depth case studies such as the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department and the University of Michigan Ann Arbor He profiles the major consultants who have powered the diversity machine analyzes the benefits and drawbacks of various approaches to workplace diversity and provides numerous you are there samples of workshops seminars and conferences The book is written for the general reader interested in public policy issues social scientists and others interested in the origins and consequences of workplace diversity policies

Revisioning Diversity in Communication Studies Amardo Rodriguez, 2010 Communication is fundamentally a relational phenomenon Through communication we create relationships that frame how we perceive and relate to the world and each other Every relationship sets off different social political and epistemological implications and consequences and possesses the potential to fundamentally change the world This book presents an emergent definition of communication and demonstrates the promise of this definition for enlarging our understanding and experience of what is possible Communication is defined in terms of vulnerability Vulnerability assumes that our humanity is bound up with the humanity of others This book is about possibility and our own potentiality to create just and humane worlds and it demonstrates how a new vision of communication studies by expanding our moral and theoretical imagination can allow us to look anew at our own potentiality and that of the world
